House Quickly Passes Strike Draft Measure

Senate Expected To Be More Deliberate In Taking Action

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—The House speedily granted President Truman's request today for legislation empowering him to draft men for industries in strike emergencies, but prospects of Senate action before Monday faded tonight.

With the House in adjournment, Democratic Leader Barkley, Kentucky, was said by aides to have worked out a plan by which the Senate can vote Monday on taking up the bill, previously approved unanimously by its interstate commerce committee.

When Barkley attempted to make the formal report on the measure, previously passed by a 306 to 13 House vote, Chairman Taft, Ohio, of the Republican steering committee objected.

However, Barkley was said by his aides to be contemplating moving an adjournment of the Senate for a half hour, or less. This action would displace pending labor disputes legislation and leave the way open for a formal report on the presidentially-recommended bill when the Senate reconvened after its brief pause.

But Taft said he was prepared to make another objection then which would prevent until Monday the making of a motion to take up the presidentially-recommended measure.

Taft said he had no objection to considering the bill at the start of the week, but desired to keep the Senate in session to pass finally tonight on pending labor disputes proposals. No immediate decision had been made on that plan.

While waiting for the formal committee report on the president's bill, the Senate approved, 50 to 26, a proposal by Taft to make unions liable to suit for violation of contract and to deny Dagner act rights to union members who engage in a "wildcat" strike.

The amendment thus was attached to a pending committee-approved bill setting up a federal mediation board and prohibiting interference with farmers delivery of perishable products to market.

By roll call tally of 53 to 24, the Senate okayed an amendment to prohibit secondary boycotts, subjecting those who engaged in them to prosecution under the anti-trust law.

The amendment was aimed at preventing unions from blocking sale and distribution of goods produced by manufacturers employing non-union workers or rival labor unions.

The measure embodying President Truman's far-reaching recommendations was approved by the interstate commerce committee unanimously, but only after a tussle over including the provision to allow him to use the draft as a weapon to end strikes.

Senator Hoey, Democrat, North Carolina, said the committee refused, by a vote of 12 to 6, to eliminate that section. The fight to strike it out was led by Senator Johnson, Democrat, Colorado.

He said the committee made only one change in the bill, shifting the expiration date to July 1, 1947.

Further following the president's proposals, made personally at a joint session, the House by voice vote passed a resolution calling for a joint Senate-House committee to study the

CAPTURES TWO NEGRO GUNMEN

Gas Station Attendant's Quick Action Balks Second Armed Robbery

City and state police caps were doffed in congratulatory salute yesterday to Matthew Balsamo, night attendant at the Central Tower service station at DeSiard and Sterlington Roads after he had disarmed and captured two Negro gunmen for whom the officers had searched for three hours following a holdup near Bonita in Morehouse parish.

The prisoners, Cornelius Barren, 26, of New Orleans, and Jefus Benson, 16, of Dumas, Ark., were turned over by city police today to Sheriff Robert E. Harp to be taken to Bastrop for prosecution for armed robbery, and United States authorities were to investigate the possibility of charging the pair under the federal kidnaping act.

At 1:45 a.m. Saturday Sheriff Harp called police here and reported a colored man had been held up between Jones and Bonita by two young Negroes he had picked up near Wilmont, Ark., and robbed of a watch and his car, a 1937 Ford coach, bearing Arkansas license 90-313, in which the pair had headed south.

A short time later, State Troopers Jeff Gulley and Harry McGee, en route to investigate an accident near Sterlington, found the stolen car abandoned on the Sterlington Road, three miles northeast of the Monroe city limits, and recalled having passed two Negroes walking along the highway towards town. The troopers and city police then began a hunt over a wide area on the north side, during which Captain Henry T. Ward stopped at the Central Tower station and gave Balsamo a discription of the fugitives, asking him to be on the lookout for them.

It was 4 a.m. when Balsamo saw two Negroes, exactly fitting the discription, walk into the station, and he immediately drew a .38 caliber revolver from his desk drawer and covered them, ordering them to lie down. Then he directed an Oak Grove young man, who chanced to be in the station, to search the pair, and from the person of each came a gun—a Spanish automatic pistol and a Smith & Wesson .32 revolver—both fully loaded. The capture was witnessed by the station's colored porter, Charles Thomas, of Booker T. Washington Addition.

Belsamo's quick action was credited with having balked an attempt to rob the station. He was still holding the prisoners at gunpoint when Captain Ward and two city patrolmen arrived in response to a telephone call and took the captives to city jail.

The two Negroes are believed also to have stolen a truck belonging to J. V. Aswell from beside the fish bait stand he operates at his farm near the point where the stolen car became disabled. It was found abandoned in the 2600 block of DeSiard Road at daylight Saturday. The truck's motor had no fan belt and it could be driven but a short distance before overheating.

NO AGREEMENT IN COAL MINE DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug said tonight "no agreement" had been reached with John L. Lewis in the coal dispute, but the federal administration of the seized pits appealed to the miners to stay on the job Monday morning.

Krug conferred for nearly three hours with Lewis and his negotiating committee, in a meeting started after President Truman asked the Congress to enact legislation to penalize workers who strike against the government.

Then he announced the failure to agree.

DELTA TRAFFIC ALMOST NORMAL

Officials Report Little Disturbance Of Passenger And Freight Service

Except for telephone switchboards jammed with inquiries, air travel conditions were 'surprisingly normal,' Delta Airlines revealed in a system-wide survey made Saturday morning.

A few empty seats were available on some flights because of voluntary cancellations by passengers reluctant to leace home, and airline officials urged those who required trannsportation to present themselves at airport terminals in order to obtain seats released just before departure.

'No shows,' passengers who fail to claim reservations or to release them for resale were few, the airlines said, except in Chicago, where train connections from nearby cities were disrupted by the strike.

Air express shipments, restricted to emergency cargo by ODT orders, ran light, although mail loads on Delta were 10 times above normal. Columbia, S. C., normally dispatching 25 pounds of mail on one flight, put 1,259 pounds on one Atlanta-bound flight and 1,050 on another.

One of the largest air express shipments Saturday was 400 pounds of penicillin consigned to Savannah and 300 pounds to Augusta. No critical shipments were reported refused, but in Ft. Worth, Delta was unable to accept a body en route from a local funeral home to New York.

Paul W. Pate, Delta's mail and air cargo manager, said mail and express had moved without delay, and that from the beginning of the strike until Saturday morning, only six passengers on the entire system were displaced by priority cargo.

In addition to its 41 regular daily flights, Delta operated numerous 'second sections' to ease the emergency.

FRENCH BLUEBEARD DIES ON GUILLOTINE

PARIS, May 25.—(AP)—A headsman wrote the final chapter today in one of the weirdest murder stories in Paris criminal history, as slight, 55-year-old Dr. Marcel Petiot, a faint smile on his lips, paid with his life for the cold-blooded murder for profit of 27 desperate people.

Public executions have been banned in France since 1939, and only a few witnesses, among them his lawyer, Rene Floriot, saw the mass murderer of the Rue La Sueur go to his death on the guillotine. President Felix Gouin two days ago rejected a plea for a reprieve.

The lawyer thus described the swarthy little doctor's last moments:

Petiot was awakened shortly after 4:15 a. m., and told his jailer, "I know what this is." He smoked one cigaret calmly, hastily scribbled a letter to his wife and another to his son, and then told the waiting guards:

"Gentlemen, I am yours."

At the foot of the guillotine block he received the last religious rites from a priest "to please my wife." Then, manacled to his guards, he mounted the block, smiling faintly as he approached the knife.

At 5 a. m. a lorry backed into the main gate of La Sante prison. Ten minutes later it came out, carrying a casket with Petiot's body, and lumbered away to tiny Ivry Cemetery.

MORRISON URGES BIG HANDBOOK VOTE

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(AP)—An application for a temporary restraining order and a permanent injunction to prevent the use of the state's voting machines in a proposed referendum poll of New Orleans' citizens Tuesday on racing handbook operation was denied in 19th judicial district court here today.

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—Mayor De Lesseps S. Morrison issued an appeal to the people today to vote in next Tuesday's unofficial referendum on the question of controlled handbook operation in New Orleans.

A bill to legalize handbooks is now pending before the state legislature.

Morrison said the referendum "will be one of the fairest elections ever held in the city."

"In my opinion there can be no finer example of democracy than this referendum," he said.

The mayor explained that any qualified voter, regardless of party affiliation, may take part by displaying his or her registration certificate.

ORLEANS PORT SPRINGS TO LIFE AGAIN AS STRIKE ENDS

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—Trains began rolling throughout Louisiana and Mississippi today and the busy port of New Orleans stirred into life after being virtually paralyzed by the three-day rail strike.

The Texas and Pacific's No. 23, bound for Fort Worth, and the Gulf Mobile and Ohio's streamliner "Rebel," left their terminals on time with company officials at the throttles. The regular crews, however, went on duty at stations along the line.

The first public belt railroad engine started work at 9:30 p. m. Central Daylight time, and was followed at half hour intervals by others.

Edmund J. Garland, general manager of the public belt which serves the wharves of the port, estimated that conditions should be normal in about 48 hours.

He said about 1,200 freight cars have to be moved as soon as possible to make way for other cars stranded at different points by the strike.

He said the number of cars to be moved would be about the capacity of the public belt to handle economically, but that every available piece of equipment was being pressed into service and that work would continue on a 24 hours basis.

Spokesmen for other railroads said that handling the back-long caused by the strike would amount to little more than "a regular night's work."

A representative of the Kansas City Southern lines said the K. C. S. had 49 loaded and 123 empty cars to move out tonight, which he described as not much more than normal activity.

A spokesman for the Southern Railway System said one freight train would move tonight and would "put us in good shape."

"We had cleaned up as much as possible before the strike halted operations," the spokesman said, "and since the other lines were at a standstill, too, our freight problems are just about normal."

TEXARKANA SLAYER ABANDONS SCHEDULE

TEXARKANA, Tex., May 25.—(AP)—Every man, woman and child in Texarkana breathed a sigh of relief when daylight came this morning.

So far, there have been no reports of the phantom killer seeking his sixth victim.

According to the "time table" of the slayer, his five murder victims have been slain at three-week intervals. The last murder, Virgil Starks, was on Friday, May 3.

The entire city kept a death watch last night—three weeks since May 3. All front porch lights were on. Shades were closely drawn. Texas rangers patrolled the area with riot guns.

Early in the night there was a rumor of a man and woman found dead near Nash, Tex., five miles west of here., Officers and newspapermen rushed to the scene.

J. Q. Mahaffey, Texarkana newspaperman, quipped: "We found they were dead—drunk."

Agreement Reached Few Minutes Before Troop Use Planned

Settlement Effected on Terms Proposed by Government; Whitney Glumly Declares 'We Lost Our Case'; Soldiers Standing By at Railroad Centers When Announcement Made

By Douglas B. Cornell

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—The railroad strike ended suddenly today only minutes before President Truman asked, and got, action on legislation to permit drafting of men for industrial emergencies and penalizing strikes against government-seized properties.

The measure, Mr. Truman told the lawmakers, is "necessary for the preservation of our government."

The House responded with an exceptional burst of speed, passing and sending to the Senate exactly what the president asked.

So far as the rail walkout was concerned the legislation no longer was needed. Representatives of the carriers and two striking unions—engineers and trainmen—signed at a downtown hotel an agreement halting the strike. Then they went on a hand-shaking spree.

Mr. Truman announced to a wildly whooping Congress that the strike was over. Grim, unsmiling, he interrupted an address to a joint Senate-House session at the point where he said:

"I request the Congress immediately to authorize the president to draft into the armed forces of the United States all workers who are on strike against their government."

While legislators howled their approval for that, Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle leaned over and whispered to the chief executive.

"Word has just been received," he said, "that the rail strike has been settled on terms proposed by the government."

That produced another tremendous outburst.

The basis of agreement was a compromise plan Mr. Truman himself had offered. It provides for a pay raise of 16 cents an hour retroactive to Jan. 1, an additional boost of 2 1/2 cents effective May 22—two days ago, when the strike began—and no change in working rules for a year.

The settlement was completed three minutes before the 4 p. m. (EST) deadline the president had set for strikers to give in. Otherwise, he said, he would use troops to run and protect trains.

Soldiers were standing by the railroad centers to do just that.

Government and railroad officials predicted rail service would be nearly back to normal tomorrow. How long the government would continue to operate the lines it took over last Wednesday remained uncertain.

A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen, glumly declared "we lost our case." In San Francisco, P. O. Peterson, general chairman of the engineers on the Southern Pacific Railroad told a reporter:

"Our position still is that the president has just betrayed American labor—and the American public, as well."

The striking brotherhoods had offered to go back to work if they got the 16-cent raise and seven changes in working rules recommended by a federal fact-finding board, along with assurances they could negotiate with the president for more.

Mr. Truman would not meet them on those terms. Instead, he went up to Capitol Hill and walked down the aisle of the House chamber without so much as a nod to an old crony or a flickering of a smile in acknowledgement of the applause that greeted him.

And when he mentioned the names of Whitney and Alvanley Johnston, president of the engineers, he spat them out as if they were distasteful.

He said a crisis had been brought

Normal Mail Service Is Ordered Restored

Most Railroads Will Be Back On Regular Schedules Today

(By Associated Press)

Within an hour after the railroad strike collapsed late yesterday, trains began leaving the nation's terminals, and the government moved to forestall any future paralysis of the nation's economy by labor disputes.

Most railroads expected resumption of normal passenger and freight schedules by today (Sunday), and the government cancelled emergency orders and preparations.

The 48-hour strike ended dramatically, moments before the 4 p. m. (E. S. T.) deadline set by President Truman. But the president asked Congress, and got, immediate action on legislation which would empower the president to draft men for industry in emergencies and penalize strikes against government-seized property.

The House, by a speedy and overwhelming vote of 316 to 13, passed and sent to the Senate exactly what the president asked.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Alvanley Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, accepted President Truman's compromise proposal they previously rejected and ordered their 250,000 members back on the job.

Their move brought these developments:

1. The railroads immediately began scheduling trains. A Pere Marquette train for Lansing and Grand Rapids left Detroit with a regular crew aboard at 4:50 p. m. (E. S. T.) Predictions on how much time would be required to hit their normal stride ranged from "two or three" hours to 20 hours.

2. The postmaster general ordered normal mail service restored to the country at 5 p. m. (E. S. T.), ending a partial strike embargo.

3. An order for the movement of 3,000 troops by air from Camp Bell, Ky., to Chicago was cancelled by the War Department.

The Santa Fe Railroad announced in Chicago it expected to be back on normal operations within "two or three hours" after the strike settlement. The Chicago, north shore and

WAR DEAD WILL BE GIVEN HONOR

In Event O'Callahan Failing To Appear, Judge Kennon Will Speak

Transportational difficulties growing out of the railway strike may prevent Commander Joseph T. O'Callahan's appearance here as speaker of the occasion at the Fifth District Memorial Day services scheduled to be held at Northeast Junior College's Brown Field at 2 p. m. today.

This revelation was made last night by J. H. Trousdale, Jr., chairman of the Veterans Council of Ouachita parish, who announced that an alternate speaker had been obtained to deliver the address in case the navy's Congressional Medal of Honor chaplain is unable to get to Monroe.

Associate Justice Robert F. Kennon of the Louisiana supreme court, a resident of Minden and a veteran of World War II, has consented to address the large assemblage expected here if the hero-parade fails to arrive, Mr. Trousdale said. Justice Kennon was scheduled to arrive in Monroe late tonight from New Orleans.

When informed that Commander O'Callahan was unable to obtain commercial air transportation and that all service transportation had been frozen in the emergency growing out of the railroad strike, the council went into immediate action. It informed Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal that extensive preparations had been made on the basis of the navy's commitment that the chaplain would be here for the Memorial Day services Sunday, and that the council was looking to the navy to fulfill its obligation. This was contained in a telegram sent Secretary Forrestal Friday night by Mr. Trousdale. No reply had been received late yesterday.

Meanwhile, the council held an emergency meeting yesterday morning and arrived at an alternate plan.

LOUISIANA SUNSHINE SPECIAL RESUMES RUN AS STRIKE ENDS

The Missouri Pacific's Louisiana Sunshine Special that made Monroe fully aware of the nation-wide railroad strike Wednesday evening, when it "stopped dead" at the Ouachita street station and was deserted by its engine and train crew, also signalized the end of the transportation tie-up at 6:50 last evening when it resumed its journey three days late but only 40 minutes behind time by the clock.

The train's new crew was called after announcement of the strike's end, and at the same time the traffic department began assembling crews to man the five freight trains that had filled most of the sidings in the local yards. First freight train to roll in this division was made up of 150 cars of fruit and onions, potatoes and other vegetables that had been lying at Alexandria and were consigned to St. Louis.

Announcement of the settlement was welcomed heartily by four railway mail clerks who had stood by three nights and days to guard the Sunshine Special's mail car. They were Charles Mott, chief of the group, and Bob R. Gates, C. Clarence Bush and H. B. Andrews, all of Little Rock. They had sent on by air all of the perishable and first class mail, and the first thing they had gotten off their hands was a parcel post crate of honey bees, sent from Napoleonville to Grand Rapids, Mich. Other less important mail was routed on over the I. C. The clerks slept on cots in their car, but their enforced stay here was not too tough, for they ate at half price in the train's dining car, where T. J. Jordan, also of Little Rock, the colored waiter in charge, and his entire staff of five also remained on duty.

The crew that took out the train was made up largely of extras, with Engineer R. L. Reese and Fireman E. C. Stewart in the locomotive cab, and Clayton Boyette as conductor.

SURVEY OF SCHOOL SYSTEM IS SOUGHT

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(Special)—A comprehensive survey of the Louisiana school system, with a view to overhauling and streamlining obsolescent methods of administration, will be proposed to the legislature when it convenes for the third week of the 1946 session, possibly Tuesday night.

Rep. C. H. Downs of Cheneyville and Rapides parish will ask that a committee, empowered to make a full examination of state education, be named. Such a committee probably would be appointed by the governor, and would include many legislators who have been actively interested in education legislation.

The survey, Downs said, would seek to provide the best school program possible in view of the overall economic situation. Many advantageous changes might be recommended by the committee, he asserted.

Downs, a former school teacher and principal, is now a law student at Louisiana State University. He will offer his bill Tuesday night if the press of term examinations permit.

NO AGREEMENT IN COAL MINE DISPUTE

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug said tonight "no agreement" had been reached with John L. Lewis in the coal dispute, but the federal administration of the seized pits appealed to the miners to stay on the job Monday morning.

Krug conferred for nearly three hours with Lewis and his negotiating committee, in a meeting started after President Truman asked the Congress to enact legislation to penalize workers who strike against the government.

Then he announced the failure to agree.

Sunday at 4 p.m. there will be confirmations at St. Matthew's Church and at its close there will be an informal reception held in St. Matthew's Catholic School to which all Catholics and friends of Catholics will be invited to attend and meet the new bishop.

TEXARKANA SLAYER ABANDONS SCHEDULE

TEXARKANA, Tex., May 25.—(AP)—Every man, woman and child in Texarkana breathed a sigh of relief when daylight came this morning.

So far, there have been no reports of the phantom killer seeking his sixth victim.

According to the "time table" of the slayer, his five murder victims have been slain at three-week intervals. The last murder, Virgil Starks, was on Friday, May 3.

The entire city kept a death watch last night—three weeks since May 3. All front porch lights were on. Shades were closely drawn. Texas rangers patrolled the area with riot guns.

Newspapermen from at least four states watched and waited.

Early in the night there was a rumor of a man and woman found dead near Nash, Tex., five miles west of here., Officers and newspapermen rushed to the scene.

J. Q. Mahaffey, Texarkana newspaperman, quipped: "We found they were dead—drunk."

Officials Report Little Disturbance Of Passenger And Freight Service

Except for telephone switchboards jammed with inquiries, air travel conditions were 'surprisingly normal,' Delta Airlines revealed in a system-wide survey made Saturday morning. A few empty seats were available on some flights because of voluntary cancellations by passengers reluctant to leace home, and airline officials urged those who required trannsportation to present themselves at airport terminals in order to obtain seats released just before departure.

'No shows,' passengers who fail to claim reservations or to release them for resale were few, the airlines said, except in Chicago, where train connections from nearby cities were disrupted by the strike.

Air express shipments, restricted to emergency cargo by ODT orders, ran light, although mail loads on Delta were 10 times above normal. Columbia, S. C., normally dispatching 25 pounds of mail on one flight, put 1,259 pounds on one Atlanta-bound flight and 1,050 on another.

One of the largest air express shipments Saturday was 400 pounds of penicillin consigned to Savannah and 300 pounds to Augusta. No critical shipments were reported refused, but in Ft. Worth, Delta was unable to accept a body en route from a local funeral home to New York.

Paul W. Pate, Delta's mail and air cargo manager, said mail and express had moved without delay, and that from the beginning of the strike until Saturday morning, only six passengers on the entire system were displaced by priority cargo.

In addition to its 41 regular daily flights, Delta operated numerous 'second sections' to ease the emergency.

FRENCH BLUEBEARD DIES ON GUILLOTINE

PARIS, May 25.—(AP)—A headsman wrote the final chapter today in one of the weirdest murder stories in Paris criminal history, as slight, 55-year-old Dr. Marcel Petiot, a faint smile on his lips, paid with his life for the cold-blooded murder for profit of 27 desperate people.

Public executions have been banned in France since 1939, and only a few witnesses, among them his lawyer, Rene Floriot, saw the mass murderer of the Rue La Sueur go to his death on the guillotine. President Felix Gouin two days ago rejected a plea for a reprieve.

The lawyer thus described the swarthy little doctor's last moments:

Petiot was awakened shortly after 4:15 a. m., and told his jailer, "I know what this is." He smoked one cigaret calmly, hastily scribbled a letter to his wife and another to his son, and then told the waiting guards:

"Gentlemen, I am yours."

At the foot of the guillotine block he received the last religious rites from a priest "to please my wife." Then, manacled to his guards, he mounted the block, smiling faintly as he approached the knife.

At 5 a. m. a lorry backed into the main gate of La Sante prison. Ten minutes later it came out, carrying a casket with Petiot's body, and lumbered away to tiny Ivry Cemetery.

ORLEANS PORT SPRINGS TO LIFE AGAIN AS STRIKE ENDS

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—Trains began rolling throughout Louisiana and Mississippi today and the busy port of New Orleans stirred into life after being virtually paralyzed by the three-day rail strike.

The Texas and Pacific's No. 23, bound for Fort Worth, and the Gulf Mobile and Ohio's streamliner "Rebel," left their terminals on time with company officials at the throttles. The regular crews, however, went on duty at stations along the line.

The first public belt railroad engine started work at 9:30 p. m. Central Daylight time, and was followed at half hour intervals by others.

Edmund J. Garland, general manager of the public belt which serves the wharves of the port, estimated that conditions should be normal in about 48 hours.

He said about 1,200 freight cars have to be moved as soon as possible to make way for other cars stranded at different points by the strike.

He said the number of cars to be moved would be about the capacity of the public belt to handle economically, but that every available piece of equipment was being pressed into service and that work would continue on a 24 hours basis.

Spokesmen for other railroads said that handling the back-long caused by the strike would amount to little more than "a regular night's work."

A representative of the Kansas City Southern lines said the K. C. S. had 49 loaded and 123 empty cars to move out tonight, which he described as not much more than normal activity.

A spokesman for the Southern Railway System said one freight train would move tonight and would "put us in good shape."

"We had cleaned up as much as possible before the strike halted operations," the spokesman said, "and since the other lines were at a standstill, too, our freight problems are just about normal."

Settlement Effected on Terms Proposed by Government; Whitney Glumly Declares 'We Lost Our Case'; Soldiers Standing By at Railroad Centers When Announcement Made

By Douglas B. Cornell

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—The railroad strike ended suddenly today only minutes before President Truman asked, and got, action on legislation to permit drafting of men for industrial emergencies and penalizing strikes against government-seized properties.

The measure, Mr. Truman told the lawmakers, is "necessary for the preservation of our government."

The House responded with an exceptional burst of speed, passing and sending to the Senate exactly what the president asked.

So far as the rail walkout was concerned the legislation no longer was needed. Representatives of the carriers and two striking unions—engineers and trainmen—signed at a downtown hotel an agreement halting the strike. Then they went on a hand-shaking spree.

Mr. Truman announced to a wildly whooping Congress that the strike was over. Grim, unsmiling, he interrupted an address to a joint Senate-House session at the point where he said:

"I request the Congress immediately to authorize the president to draft into the armed forces of the United States all workers who are on strike against their government."

While legislators howled their approval for that, Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle leaned over and whispered to the chief executive.

"Word has just been received," he said, "that the rail strike has been settled on terms proposed by the government."

That produced another tremendous outburst.

The basis of agreement was a compromise plan Mr. Truman himself had offered. It provides for a pay raise of 16 cents an hour retroactive to Jan. 1, an additional boost of 2 1/2 cents effective May 22—two days ago, when the strike began—and no change in working rules for a year.

The settlement was completed three minutes before the 4 p. m. (EST) deadline the president had set for strikers to give in. Otherwise, he said, he would use troops to run and protect trains.

Soldiers were standing by the railroad centers to do just that.

Government and railroad officials predicted rail service would be nearly back to normal tomorrow. How long the government would continue to operate the lines it took over last Wednesday remained uncertain.

A. F. Whitney, president of the trainmen, glumly declared "we lost our case." In San Francisco, P. O. Peterson, general chairman of the engineers on the Southern Pacific Railroad told a reporter:

"Our position still is that the president has just betrayed American labor—and the American public, as well."

The striking brotherhoods had offered to go back to work if they got the 16-cent raise and seven changes in working rules recommended by a federal fact-finding board, along with assurances they could negotiate with the president for more.

Mr. Truman would not meet them on those terms. Instead, he went up to Capitol Hill and walked down the aisle of the House chamber without so much as a nod to an old crony or a flickering of a smile in acknowledgement of the applause that greeted him.

And when he mentioned the names of Whitney and Alvanley Johnston, president of the engineers, he spat them out as if they were distasteful.

He said a crisis had been brought

Normal Mail Service Is Ordered Restored

Most Railroads Will Be Back On Regular Schedules Today

(By Associated Press)

Within an hour after the railroad strike collapsed late yesterday, trains began leaving the nation's terminals, and the government moved to forestall any future paralysis of the nation's economy by labor disputes.

Most railroads expected resumption of normal passenger and freight schedules by today (Sunday), and the government cancelled emergency orders and preparations.

The 48-hour strike ended dramatically, moments before the 4 p. m. (E. S. T.) deadline set by President Truman. But the president asked Congress, and got, immediate action on legislation which would empower the president to draft men for industry in emergencies and penalize strikes against government-seized property.

The House, by a speedy and overwhelming vote of 316 to 13, passed and sent to the Senate exactly what the president asked.

A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Alvanley Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, accepted President Truman's compromise proposal they previously rejected and ordered their 250,000 members back on the job.

Their move brought these developments:

1. The railroads immediately began scheduling trains. A Pere Marquette train for Lansing and Grand Rapids left Detroit with a regular crew aboard at 4:50 p. m. (E. S. T.) Predictions on how much time would be required to hit their normal stride ranged from "two or three" hours to 20 hours.

2. The postmaster general ordered normal mail service restored to the country at 5 p. m. (E. S. T.), ending a partial strike embargo.

3. An order for the movement of 3,000 troops by air from Camp Bell, Ky., to Chicago was cancelled by the War Department.

The Santa Fe Railroad announced in Chicago it expected to be back on normal operations within "two or three hours" after the strike settlement. The Chicago, north shore and

WAR DEAD WILL BE GIVEN HONOR

In Event O'Callahan Failing To Appear, Judge Kennon Will Speak

Transportational difficulties growing out of the railway strike may prevent Commander Joseph T. O'Callahan's appearance here as speaker of the occasion at the Fifth District Memorial Day services scheduled to be held at Northeast Junior College's Brown Field at 2 p. m. today.

This revelation was made last night by J. H. Trousdale, Jr., chairman of the Veterans Council of Ouachita parish, who announced that an alternate speaker had been obtained to deliver the address in case the navy's Congressional Medal of Honor chaplain is unable to get to Monroe.

Associate Justice Robert F. Kennon of the Louisiana supreme court, a resident of Minden and a veteran of World War II, has consented to address the large assemblage expected here if the hero-parade fails to arrive, Mr. Trousdale said. Justice Kennon was scheduled to arrive in Monroe late tonight from New Orleans.

When informed that Commander O'Callahan was unable to obtain commercial air transportation and that all service transportation had been frozen in the emergency growing out of the railroad strike, the council went into immediate action. It informed Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal that extensive preparations had been made on the basis of the navy's commitment that the chaplain would be here for the Memorial Day services Sunday, and that the council was looking to the navy to fulfill its obligation. This was contained in a telegram sent Secretary Forrestal Friday night by Mr. Trousdale. No reply had been received late yesterday.

Meanwhile, the council held an emergency meeting yesterday morning and arrived at an alternate plan.

LOUISIANA SUNSHINE SPECIAL RESUMES RUN AS STRIKE ENDS

The Missouri Pacific's Louisiana Sunshine Special that made Monroe fully aware of the nation-wide railroad strike Wednesday evening, when it "stopped dead" at the Ouachita street station and was deserted by its engine and train crew, also signalized the end of the transportation tie-up at 6:50 last evening when it resumed its journey three days late but only 40 minutes behind time by the clock.

The train's new crew was called after announcement of the strike's end, and at the same time the traffic department began assembling crews to man the five freight trains that had filled most of the sidings in the local yards. First freight train to roll in this division was made up of 150 cars of fruit and onions, potatoes and other vegetables that had been lying at Alexandria and were consigned to St. Louis.

Announcement of the settlement was welcomed heartily by four railway mail clerks who had stood by three nights and days to guard the Sunshine Special's mail car. They were Charles Mott, chief of the group, and Bob R. Gates, C. Clarence Bush and H. B. Andrews, all of Little Rock. They had sent on by air all of the perishable and first class mail, and the first thing they had gotten off their hands was a parcel post crate of honey bees, sent from Napoleonville to Grand Rapids, Mich. Other less important mail was routed on over the I. C. The clerks slept on cots in their car, but their enforced stay here was not too tough, for they ate at half price in the train's dining car, where T. J. Jordan, also of Little Rock, the colored waiter in charge, and his entire staff of five also remained on duty.

The crew that took out the train was made up largely of extras, with Engineer R. L. Reese and Fireman E. C. Stewart in the locomotive cab, and Clayton Boyette as conductor.

SURVEY OF SCHOOL SYSTEM IS SOUGHT

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(Special)—A comprehensive survey of the Louisiana school system, with a view to overhauling and streamlining obsolescent methods of administration, will be proposed to the legislature when it convenes for the third week of the 1946 session, possibly Tuesday night.

Rep. C. H. Downs of Cheneyville and Rapides parish will ask that a committee, empowered to make a full examination of state education, be named. Such a committee probably would be appointed by the governor, and would include many legislators who have been actively interested in education legislation.

The survey, Downs said, would seek to provide the best school program possible in view of the overall economic situation. Many advantageous changes might be recommended by the committee, he asserted.

Downs, a former school teacher and principal, is now a law student at Louisiana State University. He will offer his bill Tuesday night if the press of term examinations permit.

FARM TRAINING OFFERED VETS

Comprises Part Of State-Wide Program Proposed

On the farm training is now being offered to veterans by the Ouachita Parish School Board. This training is part of a state-wide program to help return to the farm veterans who have a farm background and who intend to farm for a living.

In order to be qualified for this training, the veteran must either own or lease a family-sized farm. The acreage necessary depends on the type of crop to be raised. The farm must be certified by a parish committee as being a family-sized farm.

While the veteran is farming, he will be individually supervised by a vocational agricultural instructor already hired by the school board. In addition to the supervision, he will receive a minimum of 150 hours a year of organized group instruction in farm management and farm operations.

All of this program is financed by the Veterans Administration under the G. I. Bill of Rights. While the veteran is in training, he receives a living allowance (subsistence) of $65.00 a month if single, and $90.00 a month, if married. Disabled veterans undergoing the same training may get an additional allowance. The purpose of this allowance is to help the veteran maintain a decent standard of living while he readjusts himself to making a living from the land.

Sixteen veterans are already enrolled in this program in Ouachita parish and many more have applied. Even though a veteran has already started his crops, he is still eligible.

Any veteran wishing to apply for this training should contact either J. C. Tucker, veterans' representative on the second floor of the Monroe City Hall, or H. B. McClendon, veterans' service officer, on the second floor of the Parish Court House. A copy of the veteran's discharge is necessary in making application.

SURPRISE ON WHEELS

Screen actress Susan Peters, paralyzed from the hips down in a hunting accident over a year ago, recently gave her actor husband, Richard Quine, a pleasant surprise by driving to meet him when his plane arrived at Burbank, Calif., airport. It was the first time she had driven since her accident. She used the specially built car with all-hand controls pictured above.

FARM TRAINING OFFERED VETS

Comprises Part Of State-Wide Program Proposed

On the farm training is now being offered to veterans by the Ouachita Parish School Board. This training is part of a state-wide program to help return to the farm veterans who have a farm background and who intend to farm for a living.

In order to be qualified for this training, the veteran must either own or lease a family-sized farm. The acreage necessary depends on the type of crop to be raised. The farm must be certified by a parish committee as being a family-sized farm.

While the veteran is farming, he will be individually supervised by a vocational agricultural instructor already hired by the school board. In addition to the supervision, he will receive a minimum of 150 hours a year of organized group instruction in farm management and farm operations.

All of this program is financed by the Veterans Administration under the G. I. Bill of Rights. While the veteran is in training, he receives a living allowance (subsistence) of $65.00 a month if single, and $90.00 a month, if married. Disabled veterans undergoing the same training may get an additional allowance. The purpose of this allowance is to help the veteran maintain a decent standard of living while he readjusts himself to making a living from the land.

Sixteen veterans are already enrolled in this program in Ouachita parish and many more have applied. Even though a veteran has already started his crops, he is still eligible.

Any veteran wishing to apply for this training should contact either J. C. Tucker, veterans' representative on the second floor of the Monroe City Hall, or H. B. McClendon, veterans' service officer, on the second floor of the Parish Court House. A copy of the veteran's discharge is necessary in making application.

TALLULAH HIGH IS ENDING YEAR

Gala Commencement Season Is Ushered In Past Week

TALLULAH, La., May 25.—(Special)—One of the gala events of the commencement season and which is looked forward to with keenest anticipation by the high school set is the Junior-Senior Banquet which was held this year at the Community Club south of town. To Mrs. J. Roy Medlin, sponsor of the junior class and her group of capable students is due the success of the most enjoyable affair.

The theme "Star Dust" was delightfully portrayed in the beautiful and effective decorations of blue and silver and in the well-rendered program. Myriads of silver stars, suspended from the ceiling of the banquet hall together with the soft blue light overhead gave a realistic moonlight effect. A silver moon, sprinkled with sparkle shown against the background of a starlit night sky of the stage and on this a spotlight was thrown throughout the evening.

The banquet table arranged in the form of a T with its white cover and appointments of crystal, silver and china had as floral decorations, crystal bowls of sweetpeas. Tall candles of yellow, pink and green in crystal holders were arranged in groups of three and the program booklets in the same shades which were given as souvenirs, carried out the class colors.

Mrs. Medlin, wearing an evening gown of blue, with her junior boys and girls in formal attire graciously greeted the guests. Assisting in the courtesies were Dr. Medlin and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Moncrief. Following the blessing offered by Hazel McKinney, Donald Poe, president of the junior class, gave the welcome address. The response was by Virginia Lou Davis, president of the senior class. Carol Jean Russell extended the courtesies and Mrs. W. P. Yerger, senior sponsor expressed her good wishes for this year's graduates and told of the significance of the class flower, the Talisman rose.

The program which had been prepared was given at intervals throughout the banquet, the numbers being given from the stage with Mrs. J. C. Sherwin serving as accompanist for the vocal numbers. "By the Light of the Silvery Moon" was sung by the junior class under the direction of Mrs. Lamar Loe while Hess Curry and Margaret West waltzed in accompaniment. Ann Antley, in the costume of an ancient prophet, read the class prophecy which was followed by a duet, "Moonlight and Roses," sung by Dorothy Darnell and Roy Willis. A group of junior boys then sang, "An Irish Lullaby" and "It's Been a Long, Long Time."

The class will was read by Dottie Schwartz, wearing the wig and black robe of a venerable judge. The junior girls sang "Symphony" and "Oh What It Seemed To Be" and as the final number the entire junior class sang "Some Sunday Morning" while Virginia Johnston and Tom Lochbrunner, in the costume of bride and groom, impersonated the characters of the song in pantomime.

The juniors in appreciation for the efforts of those who assisted them in the success of the happy affair presented beautiful corsages and gifts. The banquet was served by the sophomores and a group of mothers of the students. At the close of the banquet Dr. Medlin and Mrs. Yerger led the grand march as showers of confetti descended and multicolored balloons which were released added to the pleasure of the guests who enjoyed dancing until the midnight hour.

Truman 'Fighting President' Now

"I take back everything I've ever said or thought about President Truman," announced an ex-army officer to everyone in general around the rim of the counter of a hotel coffee shop Saturday morning.

There were nods of approval by the early breakfasters as he continued, "His radio talk last night was a masterpiece. He pulled no punches in dealing with the two brotherhood heads who alone are responsible for this railroad strike. He did it without any bitterness—just a plain statement of the facts as they are—and his declaration of what he intends to do about it was a magnificent display of firmness and courage."

That spontaneous observation appeared to express the general local reaction to the president's address to the nation in the newest, and undoubtedly most serious, of the many emergencies with which he has been beset in his little more than a year as chief executive. In his announced steps for a quick ending of the "terrible havoc" created by the rail strike Mr. Truman appears to have the solid backing of all good Americans.

There was no hint in the president's address of the vaccilation of which he has been accused in meeting some of the crises that have arisen from previous labor disputes. He placed the full blame squarely where it belongs, on the shoulders of A. F. Whitney and Alvanley Johnson, heads respectively of the trainmen and engineers' brotherhoods.

"It is time for plain speaking," declared Mr. Truman, and that is exactly what he dished out in his bristling, 12-minute broadcast. And all who heard or read, and applauded, his speech were given hope that he would follow through and break the hold of the few selfish labor leaders responsible for most of the postwar woes of the American people.

LET'S STOP THIS NOISE

Several months ago, after protests by numerous citizens of Monroe and West Monroe had been made, we asked that some measures be taken to stop the periodic blowing of mill whistles and other noises that disturbed the sleep of persons who don't arise at such hours that require (apparently) the rousing of those who go to work at 5, 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning.

Some of these lumber mills pulled their punches to a certain extent, but others continued to toot loudly at various intervals from the early morning hours until well up in the morning. Two mills particularly have been most vociferous in their blasting of noises to warn workers that they should report.

It is unnecessary and absurd to resort to blowing of mill whistles in these days of alarm clocks (yes you can get 'em) and telephones. It is most unfair to a majority of the residents of the Twin Cities to awaken them in the early hours of the morning and continue to disturb their sleep with the regular on-the-hour symphony of earsplitting noises.

Another nuisance is the unnecessary blowing of automobile horns. This is most annoying in the downtown areas after persons in local hotels have gone to bed.

It seems that an ordinance should be enacted by our city council regulating these nuisances. We believe such an ordinance would have the wholehearted support of our citizens.

TWO MARKETS

In a Chicago night club the hat check girl sells nylons for $7.40 per pair. A Philadelphia clothing manufacturer sells suits direct at above the maker's ceiling so he can meet his payroll. White shirts sell in Los Angeles for $5 instead of the $2.25 ceiling. People in the cities are paying $4.50 for $2.90 dresses, 90 cents for bacon, 70 cents for round steak, a dollar for butter, 20 cents a pound for sugar.

Used cars are commanding far over ceilings in many places and dealers often turn new cars to clamorous customers on payment of a "premium." Upgrading of lumber in the Northwest is common and lumber commands prices far above ceilings for an inferior product. Truckers are buying grain and other products from farmers for what the farmer demands and selling for what they can get.

There is outright over pricing throughout America and many subterfuges to avoid ceilings. There is a clandestine market and an OPA ceiling market. Which one is disposing of the most goods is a question. But it is clear that any estimate the government makes on the cost of living is extremely unreliable.

STARVING MILLIONS

Herbert Hoover has made a preliminary report on the food situation in Europe and the picture he paints is alarming. He found only five small nations, with a total population of less than 40,000,000 people, which are self-sufficient as to food until the next harvest. There are approximately 100,000,000 peasants who through ways of their own are able to gain at least a bare subsistance. Otherwise the population is living from hand to mouth, with barely enough food to stave off starvation.

The most terrifying feature of the report is the fact that from the Russian frontier to the English Channel there are 20,000,000 children who are so badly undernourished they are developing all sorts of diseases, including rickets and tuberculosis. Mr. Hoover says all these are doomed to death or to live with stunted bodies and disordered minds unless help comes.

He charges no adequate facilities have been set up to meet this situation, although it must have been foreseen months ago. To fail to provide help might mean the wiping out of an entire generation in some countries.

If ignorance is bliss, why are the Japs in their present plight?

Jimmie Fidler
IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.—Boy Taylor is ultimatuming MGM; he wants the privileges of making one picture a year as a free lance. . . . Ha! Hedy Lamarr says the L. A. police report (that the burglar who swiped her umpteen-thousand-dollar chinchilla cape tried to sell it for $50 and found no takers) wounded her more than the robbery. The thief also traded John Loder's $200 watch for an inner tube! . . . William Eythe's ex-landlady is filing suit for damages assertedly done her property.

The Guy Williams-Beverly Tyler romance started as an MGM publicity gag, but it's now on the level. . . . Wotzis about Dick Haymes and his brother, Bob Stanton (under contract to Columbia) refusing to speak? . . . Looks like Jean (Mrs. Franchot Tone) Wallace is reneging on her one-time declaration that careers and marriages don't mix; she has enrolled for a course in the Actor's Lab. . . . Charlie Stevens, playing in "Sinbad," is a grandson of Geronimo, the famous Apache chief.

Joel McCrea will shop for a Nevada ranch while locationing in "Ramrod." . . Dello (Mrs. Andy Russell) Norrell has signed with Universal for a singing role and says she'll continue career-hunting if it doesn't interfere with domestic bliss. . . . Jennifer Jones is asking Selznick's okay for summer stock engagements in the Little Theatre circuit. . . . Gale Storm's husband, actor Lee Bonnell, had a narrow escape when he overturned his boat while fishing at Lake Sherwood.

Preview Nights: Pic of a mediocre week: Paramount's "Monsieur Beaucaire" (Bob Hope-Joan Caulfield-Patric Knowles). This slap-stick version of the Valentino classic abounds with chuckles. . . . Good: Columbia's "Renegades" (Evelyn Keyes-Willard Parker-Larry Sparks). Technicolor enhances a rousing western romance. . . . Paramount's "O. S. S." (Alan Ladd-Geraldine Fitzgerald). The initials could stand for "Old Spy Stuff," but deft handling makes it exciting. . . . Warner Brothers' "One More Tomorrow" (Ann Sheridan-Dennis Morgan-Jack Carson). A remake of the Phillip Barry play, "The Animal Kingdom," well tailored for femme appeal. . . . Fair: Universal's "Dressed To Kill" (Basil Rathbone-Nigel Bruce). Sherlock Holmes has a routine day. . . . Monogram's "Don't Gamble With Strangers" (Kane Richmond-Bernadine Hayes). Good advice but just average entertainment. . . . Best Performance: Jack Carson in "One More Tomorrow."

Any producer who cherishes the delusion that great acting ability makes great box office stars should take an evening off and haunt the lobby of the Los Angeles theater which currently is showing Rudolph Valentino's 25-year-old hit, "Son of the Shiek." The conversation of the ladies, as they emerge from the theater, deals not at all with the crudities of that screen antique, neither do they waste words on Valentino's acting, which, judged by the standards of today, is "hammy" to an almost ridiculous extreme. They talk about one thing and one thing only—the magic of Valentino's personality. Any man who has Valentino's personal magnetism could be the world's worst actor, but given a chance to display his other wares, he would still be a boxoffice idol.

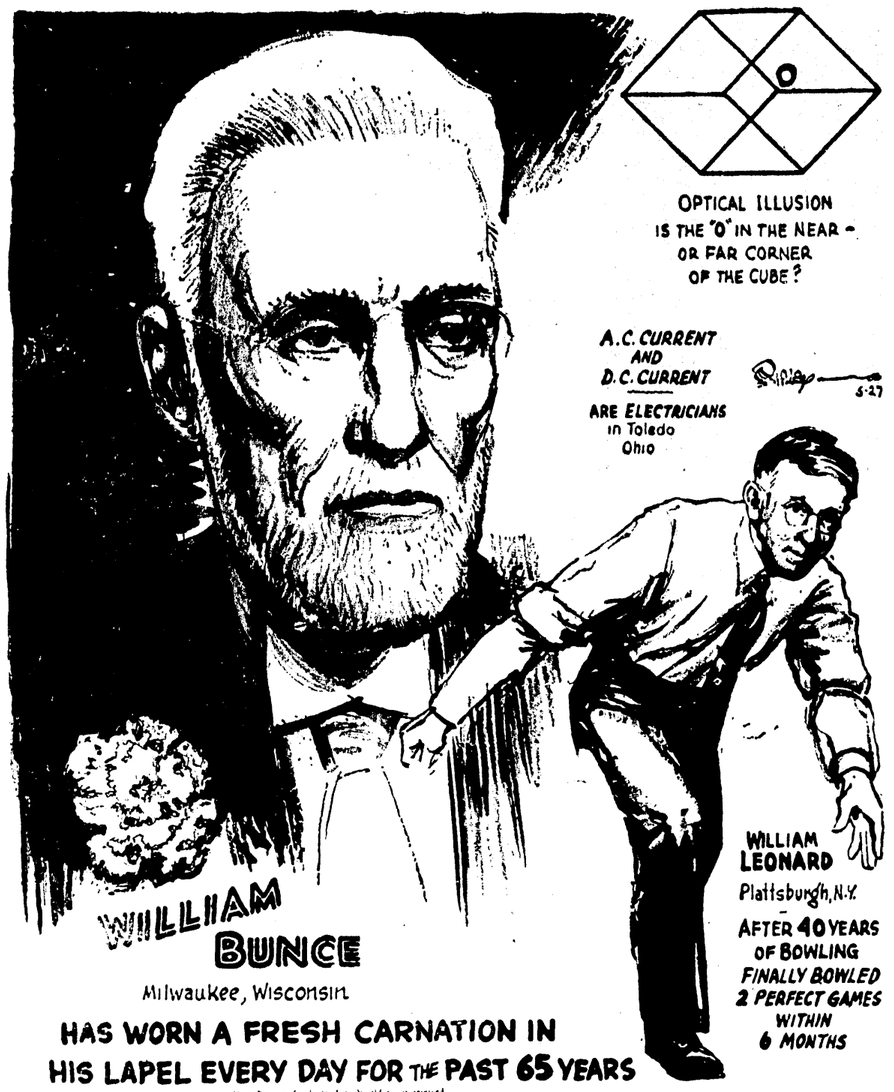

During the past few years, there has been an amazing, but not amusing, incongruity in American comic strips. Whenever a rich man is introduced as a character, he is almost invariably portrayed as a dispicable heel who makes a hobby of grinding the poor under foot. I deny that the trend is amusing; I think it is dangerous, because it's impossible to overestimate the propaganda power of the comic strip. The practice is also incongruous because the topnotch artists in the comic strip field are making more money than most of the nation's bank presidents.

Someone presented me with a recording of Slim Gaillard's musical novelty, "Cement Mixer," when it was first issued, and I've worried myself addle-pated ever since, trying to figure out the lyrics. But I'll bother about them no longer, for this morning's mail brought me a publicity dispatch from Gaillard's press agent, affirming that his client speaks Hindustani, Arabic, Greek, Persian and Hebraic as fluently as though they were his native tongues. It is amazing, how he got all five new languages into one song!

Random Thought Department: The Thomas A. Edison Society has given George Brent an award for "The Most Consistent Record of Sanity in Acting." Things have come to a pretty pass when actors, in order to win awards, have to be sane. . . . A columnist reports that Lassie's next picture will have a psychological theme. Hmmm—with Lassie living a dual life (fathering a litter of pups in real life, and making a business of impersonating a lady on the screen) maybe he needs psychoanalyzing!

By Henry McLemore

ATLANTA, Ga.—There are only two great differences between my vacations and the vacations of other people.

The first difference is that I never seem to go where I want to go or do what I want to do. The second difference is that I have to work just as hard while on vacation as I do any other time. The column goes on just the same and no matter where I go the typewriter tags along like Mary's little lamb.

Now we are preparing to go to Montreal to see my sister. If I were just going to Montreal to see my sister that would be fine, but before I get to Montreal my wife, my mother, and my sister will have completed plans which will guarantee that I will do not what I want to do, but what they think I ought to do to have a good time.

One of the things I am going to have to do is visit my sister's camp in the Laurentian mountains. It is quite a distance from Montreal and entails an automobile trip over roads which, for the most part, are fit only for free-wheeling, front-drive burros. The last quarter of a mile to camp must be negotiated on foot and the supplies for the stay must be carried on the back and in the arms. I know now who is going to be expected to lead that procession—all loaded down like a draught horse.

My sister and her husband are the type who like to "rough it." They are never so happy as when they are thoroughly uncomfortable. They would be horrified at a suggestion that they install comfortable mattresses in the cottage, for example. They like a cozy pillow of birch burrs and a counterpane of leaves and branches which rustle and stick you in the back when you move and generally give the effect of sleeping in a brush pile.

All cooking must be done out of doors. This is a camp regulation. Both my sister and her husband are convinced that nothing makes a meal taste better than to eat it with your eyes running tears from smoke or while sitting on wet, cold ground.

And, it's cold up there in the Laurentians, too. The Aurora Borealis is just a whoop and a holler away and occasionally gets so bright that one can read last month's paper by it.

The cottage is situated on a bluff commanding a view of the coldest lake in the world. Without exaggeration, the water in that lake would give goose pimples to a glacier or an iceberg. My sister and brother-in-law plunge into it at least twice a day—usually in the morning before the sun has risen above the trees and in the evening after the sun has dropped beyond the trees. They say it is invigorating beyond belief.

Invigorating is not the word I would use in describing the sensation of plunging into that tree-bordered ice cream freezer. Paralysis sets in as your head sinks below the surface, and by the time your whole body is submerged, you have advanced rigor mortis with icicle trimmings and are ready for the pulmotor, the oxygen tent, and a week-end in an incinerator.

The scenery is beautiful and there is no use denying it. But what with camp chores, a man has little time to feast his eyes on nature's handiwork. There is wood to be cut, for one thing. The first two or three seconds of swinging an axe is fun, but a couple of hours of it makes a fellow long for a chafing dish or some other miracle of science that operates on fuel that can be purchased at a store. The scenery from the front porch is as pretty as any within a hundred miles, but my sister believes in exploring.

She doesn't think a sunset can be appreciated from a camp stool or a rocking chair, but must be viewed from a cliff that takes hours to climb and leaves you panting like a bloodhound after rounding up 17 escaped prisoners.

But I am going to the camp. Minds other than mine are already made up. Boy, what I wouldn't give to be back in the Pacific curled up in a nice warm foxhole with no women to guide my leisure time.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — Ex-Governor Harold E. Stassen's "Republican Open Forum" is unquestionably the smartest new idea in politics since the C. I. O. thought up its Political Action Committee.

P. A. C. started out to be a grass-roots movement to take politics out of the hands of the professional politicians and give it back to the people. But, while P. A. C. in the two years of its existence has apparently degenerated into just another political machine run by a bunch of bosses, Stassen's R. O. F. has the makings of a real popular movement, working from the bottom up instead of from the top down. There are now only a few hundred of these Forums functioning in 37 states, but the idea is just a month old, and it should grow.

Republican Open Forum headquarters in Washington, under Henry T. McKnight, has just mailed out its second monthly ballot. The question it asks is, "What Shall Our National Labor Policy Be?"

Ballots are sent out in batches of 25 to anyone who wants to run a forum. Twenty-five is considered the best number for a manageable discussion group. With each batch of ballots there is a little leaflet telling how to organize and conduct a local forum. It is short, written in simple style, printed in big type. It's a primer of politics at the bottom level.

Leaflet Offers Full Organizational Advice

It tells how to organize a forum. How to get people to join—by postcard, by telephone, at lunch. When and where to meet. How to sit in an informal circle for free discussion. How to limit each meeting to an hour and a half, so as not to tire people out. How to stimulate discussion and keep it on the track ("You have a good point, but can't we get back to our subject?"). How to discourage a bore ("Can we save your other point till later?"). How to break up a heated argument ("I guess we all know how Brown and Johnson feel about this. Now who else would like to get in on it?").

All this is the A-B-C stuff of political organization. But it's good, solid town-meeting technique on which a successful political movement can be built.

To help the members of a Forum make up their minds on each month's question, a fact sheet of background information is provided. For the current question of "What Shall Our National Labor Policy Be?", it's in the form of mimeographed sheets that give both sides of testimony on such questions as how wages were advanced 15 per cent under the Little Steel formula, how the cost of living went up 33 per cent, and where the 18 per cent difference is to come from.

Strike statistics are given. A million man-days a month were lost before V-J day, as against six million a month since. The effect of the Wagner Act is shown as 1,000 strikes a year before it was passed, 3,398 strikes a year since. Strike costs are estimated.

Ballots State Questions In Simple, Clear Form

Having chewed over this factual information in discussion, the Forum is now ready to mark up its ballots and vote on what the national labor policy should be. The six main points and a dozen related topics aren't given as questions, but as statements on which you vote "Yes" or "No."

They're stated in simple but challenging form, and they suck you in deeper and deeper to get a real expression of opinion. Here are a few samples:

1. There are already too many restrictions on labor, and the government should back up the unions and force business to make settlements with them.

2. The laws and restrictions we now have on unions and for settlement of industrial disputes are acceptable on the whole, and no change is needed.

3. Some additional restrictions should be placed on unions and industrial disputes.

4. The federal government should provide for compulsory arbitration binding on both labor and management.

5. The federal government should provide for compulsory arbitration only in disputes in public utilities and essential industries.

6. Our national labor policy should be based on the conclusion that labor unions are now too strong.

If you don't like any of these, there are three blank lines in which you can write your own bill of particulars. From the tabulated returns it is hoped to get some facts that will dictate to the party leaders how they should write their platform in 1948.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By Erskine Johnson
(NEA Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—It was practically a milestone for the movies.

"Why Boris," we said, "where are your two heads? Where is your fright wig? Where is the chocolate syrup that doubles for blood? Where is the battery that makes your ears light up? Where is the . . ."

"Please," Boris said. "Today I am the new Boris Karloff. I left the old one under a wet rock in the Universal prop department."

"Mr. Karloff, please," called an assistant director.

"Pardon me," said Boris, in his pleasant English accent.

Still a Film Terror

Karloff leered at Danny and then pushed him out a window. This wasn't very nice, because the window was on the 17th floor of a New York skyscraper.

"See," said Boris, returning, "I'm still a menace. But I don't scare people with neon lights sticking out of my skull, two heads, or eye balls that pop out every time the heroine looks at me. I'm just Boris Karloff. Not Boris Karloff, horror man."

We were worried about Danny.

Boris was in such an amiable mood that we couldn't resist asking about his divorce. He told the court that Mrs. Karloff was "cruel" to him, which gave Hollywood quite a chuckle.

"Please," he said. "Let's not go into that. It was a purely technical charge."

Boris said he didn't mind playing in intelligent horror pictures, but that he walked out on the Frankenstein monster which made him famous, because "it became a clambake." "The monster," he said, "became a prop in the last act."

Gives Himself Nightmares

"Only when I see my own pictures," he chuckled, "or just before the opening of a new play. My knees always sound like castanets."

He had a pretty good angle about seeing himself on the screen, too.

"I usually wait a year before seeing one of my pictures. It's the only way I can learn anything about my acting. It's like reading something you've written. The next day it sounds pretty good. But a year later it stinks."

Karloff said he enjoyed working in the New York stage show, "Arsenic and Old Lace," just for the chance to enjoy the humor of authors Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse. "We spent all of our spare time exchanging insulting telegrams," he said.

Lindsay and Crouse once humorously objected to Karloff's getting sun-tanned during the summer season. "We're not playing 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,'" they wired him.

"If I were earning a decent salary," wired back Karloff, "I could afford some powder."

TROOPERS ARREST 5 AS DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Continuing their campaign against drunk drivers, state policemen of Troop F from the Monroe barracks made five arrests last week on charges of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor.

The defendants were R. H. Brown of Monroe, J. E. Jarmon of Ruston, J. D. Hines of Rayville, Joe Gunter of Oak Grove and E. S. Bolton of Kelly. Brown was fined $100 and costs in Monroe city court. The other defendants have not been arraigned.

The seventh arrest of the week was that of John Gills, colored, of 823 Atkins street, Monroe, on a reckless driving charge.

There are 108,202 miles of urban transit routes in the United States over which 89,240 subways, street cars, trackless trolley coaches and gas buses operate.

New York Day By Day
By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—A. McNeill is what I make out the signature to be on a letter from Orange, Texas, assuring me that sensible people go to Houston from all points of the compass to live. Wide streets, magnolias, live oaks and elms, flowers, shrubs and human companionship are promised everyone by this enthusiastic booster. . . . Miss May Greiner, Damascus, Va., criticizes me for use of the expression, grammatical error. Her father, she says, maintains that if it's an error it isn't grammatical. Therefore the expression is not correct. Wrong, on every point, Miss Greiner. Grammatical describes the field in which the error was made, as clinical, surgical, constitutional, clerical, or fundamental error. If you split hairs with a dull knife, no English expression in daily and correct use will stand up. Grammatical error is the correct name of an error in grammar . . . But Mrs. O. A. Brooks, of Christiansburg, Va., sends a recipe for pecan pie, with the wish that I may enjoy the pie as much as she enjoys this column. I'm sure I will.

Some people get much more satisfaction out of life as it moves along than others do. Among these, many keep diaries, because they wish to preserve for the future the joy of life they feel in the present.

Carrie R. Soares, of Providence, R. I., sends me extracts from a diary kept by her grandfather, Charles T. Robbins, written in 1863, while he was on a voyage on a sailing vessel, the Levanter, from New York to Valparaiso, Chile, on a business mission. The whole section quoted bespeaks a well-ordered mind, curious about the world and its people, anxious to make notes and pile up knowledge.

I'd like to quote it all, but there is room for only a little of the journal for January 23, 1863, 48 days out of New York:

"Had a good breeze during the past night and a splendid morning. The sun was well up when I came on deck. The sea had gone down and we were smoothly gliding along. Soon the cry of 'Sail Ho' brought every eye toward the direction given by the person who had first seen far away in the direction which we were heading the Top Gallant sails of a vessel looming up on the distant horizon. By the glass we could make her out to be a brig, standing a little across our bows. We were soon up with her and standing away to the northward were soon out of sight. Still another brig came in sight which we set our colors for. She proved a Spanish ship but could not reply to our signals.

"After dinner laid down for a sleep. Carrie came and called me saying that there was a ship ahead standing across our bows which was a whaleman. Going on deck found this proved to be the case and by the glass could see her boats very plainly.

"Soon a boat lowered from the whaleship and pulled toward us and party came on board, consisting of the mate and a crew mostly Negroes and Portuguese. They informed us that their vessel was the barque 'NYE' of New Bedford, Captain Barker, 27 months from home and with 570 barrels of Sperm Oil, was last from Fish Bay coast of Africa, and had been in to St. Helena. The mate, Mr. Potter, invited us to go on board of the barque after which the captain would return on board our vessel. So Mr. Evans, George and myself went off to the barque and were well paid for the opportunity."

How such plain writing makes the dead past live again!

EDUCATION TO GET MAJOR ATTENTION

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(Special)—Education is coming in for a heavy share of attention from Louisiana's thirteenth biennial legislature, with 19 bills affecting the public schools alone already introduced, and others expected next week.

Most controversial on the agenda are bills to reorganize the state board of education and replace the elected superintendent with an appointed commissioner; to levy an additional one per cent sales tax, with 70 per cent of the proceeds to go to teachers' pay; and two proposals to levy a three-cent gas gathering tax, one allocating all the proceeds to a public school funds and the other 75 per cent of the revenue.

Five bills and constitutional amendments on reorganization have hit the hamper, all but one dovetailing to remove the three appointed members of the board and to make the superintendent an elected commissioner. One would have the three members now appointed elected from the public service districts, while the eight others would be chosen from the congressional divisions, as in the other legislation.

Also introduced is a bill establishing a minimum wage scale of $1,920 for public school teachers, to be increased $100 a year for 15 years, with additional increments going to executive posts.

Additional legislation includes a proposal to make parish school superintendents elective, to provide retirement funds for employees other than teachers, and to appropriate $3,000,000 from the general funds for teachers' salaries.

SCOUTS TO AID IN MEMORIAL SERVICE

Boy Scouts of Monroe and West Monroe will join in paying tribute to the war dead in the Memorial Service to be held today in Brown Stadium at Northeast Junior College.

The Boys Scouts were called upon by George Fink to serve as ushers. District Scout Commissioner J. W. Webster will be in charge of the Boy Scouts and they will report to him at 1:30 at the stadium.

In event of rain, Mr. Webster has directed the Scouts to report to him at Neville High School.

An airplane with a wing that pivots, permitting level flight at all times, has been developed. Climb, landing and turns are controlled by position of the wing.

Truman 'Fighting President' Now

"I take back everything I've ever said or thought about President Truman," announced an ex-army officer to everyone in general around the rim of the counter of a hotel coffee shop Saturday morning.

There were nods of approval by the early breakfasters as he continued. "His radio talk last night was a masterpiece. He pulled no punches in dealing with the two brotherhood heads who alone are responsible for this railroad strike. He did it without any bitterness—just a plain statement of the facts as they are—and his declaration of what he intends to do about it was a magnificent display of firmness and courage."

That spontaneous observation appeared to express the general local reaction to the president's address to the nation in the newest, and undoubtedly most serious, of the many emergencies with which he has been beset in his little more than a year as chief executive. In his announced steps for a quick ending of the "terrible havoc" created by the rail strike Mr. Truman appears to have the solid backing of all good Americans.

There was no hint in the president's address of the vaccilation of which he has been accused in meeting some of the crises that have arisen from previous labor disputes. He placed the full blame squarely where it belongs, on the shoulders of A. F. Whitney and Alvanley Johnson, heads respectively of the trainmen and engineers' brotherhoods.

"It is time for plain speaking," declared Mr. Truman, and that is exactly what he dished out in his bristling, 12-minute broadcast. And all who heard or read, and applauded, his speech were given hope that he would follow through and break the hold of the few selfish labor leaders responsible for most of the postwar woes of the American people.

LET'S STOP THIS NOISE

Several months ago, after protests by numerous citizens of Monroe and West Monroe had been made, we asked that some measures be taken to stop the periodic blowing of mill whistles and other noises that disturbed the sleep of persons who don't arise at such hours that require (apparently) the rousing of those who go to work at 5, 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning.

Some of these lumber mills pulled their punches to a certain extent, but others continued to toot loudly at various intervals from the early morning hours until well up in the morning. Two mills particularly have been most vociferous in their blasting of noises to warn workers that they should report.

It is unnecessary and absurd to resort to blowing of mill whistles in these days of alarm clocks (yes you can get 'em) and telephones. It is most unfair to a majority of the residents of the Twin Cities to awaken them in the early hours of the morning and continue to disturb their sleep with the regular on-the-hour symphony of ear-splitting noises.

Another nuisance is the unnecessary blowing of automobile horns. This is most annoying in the downtown areas after persons in local hotels have gone to bed.

It seems that an ordinance should be enacted by our city council regulating these nuisances. We believe such an ordinance would have the wholehearted support of our citizens.

TWO MARKETS

In a Chicago night club the hat check girl sells nylons for $7.40 per pair. A Philadelphia clothing manufacturer sells suits direct at above the maker's ceiling so he can meet his payroll. White shirts sell in Los Angeles for $5 instead of the $2.25 ceiling. People in the cities are paying $4.50 for $2.90 dresses, 90 cents for bacon, 70 cents for round steak, a dollar for butter, 20 cents a pound for sugar.

Used cars are commanding far over ceilings in many places and dealers often turn new cars to clamorous customers on payment of a "premium." Upgrading of lumber in the Northwest is common and lumber commands prices far above ceilings for an inferior product. Truckers are buying grain and other products from farmers for what the farmer demands and selling for what they can get.

There is outright over pricing throughout America and many subterfuges to avoid ceilings. There is a clandestine market and an OPA ceiling market. Which one is disposing of the most goods is a question. But it is clear that any estimate the government makes on the cost of living is extremely unreliable.

STARVING MILLIONS

Herbert Hoover has made a preliminary report on the food situation in Europe and the picture he paints is alarming. He found only five small nations, with a total population of less than 40,000,000 people, which are self-sufficient as to food until the next harvest. There are approximately 100,000,000 peasants who through ways of their own are able to gain at least a bare subsistance. Otherwise the population is living from hand to mouth, with barely enough food to stave off starvation.

The most terrifying feature of the report is the fact that from the Russian frontier to the English Channel there are 20,000,000 children who are so badly undernourished they are developing all sorts of diseases, including rickets and tuberculosis. Mr. Hoover says all these are doomed to death or to live with stunted bodies and disordered minds unless help comes.

He charges no adequate facilities have been set up to meet this situation, although it must have been foreseen months ago. To fail to provide help might mean the wiping out of an entire generation in some countries.

If ignorance is bliss, why are the Japs in their present plight?

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.—Boy Taylor is ultimatuming MGM; he wants the privileges of making one picture a year as a free lance. . . . Ha! Hedy Lamarr says the L. A. police report (that the burglar who swiped her umpteen-thousand-dollar chinchilla cape tried to sell it for $50 and found no takers) wounded her more than the robbery. The thief also traded John Loder's $200 watch for an inner tube! . . . William Eythe's ex-landlady is filing suit for damages assertedly done her property.

The Guy Williams-Beverly Tyler romance started as an MGM publicity gag, but it's now on the level. . . . Wotzis about Dick Haymes and his brother, Bob Stanton (under contract to Columbia) refusing to speak? . . . Looks like Jean (Mrs. Franchot Tone) Wallace is reneging on her one-time declaration that careers and marriages don't mix; she has enrolled for a course in the Actor's Lab. . . . Charlie Stevens, playing in "Sinbad," is a grandson of Geronimo, the famous Apache chief.

Joel McCrea will shop for a Nevada ranch while locationing in "Ramrod." . . . Dello (Mrs. Andy Russell) Norrell has signed with Universal for a singing role and says she'll continue career-hunting if it doesn't interfere with domestic bliss. . . . Jennifer Jones is asking Selznick's okay for summer stock engagements in the Little Theatre circuit. . . . Gale Storm's husband, actor Lee Bonnell, had a narrow escape when he overturned his boat while fishing at Lake Sherwood.

Preview Nights: Pic of a mediocre week: Paramount's "Monsieur Beaucaire" (Bob Hope-Joan Caulfield-Patric Knowles). This slap-stick version of the Valentino classic abounds with chuckles. . . . Good: Columbia's "Renegades" (Evelyn Keyes-Willard Parker-Larry Sparks). Technicolor enhances a rousing western romance. . . . Paramount's "O. S. S." (Alan Ladd-Geraldine Fitzgerald). The initials could stand for "Old Spy Stuff," but deft handling makes it exciting. . . . Warner Brothers' "One More Tomorrow" (Ann Sheridan-Dennis Morgan-Jack Carson). A remake of the Phillip Barry play, "The Animal Kingdom," well tailored for femme appeal. . . . Fair: Universal's "Dressed To Kill" (Basil Rathbone-Nigel Bruce). Sherlock Holmes has a routine day. . . . Monogram's "Don't Gamble With Strangers" (Kane Richmond-Bernadine Hayes). Good advice but just average entertainment. . . . Best Performance: Jack Carson in "One More Tomorrow."

Any producer who cherishes the delusion that great acting ability makes great box office stars should take an evening off and haunt the lobby of the Los Angeles theater which currently is showing Rudolph Valentino's 25-year-old hit, "Son of the Shiek." The conversation of the ladies, as they emerge from the theater, deals not at all with the crudities of that screen antique, neither do they waste words on Valentino's acting, which, judged by the standards of today, is "hammy" to an almost ridiculous extreme. They talk about one thing and one thing only—the magic of Valentino's personality. Any man who has Valentino's personal magnetism could be the world's worst actor, but given a chance to display his other wares, he would still be a boxoffice idol.

During the past few years, there has been an amazing, but not amusing, incongruity in American comic strips. Whenever a rich man is introduced as a character, he is almost invariably portrayed as a dispicable heel who makes a hobby of grinding the poor under foot. I deny that the trend is amusing; I think it is dangerous, because it's impossible to overestimate the propaganda power of the comic strip. The practice is also incongruous because the topnotch artists in the comic strip field are making more money than most of the nation's bank presidents.

Someone presented me with a recording of Slim Gaillard's musical novelty, "Cement Mixer," when it was first issued, and I've worried myself addle-pated ever since, trying to figure out the lyrics. But I'll bother about them no longer, for this morning's mail brought me a publicity dispatch from Gaillard's press agent, affirming that his client speaks Hindustani, Arabic, Greek, Persian and Hebraic as fluently as though they were his native tongues. It is amazing, how he got all five new languages into one song!

Random Thought Department: The Thomas A. Edison Society has given George Brent an award for "The Most Consistent Record of Sanity in Acting." Things have come to a pretty pass when actors, in order to win awards, have to be sane. . . . A columnist reports that Lassie's next picture will have a psychological theme. Hmmm—with Lassie living a dual life (fathering a litter of pups in real life, and making a business of impersonating a lady on the screen) maybe he needs psychoanalyzing!

BY HENRY McLEMORE

By Henry McLemore

ATLANTA, Ga.—There are only two great differences between my vacations and the vacations of other people.

The first difference is that I never seem to go where I want to go or do what I want to do. The second difference is that I have to work just as hard while on vacation as I do any other time. The column goes on just the same and no matter where I go the typewriter tags along like Mary's little lamb.

New we are preparing to go to Montreal to see my sister. If I were just going to Montreal to see my sister that would be fine, but before I get to Montreal my wife, my mother, and my sister will have completed plans which will guarantee that I will do not what I want to do, but what they think I ought to do to have a good time.

One of the things I am going to have to do is visit my sister's camp in the Laurentian mountains. It is quite a distance from Montreal and entails an automobile trip over roads which, for the most part, are fit only for free-wheeling, front-drive burros. The last quarter of a mile to camp must be negotiated on foot and the supplies for the stay must be carried on the back and in the arms. I know now who is going to be expected to lead that procession—all loaded down like a draught horse.

My sister and her husband are the type who like to "rough it." They are never so happy as when they are thoroughly uncomfortable. They would be horrified at a suggestion that they install comfortable mattresses in the cottage, for example. They like a cozy pillow of birch burrs and a counterpane of leaves and branches which rustle and stick you in the back when you move and generally give the effect of sleeping in a brush pile.

All cooking must be done out of doors. This is a camp regulation. Both my sister and her husband are convinced that nothing makes a meal taste better than to eat it with your eyes running tears from smoke or while sitting on wet, cold ground.

And, it's cold up there in the Laurentians, too. The Aurora Borealis is just a whoop and a holler away and occasionally gets so bright that one can read last month's paper by it.

The cottage is situated on a bluff commanding a view of the coldest lake in the world. Without exaggeration, the water in that lake would give goose pimples to a glacier or an iceberg. My sister and brother-in-law plunge into it at least twice a day—usually in the morning before the sun has risen above the trees and in the evening after the sun has dropped beyond the trees. They say it is invigorating beyond belief.

Invigorating is not the word I would use in describing the sensation of plunging into that tree-bordered ice cream freezer. Paralysis sets in as your head sinks below the surface, and by the time your whole body is submerged, you have advanced rigor mortis with icicle trimmings and are ready for the pulmotor, the oxygen tent, and a week-end in an incinerator.

The scenery is beautiful and there is no use denying it. But what with camp chores, a man has little time to feast his eyes on nature's handiwork. There is wood to be cut, for one thing. The first two or three seconds of swinging an axe is fun, but a couple of hours of it makes a fellow long for a chafing dish or some other miracle of science that operates on fuel that can be purchased at a store. The scenery from the front porch is as pretty as any within a hundred miles, but my sister believes in exploring.

She doesn't think a sunset can be appreciated from a camp stool or a rocking chair, but must be viewed from a cliff that takes hours to climb and leaves you panting like a bloodhound after rounding up 17 escaped prisoners.

But I am going to the camp. Minds other than mine are already made up. Boy, what I wouldn't give to be back in the Pacific curled up in a nice warm foxhole with no women to guide my leisure time.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — Ex-Governor Harold E. Stassen's "Republican Open Forum" is unquestionably the smartest new idea in politics since the C. I. O. thought up its Political Action Committee.

P. A. C. started out to be a grass-roots movement to take politics out of the hands of the professional politicians and give it back to the people. But, while P. A. C. in the two years of its existence has apparently degenerated into just another political machine run by a bunch of bosses, Stassen's R. O. F. has the makings of a real popular movement, working from the bottom up instead of from the top down. There are now only a few hundred of these Forums functioning in 37 states, but the idea is just a month old, and it should grow.

Republican Open Forum headquarters in Washington, under Henry T. McKnight, has just mailed out its second monthly ballot. The question it asks is, "What Shall Our National Labor Policy Be?"

Ballots are sent out in batches of 25 to anyone who wants to run a forum. Twenty-five is considered the best number for a manageable discussion group. With each batch of ballots there is a little leaflet telling how to organize and conduct a local forum. It is short, written in simple style, printed in big type. It's a primer of politics at the bottom level.

Leaflet Offers Full Organizational Advice

It tells how to organize a forum. How to get people to join—by postcard, by telephone, at lunch. When and where to meet. How to sit in an informal circle for free discussion. How to limit each meeting to an hour and a half, so as not to tire people out. How to stimulate discussion and keep it on the track ("You have a good point, but can't we get back to our subject?"). How to discourage a bore ("Can we save your other point till later?"). How to break up a heated argument ("I guess we all know how Brown and Johnson feel about this. Now who else would like to get in on it?").

All this is the A-B-C stuff of political organization. But it's good, solid town-meeting technique on which a successful political movement can be built.

To help the members of a Forum make up their minds on each month's question, a fact sheet of background information is provided. For the current question of "What Shall Our National Labor Policy Be?", it's in the form of mimeographed sheets that give both sides of testimony on such questions as how wages were advanced 15 per cent under the Little Steel formula, how the cost of living went up 33 per cent, and where the 18 per cent difference is to come from.

Strike statistics are given. A million man-days a month were lost before V-J day, as against six million a month since. The effect of the Wagner Act is shown as 1,000 strikes a year before it was passed, 3,398 strikes a year since. Strike costs are estimated.

Ballots State Questions In Simple, Clear Form

Having chewed over this factual information in discussion, the Forum is now ready to mark up its ballots and vote on what the national labor policy should be. The six main points and a dozen related topics aren't given as questions, but as statements on which you vote "Yes" or "No."

They're stated in simple but challenging form, and they suck you in deeper and deeper to get a real expression of opinion. Here are a few samples:

1. There are already too many restrictions on labor, and the government should back up the unions and force business to make settlements with them.

2. The laws and restrictions we now have on unions and for settlement of industrial disputes are acceptable on the whole, and no change is needed.

3. Some additional restrictions should be placed on unions and industrial disputes.

4. The federal government should provide for compulsory arbitration binding on both labor and management.

5. The federal government should provide for compulsory arbitration only in disputes in public utilities and essential industries.

6. Our national labor policy should be based on the conclusion that labor unions are now too strong.

If you don't like any of these, there are three blank lines in which you can write your own bill of particulars. From the tabulated returns it is hoped to get some facts that will dictate to the party leaders how they should write their platform in 1948.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By Erskine Johnson
(NEA Service Staff Correspondent)

"Why Boris," we said, "where are your two heads? Where is your fright wig? Where is the chocolate syrup that doubles for blood? Where is the battery that makes your ears light up? Where is the . . ."

"Please," Boris said. "Today I am the new Boris Karloff. I left the old one under a wet rock in the Universal prop department."

"Mr. Karloff, please," called an assistant director.

"Pardon me," said Boris, in his pleasant English accent.

Still a Film Terror

Karloff leered at Danny and then pushed him out a window. This wasn't very nice, because the window was on the 17th floor of a New York skyscraper.

"See," said Boris, returning. "I'm still a menace. But I don't scare people with neon lights sticking out of my skull, two heads, or eye balls that pop out every time the heroine looks at me. I'm just Boris Karloff. Not Boris Karloff, horror man."

We were worried about Danny.

Boris was in such an amiable mood that we couldn't resist asking about his divorce. He told the court that Mrs. Karloff was "cruel" to him, which gave Hollywood quite a chuckle.

"Please," he said. "Let's not go into that. It was a purely technical charge."

Boris said he didn't mind playing in intelligent horror pictures, but that he walked out on the Frankenstein monster which made him famous, because "it became a clambake." "The monster," he said, "became a prop in the last act."

Gives Himself Nightmares

"Only when I see my own pictures," he chuckled, "or just before the opening of a new play. My knees always sound like castanets."

He had a pretty good angle about seeing himself on the screen, too.

"I usually wait a year before seeing one of my pictures. It's the only way I can learn anything about my acting. It's like reading something you've written. The next day it sounds pretty good. But a year later it stinks."

Karloff said he enjoyed working in the New York stage show, "Arsenic and Old Lace," just for the chance to enjoy the humor of authors Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse. "We spent all of our spare time exchanging insulting telegrams," he said.

Lindsay and Crouse once humorously objected to Karloff's getting sun-tanned during the summer season. "We're not playing 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,'" they wired him.

"If I were earning a decent salary," wired back Karloff, "I could afford some powder."

TROOPERS ARREST 5 AS DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Continuing their campaign against drunk drivers, state policemen of Troop F from the Monroe barracks made five arrests last week on charges of operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor.

The defendants were R. H. Brown of Monroe, J. E. Jarmon of Ruston, J. D. Hines of Rayville, Joe Gunter of Oak Grove and E. S. Bolton of Kelly. Brown was fined $100 and costs in Monroe city court. The other defendants have not been arraigned.

The seventh arrest of the week was that of John Gills, colored, of 823 Atkins street, Monroe, on a reckless driving charge.

There are 108,202 miles of urban transit routes in the United States over which 89,240 subways, street cars, trackless trolley coaches and gas buses operate.

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK—A. McNeill is what I make out the signature to be on a letter from Orange, Texas, assuring me that sensible people go to Houston from all points of the compass to live. Wide streets, magnolias, live oaks and elms, flowers, shrubs and human companionship are promised everyone by this enthusiastic booster. . . . Miss May Greiner, Damascus, Va., criticizes me for use of the expression, grammatical error. Her father, she says, maintains that if it's an error it isn't grammatical. Therefore the expression is not correct. Wrong on every point, Miss Greiner. Grammatical describes the field in which the error was made, as clinical, surgical, constitutional, clerical, or fundamental error. If you split hairs with a dull knife, no English expression in daily and correct use will stand up. Grammatical error is the correct name of an error in grammar . . . But Mrs. O. A. Brooks, of Christiansburg, Va., sends a recipe for pecan pie, with the wish that I may enjoy the pie as much as she enjoys this column. I'm sure I will.

Some people get much more satisfaction out of life as it moves along than others do. Among these, many keep diaries, because they wish to preserve for the future the joy of life they feel in the present.

Carrie R. Soares, of Providence, R. I., sends me extracts from a diary kept by her grandfather, Charles T. Robbins, written in 1863, while he was on a voyage on a sailing vessel, the Levanter, from New York to Valparaiso, Chile, on a business mission. The whole section quoted bespeaks a well-ordered mind, curious about the world and its people, anxious to make notes and pile up knowledge.

I'd like to quote it all, but there is room for only a little of the journal for January 23, 1863, 48 days out of New York:

"Had a good breeze during the past night and a splendid morning. The sun was well up when I came on deck. The sea had gone down and we were smoothly gliding along. Soon the cry of 'Sail Ho' brought every eye toward the direction given by the person who had first seen far away in the direction which we were heading the Top Gallant sails of a vessel looming up on the distant horizon. By the glass we could make her out to be a brig, standing a little acrost our bows. We were soon up with her and standing away to the northward were soon out of sight. Still another brig came in sight which we set our colors for. She proved a Spanish ship but could not reply to our signals.

"After dinner laid down for a sleep. Carrie came and called me saying that there was a ship ahead standing acrost our bows which was a whaleman. Going on deck found this proved to be the case and by the glass could see her boats very plainly.

"Soon a boat lowered from the whaleship and pulled toward us and party came on board, consisting of the mate and a crew mostly Negroes and Portuguese. They informed us that their vessel was the barque 'NYE' of New Bedford, Captain Barker, 27 months from home and with 570 barrels of Sperm Oil, was last from Fish Bay coast of Africa, and had been in to St. Helena. The mate, Mr. Potter, invited us to go on board of the barque after which the captain would return on board our vessel. So Mr. Evans, George and myself went off to the barque and were well paid for the opportunity."

How such plain writing makes the dead past live again!

EDUCATION TO GET MAJOR ATTENTION

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(Special)—Education is coming in for a heavy share of attention from Louisiana's thirteenth biennial legislature, with 19 bills affecting the public schools alone already introduced, and others expected next week.

Most controversial on the agenda are bills to reorganize the state board of education and replace the elected superintendent with an appointed commissioner; to levy an additional one per cent sales tax, with 70 per cent of the proceeds to go to teachers' pay; and two proposals to levy a three-cent gas gathering tax, one allocating all the proceeds to a public school funds and the other 75 per cent of the revenue.

Five bills and constitutional amendments on reorganization have hit the hamper, all but one dovetailing to remove the three appointed members of the board and to make the superintendent an elected commissioner. One would have the three members now appointed elected from the public service districts, while the eight others would be chosen from the congressional divisions, as in the other legislation.

Also introduced is a bill establishing a minimum wage scale of $1,900 for public school teachers, to be increased $100 a year for 15 years, with additional increments going to executive posts.

Additional legislation includes a proposal to make parish school superintendents elective, to provide retirement funds for employees other than teachers, and to appropriate $3,000,000 from the general funds for teachers' salaries.

SCOUTS TO AID IN MEMORIAL SERVICE

Boy Scouts of Monroe and West Monroe will join in paying tribute to the war dead in the Memorial Service to be held today in Brown Stadium at Northeast Junior College.

The Boys Scouts were called upon by George Fink to serve as ushers. District Scout Commissioner J. W. Webster will be in charge of the Boy Scouts and they will report to him at 1:30 at the stadium.

In event of rain, Mr. Webster has directed the Scouts to report to him at Neville High School.

An airplane with a wing that pivots, permitting level flight at all times, has been developed. Climb, landing and turns are controlled by position of the wing.

TEACHER ENDS 52 YEAR'S WORK

Mrs. D. B. Garland Honored Upon Retirement At Bernice

Mrs. Daisy Dawson Garland, of Bernice, is this month completing 52 years of continuous service as school teacher and is to retire when the present session of school ends. She has taught in the Bernice community continuously since 1900, coming to Bernice soon after her marriage to the late Dr. D. B. Garland. Besides her teaching work, she took over the rearing of Dr. Garland's five children and saw that they all made substantial places for themselves in life.

"Miss Daisy," as she is affectionately called by her pupils, was a member of the Bernice faculty when the school was approved as a high school in 1906.

She has taught countless numbers of pupils and her influence has carried to many distant places. She has always been a tireless worker who looks upon each pupil as something precious entrusted to her care. She has been an active member of the Bernice Methodist Church and for years has been teacher of a Sunday school class.

A social hour to honor Mrs. Garland was held in the home economics rooms by the Bernice faculty recently. Five faculty members, former pupils of Mrs. Garland, paid tribute to her and told of her influence in their lives. These were Mesdames Lucille Porter, Era Cagle, Velma Gray and Lucia Black also John Caldwell, Jr. Miss Doris Gaston, Union parish visiting teacher, and a former pupil of the veteran teacher, gave a short talk. John Green, Union parish supervisor, who has been associated with Mrs. Garland as an educator, also spoke M. A. Boyle's Notebook

By Hal Boyle

COPENHAGEN, May 25.—(AP)—The loneliest people in the world, besides professional flagpole sitters, are symphony orchestra conductors. Nobody really understands their problems except people in the same trade.

One of the most pleasant surprises you have in talking with Karl Krueger, America's well known symphony conductor, is that he never interrupts his conversation to throw his hair back out of his eyes. He doesn't let it grow that long.

This Kansas-born musician—present conductor of the Detroit Symphony—is something of an anomaly on the International Beethoven and Brahms circuit. He is one of the few native Americans to conduct a major orchestra and he has swung his Baton before more European symphonies than any man born west of Montauk Point, Long Island.

Currently Krueger is under sponsorship of the U. S. state department and is serving as cultural ambassador on a tour through Europe and South America. His job is to help convince foreign countries that America is more than a land of hot dogs, skyscrapers and cathedral gasoline stations. His mission has had some success.

"It is finally dawning on Europeans that America has a tremendous intellectual and aesthetic life," he said. "You still find pockets where they think America has nothing but swing tunes. On the other hand, generally, there is great interest and curiosity in American music—more than I ever saw before. They want to know what we produced musically during the war."

He hasn't tried to cram his country's music into foreign ears but usually includes at least one American number on his programs.

He conducted two concerts for an all-children audience here because he believes "it's the youngsters who have an interest in serious music."

At 52 Krueger is a tall, spare man with grey hair and electric-blue eyes under shaggy black brows. He eats lightly and smokes 20 to 30 cigars daily. He buys them in batches of a thousand at a time.

He talks entertainingly about his work and believes symphony conductors are born rather than made —"either you can do it or you can't, so there's nothing to worry about."

He finished a law course at Heidelberg to please his father before turning professionally to music. His father made his four sons get up at 4:45 a. m. in his Atchison, Kan., home to practice for the family string quartet but didn't want his boys to follow a musical career.

Playing the 'cello and piano as a hobby wasn't enough, however, for Krueger. He wanted to conduct symphonies "even as a kid."

He thinks the public is over-impressed with hand-waving head-flinging, and gestures by arm on the podium.

"You do it with your eyes," he said. "A Good conductor could lead an orchestra with his hands tied behind him."

He very rarely plays a musical instrument himself now. He composes occasionally "but only for the waste basket—."

His greatest pleasure is to sit and read a musical score, because in his case to read it is to hear it, a feat which takes years to learn.

"A great composer hears music in his head before he sets it down," he said. "Ones who compose on a piano aren't so hot."

He dislikes music at mealtime.

TEACHER ENDS 52 YEAR'S WORK

Mrs. D. B. Garland Honored Upon Retirement At Bernice

Mrs. Daisy Dawson Garland, of Bernice, is this month completing 52 years of continuous service as school teacher and is to retire when the present session of school ends. She has taught in the Bernice community continuously since 1900, coming to Bernice soon after her marriage to the late Dr. D. B. Garland. Besides her teaching work, she took over the rearing of Dr. Garland's five children and saw that they all made substantial places for themselves in life.

"Miss Daisy," as she is affectionately called by her pupils, was a member of the Bernice faculty when the school was approved as a high school in 1906.

She has taught countless numbers of pupils and her influence has carried to many distant places. She has always been a tireless worker who looks upon each pupil as something precious entrusted to her care. She has been an active member of the Bernice Methodist Church and for years has been teacher of a Sunday school class.

A social hour to honor Mrs. Garland was held in the home economics rooms by the Bernice faculty recently. Five faculty members, former pupils of Mrs. Garland, paid tribute to her and told of her influence in their lives. These were Mesdames Lucille Porter, Era Cagle, Velma Gray and Lucia Black also John Caldwell, Jr. Miss Doris Gaston, Union parish visiting teacher, and a former pupil of the veteran teacher, gave a short talk. John Green, Union parish supervisor, who has been associated with Mrs. Garland as an educator, also spoke. M. A. Price, principal of Bernice High School, acted as master of ceremonies, and gave glowing praise to Mrs. Garland as an excellent teacher and leader. Mrs. Clemie Davis presented the retiring teacher with a gift from the faculty.

HUSBAND REGAINS HIS MISSING WIFE

Amnesia Victim Recognized By Former School Mate Is Returned Home

Stella Johnson Hilbert, 19, was returned to her home near the gravel pits in West Monroe on Highway 80, in custody of her husband, Percy Hilbert, Saturday afternoon, the sheriff's office reported.

Mrs. Hilbert, the victim of an amnesia attack, was found in a local bus station Friday by John Weatherford, Route 1, Alexandria, La. Weatherford, an old school classmate of Mrs. Hilbert, was waiting for a bus when he recognized her. After he had tried to carry on a conversation with her, he realized that she was suffering from lack of memory. She was not able to remember their having attended school together or any of the "past" he tried to talk to her about.

Before Weatherford caught his bus he turned Mrs. Hilbert over to the local authorities and gave her name as Stella Johnson and stated that he thought she lived in West Monroe. He also furnished police with the name of her brother, Luther Lee Powell of Rayville. Powell was contacted through the Rayville sheriff by the Monroe police.

Powell arrived here about 9:45 Friday night and was met at the police headquarters by Hilbert, who had missed the return of his wife and was seeking police aid in locating her.

Police stated that Mrs. Hilbert had suffered a brain concussion about a year ago after a skating accident and has since suffered from frequent headaches.

As Mrs. Hilbert was complaining of a pain in the back of her head when she was taken to the police station, it is believed that a blow on the head caused her amnesia.

Mrs. Hilbert has recently been under the care of a physician and after she was placed in the parish jail to await the arrival of her brother, she took an overdose of tablets which she has been taking to ease the pain from a recent operation. She could not be revived until 12:30 Saturday afternoon, after which she was turned over to her husband.

SAYS PRESIDENT BETRAYED LABOR

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—(AP)—P. O. Peterson, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, on Southern Pacific Railroad, said today a few minutes after President Truman announced the rail strike settlement that he would not call his men back to work until he got formal notice from Cleveland union headquarters.

"And meanwhile," he was asked by a reporter, "on the president's word the strike is over, you won't issue any provisional order?"

"No," he snapped. "Our position still is that the president has just betrayed American labor—and the American public as well."

FAMINE SUPPLIES STILL INADEQUATE

European Larders Far Short Of Requirements Despite Increased Production

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—The agriculture department reported tonight that a spring survey indicates the famine-plagued world will produce more food this year than last but that total supplies will be below pre-war levels and short of requirements.

Hence, it said, effective conservation and distribution of supplies, internationally and within deficit producing countries, will be necessary throughout the 1946-47 season if another critical food shortage is to be avoided next spring.

Reports from this country's agricultural attaches abroad show that, as of mid-May, crop conditions in nearly all parts of the northern hemisphere thus far have been more favorable than a year earlier. A significant increase in acreage is expected and yields should be better than in 1945.

The department said, however, that acreages in most of the war-torn areas are considerably below normal and improvement of yields is limited by shortage of fertilizers and the shortage and poor quality of seed, work stock and equipment.

While the production season in the southern hemisphere is six months later than that of the northern hemisphere, some expansion in food output was reported likely.

The department said the prospective total food output in continental Europe for the consumption year of 1946-47 may now be estimated at between 88 and 90 per cent of pre-war. Output in 1945-46 was said to have been probably only 80 per cent, or even somewhat less, compared with the 1933-37 average.

Europe's prospective increases will be confined, the department said, largely to grains and sugar, with possibly a slight increase in fats.

TWO BIDS RECEIVED FOR LSU PROPERTY

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(AP)—Two bids for the purchase of Louisiana State University's Bienville Hotel property in New Orleans have been received and will be considered at a meeting of the university's board of supervisors here Monday, it was announced last night.

The bids were submitted by Harry Latter of Latter and Blum, New Orleans realtors, and by the Charleston Corp., Lake Charles hotel operators.

Latter offered $675,000 for the building and furnishings if the present ten-year lease on the building, which expires in 1950, is cancelled immediately; $600,000 if it continues in effect. The Charleston bid was $550,000 if the lease is cancelled immediately.

The university purchased the Bienville Hotel, which figures prominently in the "Louisiana scandals," for $650,000.

ACCEPTS KINGSHIP OF TRANS-JORDAN

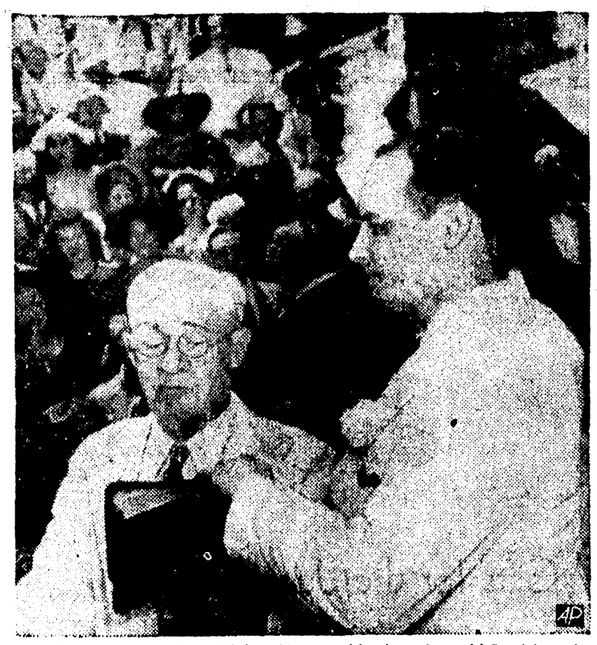

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan, May 25.—(AP)—In a setting of dazzling regal splendor, bearded, 64-year-old Abdullah Ibn Al Hussein formally accepted kingship today over 300,000 subjects, and called upon the rest of the Arab world to unite with him for a federation of Arab states.

Surrounded by 300 distinguished guests in resplendent uniforms, the regally robed and turbaned monarch ascended the throne in a ceremony which lasted 14 minutes, climaxing one of the most important days in Trans-Jordan's 5,000-year history.

Great feasting followed the enthronement ceremony, for the guests at the luncheon, 56 whole roasted sheep were served on hammered bronze platters. A banquet was arranged for the evening, and many other feasts and functions will be held during the three-day holiday proclaimed to mark Trans-Jordan's emergence as an independent kingdom.

Abdullah ascended the throne of this British-protected kingdom by virtue of a treaty signed last month, ending Britain's League of Nation's mandate.

DEMANDS CONGRESS ENACT LABOR LAWS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—(AP)—John Steele, national commander of the American Legion demanded in a statement today that Congress pass legislation making mandatory the settlement of "costly and dangerous labor-management disputes" by established federal courts.

"We point out to Congress," Stelle's statement said, "that individual controversies always have been decided and enforced by judicial action through the medium of the duly constituted courts. Collective rights must be determined by the same machinery."

"Class autocracy now exists to the extent that domestic peace had been destroyed; the public welfare is being ignored and sabotaged," Stelle asserted. "Statutory agencies and bureaus have failed miserably to settle differences strangling the national welfare.

"The responsibility to stop this conflict and stop it now rests with the Congress of the United States," the statement continued.

BAKERIES MAY CLOSE UNLESS WHEAT COMES

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—A bakery official predicted today a partial or complete shutdown of New Orleans bakeries unless the government takes immediate action to start available wheat on its way to mills.

Archie Johnstone, manager of American Bakeries, Inc., said mills were unable to obtain sufficient wheat to meet their 75 per cent production quotas.

"This is the cause of the much more severe bread shortage which lies just ahead," Johnstone said. "The mills cannot obtain the wheat because they are unable to compete with the government's own purchase of wheat, which is being made at premium prices substantially above the ceiling the miller is allowed to pay."

He said that many mills already have closed and that others faced the necessity of closing for indefinite periods unless more wheat is made available.

TRUMAN UNSMILING IN GIVING ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—President Truman played a dramatic role today when he announced to an applauding, cheering Congress the settlement of the railroad strike on his own terms.

The gray-haired chief executive had just brought men of both parties to their feet with an announcement that he wanted to draft into the Army all workers who strike "against their government."

Hardly had the applause subsided when Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle slipped unobtrusively up to the speaker's stand and handed him a slip of paper.

"Word has just been received that the railroad strike has been settled on terms proposed by the President."

As the significance of the announcement broke over the chamber the senators and representatives arose all over the chamber. Those in the packed galleries, where Mrs. Truman and her daughter, Margaret, listened, followed suit.

A Congress anxious to deal vigorously with industrial strife and already in a mood to cheer him as a result of fighting speech last night, thunderously applauded as Mr. Truman entered the chamber.

FREDERICK MEYER, 80, EXPIRES HERE

Leaving the power plant, Mr. Meyer entered business for himself, organizing the firm of the Monroe Electrical Supply Company, which he operated until his retirement in 1929.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Peters Funeral Home with the Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe, officiating. Interment will follow in the Monroe City Cemetery.

"You'd have to pay out $84 a month for 30 years to assure a monthly income as big as the Army gives me FREE on retirement"

Most men don't think of retiring until they're 65 years old. But many thousands of men in the new peacetime Regular Army are going to be able to retire with a life income before they're 40!

Specifically, they can retire at any time after 20 years of service. Their retirement income ranges from half pay after 20 years' service on up to three-quarters pay after 30 years. (Retirement pay for a Master or First Sergeant runs as high as $155.25 a month.)

An annuity which would pay the same retirement income as the Army pays would cost more than $84 a month for 30 years—a total of more than $30,240!

Of course, there are other financial benefits for those who enlist in the Army, too. The Army's educational program alone is worth a lot, for it offers valuable training in any of 200 skills and trades . . . equips men for good civilian jobs in later life.

Army men receive—without cost—good food, clothing and quarters, as well as medical and dental care. Dependents of men who enlist before July 1, 1946, receive family allowances from the Army. And the soldier himself receives the best pay in Army history.

There are many more reasons why so many thousands of men are enlisting in the Army every day. Every American should know why. You can get the full story—without obligation—by stopping in at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station.

HUSBAND REGAINS HIS MISSING WIFE

Amnesia Victim Recognized By Former School Mate Is Returned Home

Stella Johnson Hilbert, 19, was returned to her home near the gravel pits in West Monroe on Highway 80, in custody of her husband, Percy Hilbert, Saturday afternoon, the sheriff's office reported.

Mrs. Hilbert, the victim of an amnesia attack, was found in a local bus station Friday by John Weatherford, Route 1, Alexandria, La. Weatherford, an old school classmate of Mrs. Hilbert, was waiting for a bus when he recognized her. After he had tried to carry on a conversation with her, he realized that she was suffering from lack of memory. She was not able to remember their having attended school together or any of the "past" he tried to talk to her about.

Before Weatherford caught his bus he turned Mrs. Hilbert over to the local authorities and gave her name as Stella Johnson and stated that he thought she lived in West Monroe. He also furnished police with the name of her brother, Luther Lee Powell of Rayville. Powell was contacted through the Rayville sheriff by the Monroe police.

Powell arrived here about 9:45 Friday night and was met at the police headquarters by Hilbert, who had missed the return of his wife and was seeking police aid in locating her.

Police stated that Mrs. Hilbert had suffered a brain concussion about a year ago after a skating accident and has since suffered from frequent headaches..

As Mrs. Hilbert was complaining of a pain in the back of her head when she was taken to the police station, it is believed that a blow on the head caused her amnesia.

Mrs. Hilbert has recently been under the care of a physician and after she was placed in the parish jail to await the arrival of her brother, she took an overdose of tablets which she has been taking to ease the pain from a recent operation. She could not be revived until 12:30 Saturday afternoon, after which she was turned over to her husband.

SAYS PRESIDENT BETRAYED LABOR

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—(AP)—P. O. Peterson, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, on Southern Pacific Railroad, said today a few minutes after President Truman announced the rail strike settlement that he would not call his men back to work until he got formal notice from Cleveland union headquarters.

"And meanwhile," he was asked by a reporter, "on the president's word the strike is over, you won't issue any provisional order?"

"No," he snapped. "Our position still is that the president has just betrayed American labor—and the American public as well."

FAMINE SUPPLIES STILL INADEQUATE

European Larders Far Short Of Requirements Despite Increased Production

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—The agriculture department reported tonight that a spring survey indicates the famine-plagued world will produce more food this year than last but that total supplies will be below pre-war levels and short of requirements.

Hence, it said, effective conservation and distribution of supplies, internationally and within deficit producing countries, will be necessary throughout the 1946-47 season if another critical food shortage is to be avoided next spring.

Reports from this country's agricultural attaches abroad show that, as of mid-May, crop conditions in nearly all parts of the northern hemisphere thus far have been more favorable than a year earlier. A significant increase in acreage is expected and yields should be better than in 1945.

The department said, however, that acreages in most of the war-torn areas are considerably below normal and improvement of yields is limited by shortage of fertilizers and the shortage and poor quality of seed, work stock and equipment.

While the production season in the southern hemisphere is six months later than that of the northern hemisphere, some expansion in food output was reported likely.

The department said the prospective total food output in continental Europe for the consumption year of 1946-47 may now be estimated at between 88 and 90 per cent of pre-war. Output in 1945-46 was said to have been probably only 80 per cent, or even somewhat less, compared with the 1933-37 average.

Europe's prospective increases will be confined, the department said, largely to grains and sugar, with possibly a slight increase in fats.

TWO BIDS RECEIVED FOR LSU PROPERTY

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(AP)—Two bids for the purchase of Louisiana State University's Bienville Hotel property in New Orleans have been received and will be considered at a meeting of the university's board of supervisors here Monday, it was announced last night.

The bids were submitted by Harry Latter of Latter and Blum, New Orleans realtors, and by the Charleston Corp., Lake Charles hotel operators.

Latter offered $675,000 for the building and furnishings if the present ten-year lease on the building, which expires in 1950, is cancelled immediately; $600,000 if it continues in effect. The Charleston bid was $550,000 if the lease is cancelled immediately.

The university purchased the Bienville Hotel, which figures prominently in the "Louisiana scandals," for $650,000.

ACCEPTS KINGSHIP OF TRANS-JORDAN

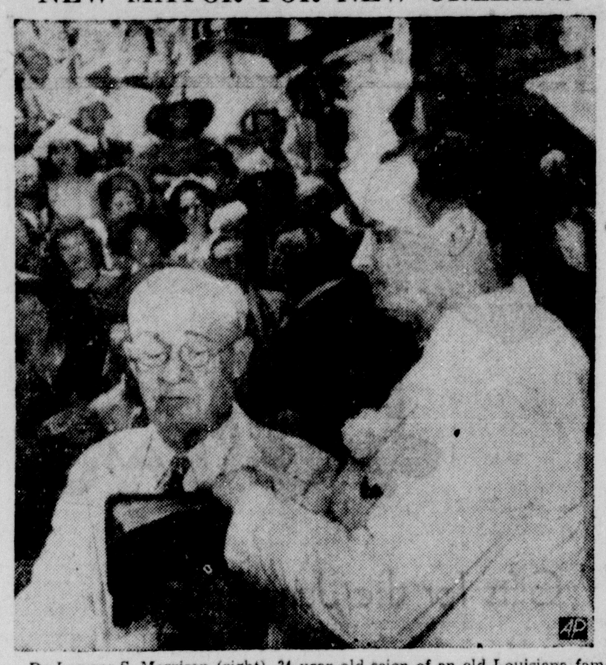

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan, May 25.—(AP)—In a setting of dazzling regal splendor, bearded, 64-year-old Abdullah Ibn Al Hussein formally accepted kingship today over 300,000 subjects, and called upon the rest of the Arab world to unite with him for a federation of Arab states.

Surrounded by 300 distinguished guests in resplendent uniforms, the regally robed and turbaned monarch ascended the throne in a ceremony which lasted 14 minutes, climaxing one of the most important days in Trans-Jordan's 5,000-year history.

Great feasting followed the enthronement ceremony, for the guests at the luncheon, 56 whole roasted sheep were served on hammered bronze platters. A banquet was arranged for the evening, and many other feasts and functions will be held during the three-day holiday proclaimed to mark Trans-Jordan's emergence as an independent kingdom.

Abdullah ascended the throne of this British-protected kingdom by virtue of a treaty signed last month, ending Britain's League of Nation's mandate.

DEMANDS CONGRESS ENACT LABOR LAWS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—(AP)—John Steele, national commander of the American Legion demanded in a statement today that Congress pass legislation making mandatory the settlement of "costly and dangerous labor-management disputes" by established federal courts.

"We point out to Congress," Stelle's statement said, "that individual controversies always have been decided and enforced by judicial action through the medium of the duly constituted courts. Collective rights must be determined by the same machinery."

"Class autocracy now exists to the extent that domestic peace had been destroyed; the public welfare is being ignored and sabotaged," Stelle asserted. "Statutory agencies and bureaus have failed miserably to settle differences strangling the national welfare.

"The responsibility to stop this conflict and stop it now rests with the Congress of the United States," the statement continued.

BAKERIES MAY CLOSE UNLESS WHEAT COMES

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—A bakery official predicted today a partial or complete shutdown of New Orleans bakeries unless the government takes immediate action to start available wheat on its way to mills.

Archie Johnstone, manager of American Bakeries, Inc., said mills were unable to obtain sufficient wheat to meet their 75 per cent production quotas.

"This is the cause of the much more severe bread shortage which lies just ahead," Johnstone said. "The mills cannot obtain the wheat because they are unable to compete with the government's own purchase of wheat, which is being made at premium prices substantially above the ceiling the miller is allowed to pay."

He said that many mills already have closed and that others faced the necessity of closing for indefinite periods unless more wheat is made available.

TRUMAN UNSMILING IN GIVING ADDRESS

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(AP)—President Truman played a dramatic role today when he announced to an applauding, cheering Congress the settlement of the railroad strike on his own terms.

The gray-haired chief executive had just brought men of both parties to their feet with an announcement that he wanted to draft into the Army all workers who strike "against their government."

Hardly had the applause subsided when Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle slipped unobtrusively up to the speaker's stand and handed him a slip of paper.

"Word has just been received that the railroad strike has been settled on terms proposed by the President."

As the significance of the announcement broke over the chamber the senators and representatives arose all over the chamber. Those in the packed galleries, where Mrs. Truman and her daughter, Margaret, listened, followed suit.

A Congress anxious to deal vigorously with industrial strife and already in a mood to cheer him as a result of fighting speech last night, thunderously applauded as Mr. Truman entered the chamber.

FREDERICK MEYER, 80, EXPIRES HERE

Frederick L. Meyer, 80, retired Monroe business man, died last night at 8:30 o'clock in a local hospital.

Mr. Meyer, a native of Little Rock, Ark., had made his home here for the past 49 years and served for 25 years as superintendent of the Monroe city power and light plant. Leaving the power plant, Mr. Meyer entered business for himself, organizing the firm of the Monroe Electrical Supply Company, which he operated until his retirement in 1929.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Peters Funeral Home with the Rev. Ernest Duncan Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe, officiating. Interment will follow in the Monroe City Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be W. C. Hopkins, Charles Biggar, C. A. Alexander, R. L. Frantom, S. J. Willensky and Chief Harry Roberts.

YOUNG WOMAN'S MEMORY LAPSES

Recovering After Mind Goes Blank While On Visit To Monroe

Mrs. Stella Hilbert, a twice-married 18-year-old resident of the Arkansas road, West Monroe, was recovering last night from what was believed to have been a mental lapse caused by a head injury suffered about a year ago.

The young woman was taken to police headquarters at 8 p. m. Friday by John Weatherford of Alexandria, route 1, a former schoolmate, who told officers she had failed to recognize him when he encountered her in the Union bus station. After questioning her and finding she could not tell her name or recall anything of her past, Weatherford said he had concluded she was a victim of amnesia. Police sent her to the parish jail for observation.

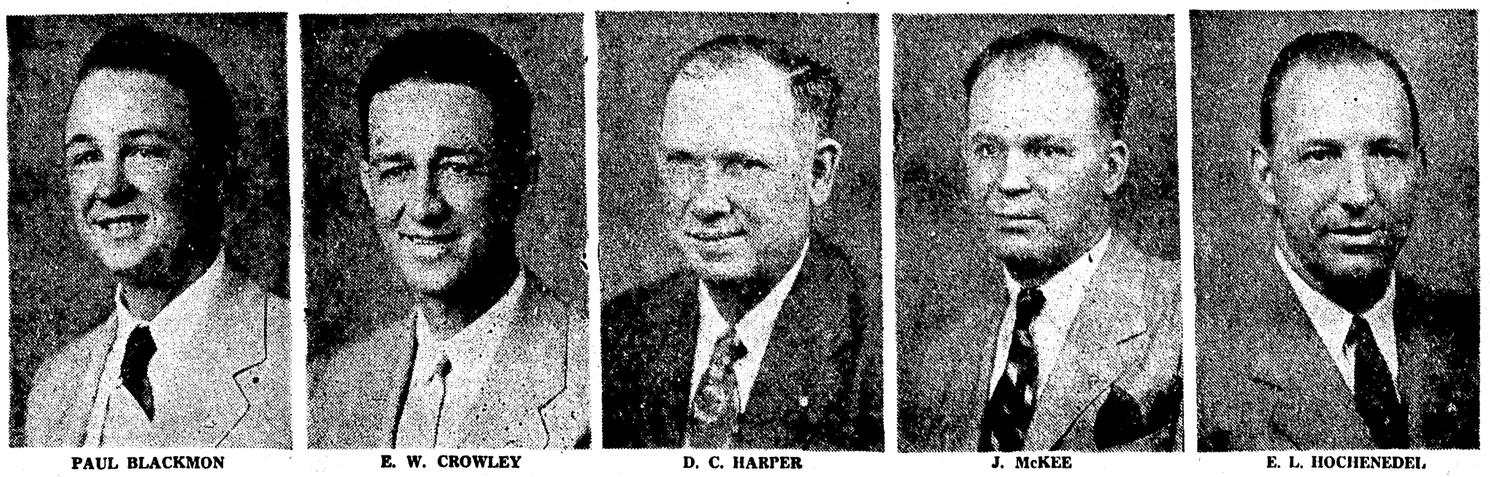

Lee Powell of Rayville, a brother to the girl, was summoned Friday night, and her mind still appeared to be blank when he talked to her. Saturday afternoon, however, she seemed to be recovering her memory and, at the suggestion of Dr. James T. French, parish coroner, who had examined her, she was released to her husband. The latter said she had fallen while roller skating on the pavement near their home last year and had received a skull fracture, for which she was under treatment for several weeks at Charity Hospital.

After she had begun to recall past events, Mrs. Hilbert told Dr. French she remembered having come to Monroe Friday to apply for a position as a waitress at the Primo cafe, but she was not sure she had gone there. Also she said she had intended going to a show. She could not explain her visit to the bus station.

NUTRI-TIPS

Will the hands of friendship which we stretch across the sea in the name of peace be empty?

Every person can give a mite in the voluntary program of saving lives by sharing his bread.

America must not go empty-handed to the peace table. America knows the price of reconstruction. She knows it takes more than money and effort. It takes food, machinery, clothing and houses to rebuild what has been lost during a gigantic disaster—but most of all it takes time!

The next three to six months are critical times for all the war-torn countries. They need help; they need help now that they might survive; that they might rebuild their homes, their schools, and, most of all, the very life back into their children. They look to us. Are we extending an empty hand!

In an atomic era we need to learn more about neighborliness—friendship. Unless we have this, we cannot hope to survive. If we fail, we shall see a world of disorders which will paralyze every effort at recovery and peace, and millions of our fellow human beings will die.

"Give us this day our daily bread, and . . ."

Eighty per cent extraction flour contains somewhat more of the B vitamins, especially thiamine, than a similar lot of un-enriched 72 per cent extraction flour.

Europe and Russia extract 85 to 90 per cent of the wheat; South Africa, 96 per cent.

The new flour has no visible bran particles. It is practically as fine and smooth as ordinary white flour.

Cornmeal and oatmeal may be used to replace part of the wheat flour in making bread, biscuits, muffins, pancakes and cookies.

Serve creamed meat, chicken, or fish on mashed potatoes instead of on toast.

Make stuffings for meat and poultry, using potatoes rather than bread.

Top meat pies and other baking dishes with fluffy mashed potatoes instead of pastry crust or biscuits.

The 80 per cent extraction flour may be used in all standard recipes unless the manufacturer gives directions in the package for his particular product. The dough may seem somewhat soft; if so, a bit more flour may be used, but be careful not to use too much.

Eat two slices less bread each day

Buy 20 per cent less fat.

Have a garden and grow your own vegetables.

Do not throw away any bread which has become stale. Should you desire recipes for the use of left-over bread, a phone call to Red Cross, 6780, or Mrs. D. L. Nicol, Red Cross nutrition chairman, 6173-R, is all that is necessary. Your Red Cross is ready to serve you.

DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER COLLISION

John Gills, 35, Negro, of 223 Atkins Street, was arrested by state policemen on a reckless driving charge Friday night following a head-on collision between a Purity Ice Cream Company truck, which he was driving, and an automobile on old Highway 165, a mile and a half south of Sterlington. The auto, operated by Leonard Warren, Jr., colored, of near Sterlington, was damaged $300 and the truck $175, the officers reported. Occupants were not injured. Gills was held over night in the parish jail.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Speaking of Strikes: As a correspondent attached to the London bureau of the Associated Press I had a ring-side seat at the world's first general strike—a fearsome affair with an extraordinary ending.

That was in May of 1926. The commercial and financial affairs of our old globe had sunk low and British industry was hard hit, especially the vital coal mines and railways. The coal miners, who really were in great distress, struck on May 1 when a government subsidy to mine owners expired. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin went before Commons and declared:

"No minority in a free country has ever yet coerced the whole community. If the time should come when the community must protect itself, with the full strength of the government behind it, the community will astonish the forces of anarchy throughout the world."

Well, while negotiations with the unions were proceeding, some printers at the London Daily Mail refused to set an editorial entitled: "For King and Country." That precipitated a general strike—railroads and all. Of this unprecedented upheaval, the Encyclopaedia Britannica expressed the view:

"That movement, marking a return by the labor party to 'direction action,' was, in effect, a challenge to the authority of parliament as represented, in the executive sphere, by a government responsible to it and having its confidence. It was, on a strict view of the law, very close to the statutory definition of treason. * * *"

"You placed me in power 18 months ago by the largest majority accorded any party for many years," he said. "Can you not trust me to ensure a square deal, to secure even justice between man and man?"

There was an amazing response. Thousands of people, both men and women, from all classes of society, jumped in to keep the essential services going. Noble lords ran subway trains, or turned their hands to any other jobs that had to be done, while their ladies contributed according to their talents. So did the wise-cracking cockney and his wife.

London's playground—big Hyde Park—was turned into a mighty milk distributing center, to keep the babies of the world's biggest city from dying, and this was run by volunteers. With the railways idle, hundreds of motor trucks took over the burden of moving supplies.

Grim armor-clad cars, manned by steel-helmeted soldiers, patrolled London streets. But there were few if any disorders. The quietness of this first general strike was almost uncanny. It was reported at the time that old King George V had called in his ministers and warned them after his sometimes rather gruff and direct fashion:

"I will not have my people manhandled."

I don't know whether he said that or not, but it could have happened, for it represented the spirit of that dangerous time.

After nine days of near-paralysis, the strike was called off. The government position had been maintained. The unions, which had saved up a large sum of money for such an emergency, went broke in paying relief to strikers. Baldwin refused to take action against them.

"Our business," he said, "is not to triumph over those who have failed in a mistaken attempt. It is rather to rally them, together with the population as a whole in an attempt to restore the nation."

YOUNG WOMAN'S MEMORY LAPSES

Recovering After Mind Goes Blank While On Visit To Monroe

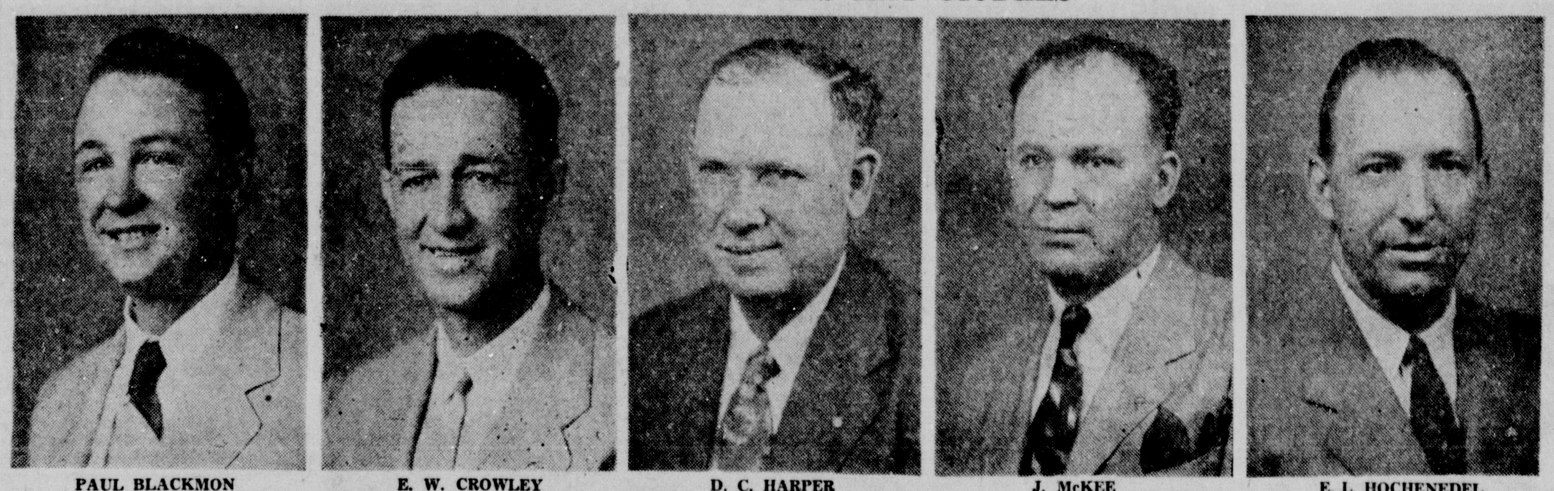

Mrs. Stella Hilbert, a twice-married 18-year-old resident of the Arkansas road, West Monroe, was recovering last night from what was believed to have been a mental lapse caused by a head injury suffered about a year ago.

The young woman was taken to police headquarters at 8 p. m. Friday by John Weatherford of Alexandria, route 1, a former schoolmate, who told officers she had failed to recognize him when he encountered her in the Union bus station. After questioning her and finding she could not tell her name or recall anything of her past, Weatherford said he had concluded she was a victim of amnesia. Police sent her to the parish jail for observation.

Lee Powell of Rayville, a brother to the girl, was summoned Friday night, and her mind still appeared to be blank when he talked to her. Saturday afternoon, however, she seemed to be recovering her memory and, at the suggestion of Dr. James T. French, parish coroner, who had examined her, she was released to her husband. The latter said she had fallen while roller skating on the pavement near their home last year and had received a skull fracture, for which she was under treatment for several weeks at Charity Hospital.

After she had begun to recall past events, Mrs. Hilbert told Dr. French she remembered having come to Monroe Friday to apply for a position as a waitress at the Primo cafe, but she was not sure she had gone there. Also she said she had intended going to a show. She could not explain her visit to the bus station.

NUTRI-TIPS

Will the hands of friendship which we stretch across the sea in the name of peace be empty?

Every person can give a mite in the voluntary program of saving lives by sharing his bread.

America must not go empty-handed to the peace table. America knows the price of reconstruction. She knows it takes more than money and effort. It takes food, machinery, clothing and houses to rebuild what has been lost during a gigantic disaster—but most of all it takes time!

The next three to six months are critical times for all the war-torn countries. They need help; they need help now that they might survive; that they might rebuild their homes, their schools, and, most of all, the very life back into their children. They look to us. Are we extending an empty hand!

In an atomic era we need to learn more about neighborliness—friendship. Unless we have this, we cannot hope to survive. If we fail, we shall see a world of disorders which will paralyze every effort at recovery and peace, and millions of our fellow human beings will die.

"Give us this day our daily bread, and . . ."

Eighty per cent extraction flour contains somewhat more of the B vitamins, especially thiamine, than a similar lot of un-enriched 72 per cent extraction flour.

Europe and Russia extract 85 to 90 per cent of the wheat; South Africa, 96 per cent.

The new flour has no visible bran particles. It is practically as fine and smooth as ordinary white flour.

Cornmeal and oatmeal may be used to replace part of the wheat flour in making bread, biscuits, muffins, pancakes and cookies.

Serve creamed meat, chicken, or fish on mashed potatoes instead of on toast.

Make stuffings for meat and poultry, using potatoes rather than bread.

Top meat pies and other baking dishes with fluffy mashed potatoes instead of pastry crust or biscuits.

The 80 per cent extraction flour may be used in all standard recipes unless the manufacturer gives directions in the package for his particular product. The dough may seem somewhat soft; if so, a bit more flour may be used, but be careful not to use too much.

Eat two slices less bread each day

Buy 20 per cent less fat.

Have a garden and grow your own vegetables.

Do not throw away any bread which has become stale. Should you desire recipes for the use of left-over bread, a phone call to Red Cross, 6780, or Mrs. D. L. Nicol, Red Cross nutrition chairman, 6173-R, is all that is necessary. Your Red Cross is ready to serve you.

DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER COLLISION

John Gills, 35, Negro, of 223 Atkins Street, was arrested by state policemen on a reckless driving charge Friday night following a head-on collision between a Purity Ice Cream Company truck, which he was driving, and an automobile on old Highway 165, a mile and a half south of Sterlington. The auto, operated by Leonard Warren, Jr., colored, of near Sterlington, was damaged $300 and the truck $175, the officers reported. Occupants were not injured. Gills was held over night in the parish jail.

Mackenzie's Column

By DeWitt Mackenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Speaking of Strikes: As a correspondent attached to the London bureau of the Associated Press I had a ring-side seat at the world's first general strike—a fearsome affair with an extraordinary ending.

That was in May of 1926. The commercial and financial affairs of our old globe had sunk low and British industry was hard hit, especially the vital coal mines and railways. The coal miners, who really were in great distress, struck on May 1 when a government subsidy to mine owners expired. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin went before Commons and declared:

"No minority in a free country has ever yet coerced the whole community. If the time should come when the community must protect itself, with the full strength of the government behind it, the community will astonish the forces of anarchy throughout the world."

Well, while negotiations with the unions were proceeding, some printers at the London Daily Mail refused to set an editorial entitled: "For King and Country." That precipitated a general strike—railroads and all. Of this unprecedented upheaval, the Encyclopaedia Britannica expressed the view:

"That movement, marking a return by the labor party to 'direction action,' was, in effect, a challenge to the authority of parliament as represented, in the executive sphere, by a government responsible to it and having its confidence. It was, on a strict view of the law, very close to the statutory definition of treason. * * *"

"You placed me in power 18 months ago by the largest majority accorded any party for many years," he said. "Can you not trust me to ensure a square deal, to secure even justice between man and man?"

There was an amazing response. Thousands of people, both men and women, from all classes of society, jumped in to keep the essential services going. Noble lords ran subway trains, or turned their hands to any other jobs that had to be done, while their ladies contributed according to their talents. So did the wise-cracking cockney and his wife.

London's playground—big Hyde Park—was turned into a mighty milk distributing center, to keep the babies of the world's biggest city from dying, and this was run by volunteers. With the railways idle, hundreds of motor trucks took over the burden of moving supplies.

Grim armor-clad cars, manned by steel-helmeted soldiers, patrolled London streets. But there were few if any disorders. The quietness of this first general strike was almost uncanny. It was reported at the time that old King George V had called in his ministers and warned them after his sometimes rather gruff and direct fashion:

"I will not have my people manhandled."

I don't know whether he said that or not, but it could have happened, for it represented the spirit of that dangerous time.

After nine days of near-paralysis, the strike was called off. The government position had been maintained. The unions, which had saved up a large sum of money for such an emergency, went broke in paying relief to strikers. Baldwin refused to take action against them.

"Our business," he said, "is not to triumph over those who have failed in a mistaken attempt. It is rather to rally them, together with the population as a whole in an attempt to restore the nation."

Milwaukee Railroad scheduled a train departure for 4:43 p. m. (E. S. T.) yesterday—the first since the end of the strike.

At Philadelphia, 238 engineers and trainmen who had been on strike returned to work by 4 p. m. (E. D. T.) before the official announcement of the strike.

Railroad officials pointed out that because of the strike, there were few pending reservations and that the normal passenger load would not be reached for some time.

Despite the strike settlement, many cities were faced with severe shortages of meat and fresh fruit and vegetables because of the 48-hour tieup. Livestock receipts fell sharply at the nation's principal centers the two days of the strike. Farmers held back offerings because of the lack of rail facilities.

Movement of fruit and vegetables was impeded or halted in those growing areas dependent on rail service.

However, emergency trucking operations and food stocks on hand forestalled the danger of any immediate suffering in the nation's larger cities because of the two-day rail tieup.

A survey showed that although the three-day rail tieup had reduced meat and perishables almost to the vanishing point in many cities, sufficient canned goods and staples were on hand to fill normal needs from five days to four weeks.

The threatened shortage of fresh fruit and vegetables in Chicago— a city which normally receives 75 per cent of its shipments by rail—was averted when trucks, vans and trailers were pressed into the breach. These highway carriers, which suspended normal operations during the emergency, hauled produce to the city from stranded freight trains.

The office of defense transportation has mobilized all non-rail forms of transportation to help haul essential freight during the rail tieup.

President Truman, in a radio appeal Friday night, urged the strikers to get back on the job and warned he was ready to use the army to get trains moving, but his appeal brought only scattered response.

Union leaders who would comment were critical of his speech and predicted the strikers "will not budge" unless they received instructions from their top union officials.

In the entire Pittsburgh area, for example, only five workers responded —three engineers and two conductors. Two trainmen returned on the Erie Railroad. No responses were reported on any of the five other railroads operating in New Jersey. The Atlantic coast lines had nine strikers volunteer.

Although most lines reported only a "trickle" of returning workers, the Reading railroad said 167 striking engineers and trainmen were back on the job and a spokesman said "we are slowly resuming operations."

The Southern Pacific said two trainloads of perishables were scheduled to leave Los Angeles and Colton, Calif., for the east manned by employes who returned to work in response to the president's appeal.

The Southern Railway at Washington announced it was running 10 regularly scheduled trains with crews including returned strikers and supervisory personnel.

The Association of American Railroads had no available figures on the back-to-work movement. It reported that as of last midnight, 156 suburban trains, 173 "through" trains, 112 freight trains and 277 yard crews were in operation. The normal daily passenger volume is 17,500 and the normal freight volume, 24,000 divisions daily.

Justice Kennon, when reached by long distance telephone, agreed to hasten to Monroe to be available if needed.

Justice Kennon has the reputation of being one of the most forceful speakers in the state. His war career includes service as chief of staff of a division and participation in the Battle of the Bulge in the European theater of operations.

He entered the army after his election to the Court of Appeal and rose to the rank of colonel. He took his oath of office as a judge upon his return to civilian life.

Shortly thereafter, he was drafted to the supreme court to fill the vacancy created by the death of Justice Archie T. Higgins.

The program Sunday will be as follows:

Musical selections, Neville High School band; National Anthem, Neville High School band; invocation, Rev. R. T. Watson, pastor of the First Christian church; introduction of distinguished guests; introduction of Gold Star mothers; solo by Irving Zeidman, accompanied by Miss Louise Hawkins; introduction of speaker, Mr. Trousdale; address of occasion; benediction, Rabbi F. K. Hirsch of Temple B'nai Israel; taps, Ralph Irving.

Prior to the services, which will be held at Neville High School in case of bad weather, the colors of the army, navy, marine corps and all veterans organizations composing the veterans council will be advanced to the speaker's platform.

TRUMAN PLEDGES U. N. ECONOMIC AID

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—President Truman today pledged the full support of the United States to the United Nations economic and social council in its struggle to "make peace a reality" and "advance fundamental rights of man through the world."

The President's declaration was made in a message of welcome read to the council by U. S. Delegate John G. Winant as the economic and social agency opened its first New York meeting to tackle the long-range problem of removing the causes of war.

Mr. Truman pointed out that the council had the heavy task of mobilizing "the constructive forces of mankind for the victories of peace" just as the security council had the responsibility for removing new threats to peace.

"Your task," his message said, "is to achieve freedom from want, to encourage production, help to open up transport and clear communications, and to assure higher standards of living.

"It is for you to promote a fuller recognition of the dignity and worth of the human person, and to advance fundamental rights of man through the world.

"To this great task the United States pledges its full support."

AGREEMENT

about by the "obstinate arrogance" of those two men. The long rail dispute, he said, had become a strike against the government, a kind of strike that "can never be tolerated."

To deal with such strikes he asked for emergency legislation to last only six months beyond the time he or Congress officially proclaims the war ended. He said it should be applicable only to those few industries in which the chief executive has proclaimed the existence of an emergency affecting the nation's entire economy.

He said it should apply only in situations where the government has seized an industry.

It should provide for injunctions and contempt proceedings against union leaders, he said, deprive workers of seniority rights if they persist in striking against the government, and impose criminal penalties on employers and union leaders who violate the proposed law.

Finally, he said, it should provide for the drafting of those on strike against the government.

"These measures may appear to you to be drastic," Mr. Truman declared. "They are. I repeat that I recommend them only as temporary emergency expedients and only in cases where workers are striking against the government."

But beyond these he suggested adoption of a "comprehensive labor policy which will tend to reduce the number of work stoppages and "other acts which injure labor, capital, and the whole population."

The right of workers to strike against private employers must be preserved, Mr. Truman asserted. But he asked Congress to set up a special Senate-House committee to study permanent, long-range legislation designed to reduce the number of occasions for strikes in private enterprise.

The House, under procedure that choked off debate at the end of 40 minutes and required a two-thirds majority for approval, swiftly okayed the measure the president wanted.

The Senate, normally inclined to pass less stringent labor legislation than the House, argued about the Truman recommendations and got committee approval of them, but took no immediate action. Some leaders said it might be a week before the Senate voted.

Mr. Truman, however, had won a personal victory in the calling off of the strike. It took tremendous pressure to achieve it.

Last night he carried the case to the country in a radio address. Today he put it up to Congress. Each time he held out a threat of the use of troops if the strike did not cease.

For 48 hours the walkout had all but stopped the pulse of American industry and the movement of foods. It threatened, Mr. Truman told Congress, to "paralyze all our industrial, agricultural, commercial, and social life." He said last night, and he repeated today, that hundreds of thousands of people in Europe and Asia "will die who could be saved if the railroads were not now tied up."

But he cautioned against action stemming from vengeance. He recited his own labor record as senator and president and said he would continue to urge retention of the benefits labor has won in the last 13 years.

"However, what we are dealing with here is not labor as a whole," he said. * * * "We are dealing with a handful of men who are striking against their own government and against every one of their fellow citizens."

One of those to whom he referred —Whitney—had not seen the Truman address to Congress. But he termed the president's statement to the people last night "very unfair," even though it had "but little effect upon the men we represent."

And in explanation of the strike settlement, he declared in a statement dictated to reporters:

"We took this course in the interest of the public, realizing that a strike could not be continued indefinitely because of the need of foods and the many other provisions necessary in our economy."

The agreement was reached in the downtown hotel headquarters of Presidential Negotiator John R. Steelman. He tried to notify Mr. Truman of the end of the strike, but finally had to relay word through Biffle.

As he left the hotel, Steelman remarked:

"I feel I'd like to sleep a few hours."

The two striking unions signed on the same terms to which 18 non-striking unions and the carriers had agreed hours earlier.

At one point during the day, the president abruptly ordered an end to direct White House dealings with the strikers. But that was before Whitney and Johnston produced a conditional offer to send their members back to work.

The union leaders outlined it first to Secretary of State Byrnes. Then they had it delivered, in a letter, to President Truman's desk.

The two unions had rejected the federal fact-finders' recommendations at one point in the long negotiations preceding the strike. They also had rejected Mr. Truman's compromise proposal of 18 1/2 cents and temporary abandonment of demands for different work rules.

The 18 non-striking unions had agreed to the proposals of both the fact-finding board and the president. Today they agreed with the carriers to sign on the line for the latter.

John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, announced the agreement. He said it was his understanding this meant that "insofar as the 18 unions are involved the strike is over."

Then he conferred for some time with representatives of the rail lines on whether they would pay the 18 1/2 cent raise to the engineers and trainmen upon their return to work.

That was only one of a series of conferences on the strike situation in advance of Mr. Truman's appearance before Congress. One of them brought Senate Majority Leader Barkley to the White House to see the president. He left word with reporters there would be "something definite in strike legislation."

The Senate itself during the day voted by a big majority for a 60-day cooling off period to prevent "quickie" strikes. It also voted in the plan, long advocated by President Truman, for fact-finding boards to cope with labor disputes.

The Johnston-Whitney back to work offer said they regretted there was an impression "our men are not willing to work for the government."

They said the engineers and trainmen were "patriotic men and they wish to cooperate" with the president in every way possible in maintaining rail service.

But they said the workers would rather go back to work with a 16-cent raise and the seven rules changes endorsed by the federal fact-finding board than to return at 18 1-2 cents without the rules.

"In returning to work on this basis," Mr. Truman was advised, "we know that we can rely also on your fairness and good will to keep the door open to further consideration of those differences regarding working rules changes which apply to the membership of our two unions and in which the non-operating rail unions have no interest.

"This would leave the matter of our contract with the carriers to be worked out in further negotiations."

TALKING UP A SHIPPING STRIKE

When these three men got their heads together at the National Maritime Union convention in San Francisco, the shadow of a nationwide strike loomed. Joseph Curran, center, N. M. U. president, heads a 35-man committee to plot strategy for a "unity" walkout of approximately 216,000 maritime workers in seven waterfront and seamen's unions. Harry Bridges, left, International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union president, urged a strike be called by June 1. The Marine Cooks and Stewards Union, of which Eugene Burke, right, is president, is one of three which have already voted to strike.

less than 50 tickets. Among the passengers were David C. and Harry Silverstein, DeSiard street merchants, who were on a trip to St. Louis. Aboard were none of 19 persons who arrived on the train Wednesday, all but one having found other means of continuing toward their destinations.

Mrs. Maud Richardson of Beaumont, the Christian Science practicioner, whose faith and declaration of Truth had failed to keep the Special moving Wednesday, had kept her Pullman reservation but she was not aboard. She was revealed as having been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hopkins, 1905 North Third street, during her unintentional stopover in Monroe. She had known Mrs. Hopkins for a number of years, dating from the time the latter lived in Port Arthur, Tex.

"I had such a pleasant visit here that I decided this time the railroad unions could wait until I get ready to travel, instead of me waiting on them," said Mrs. Richardson. She added she had delayed resuming her trip in order to attend this morning's services at the Christian Science Church, where Mrs. Hopkins is organist. Mrs. Richardson will continue on her way to the Mother Church at Boston on this evening's Sunshine Special.

Employes of the freight department last night had not investigated the condition of eight refrigerator car loads of ice that had been held up here since Wednesday, awaiting transit to Alexandria. There were no other perishables in the local yard, unless two cars of range cattle and a car bearing five Brahma bulls and 50 calves could be so classed. The Brahamas were en route from Lake Charles to Fort Smith, Ark., for delivery to Todd Bros., who supply riding and roping cattle to rodeo companies. "Those bulls are really wild," averred the freight men who had to feed and water them for three days. A message from Todd Bros. yesterday said a truck had been sent to carry the animals on to Fort Smith.

The two members of the firm of Mitchell Bros. of Adair, Okla., to which the range cattle had been sent from Alexandria, came Thursday to care for their stranded stock. While here they got acquainted with Clayton Calhoun and on Saturday they attended his stock auction sale in West Monroe. Also they visited the Delhi auction and they said they will be regular buyers at the two places in the future.

Much of the freight that had been held up in Monroe was moved by the Missouri Pacific with its trucks to points within the state. Members of the department would not hazard a guess as to when the embargo on acceptance of new freight will be lifted.

ORLEANS ENGINEER DRIVES TO TRAIN

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—The first New Orleans engineer to return to work following settlement of the railroad strike had to drive ten miles and cross the Mississippi river to catch his train.

Fifty-five minutes later the locomotive was handed over to Engineer W. G. Rush, who had been off duty since the strike became effective Thursday.

Rush received word of the end of the strike at his home and was driven to Avondale, on the west bank of the Mississippi, by E. S. Pennebaker, terminal manager. The engineer was waiting at the tiny Avondale station when No. 23 pulled in "on time as before."

Southern Pacific Lines where a representative said there probably would be some congestion at first, but that conditions should be normal and regular routine restored in about 12 hours.

All lines running out of Shreveport expected to meet schedules tonight and be back on normal operations Sunday.

Kansas City Southern ran its first Shreveport-Kansas City trip, leaving Shreveport at 6 p. m. Central Standard time. The regular crew was aboard but the train carried only a handful of passengers.

Trainmen were reporting back to work in increasing numbers at Baton Rouge and officials said that the back log of freight would start moving "as soon as possible," probably tonight.

Considerable switching was necessary in Hattiesburg and Laurel, Miss., before normal operations could be resumed. Striking engineers and trainmen on the New Orleans Northeastern division of the Southern reported for work in the two Mississippi cities as soon as they received official word that the strike was ended. The Mississippi Central westbound freight train left Hattiesburg tonight after the regular crews returned to work.

Victor O'Connor, head of the Illinois Central switchmen in Vicksburg, Miss., reported all switchmen back at work on regular shifts tonight.

HOUSE

needs for further labor-management legislation and to make recommendations to Congress on these needs. No opposition voices were audible.

The resolution, sponsored by Rep. Smith, Democrat, Virginia, calls for a 14-member committee—seven from the Senate and seven from the House.

The legislation was adopted by the House under virtually unprecedented procedure whereby regular rules were suspended for the day.

Prior to the action the legislators had heard Mr. Truman make an impassioned plea for speedy acceptance of his plan.

The president had asserted that action was imperative to prevent thousands of workers from being harmed by the actions of their leaders.

The measure, at Mr. Truman's own suggestion, is effective only for six months after the "cessation of hostilities" as proclaimed by the president.

The bill does this:

1. Specifies that the chief executive may proclaim a national emergency at any time that an interruption occurs in operation of any interests "vitally necessary to the maintenance of the national economy."

2. Gives the president power to draft into the armed forces any individuals necessary to run such strikebound plants during the existence of such an emergency.

3. Takes away the seniority and reemployment rights of any workers refusing to work for the government under such a proclamation.

Milwaukee Railroad scheduled a train departure for 4:43 p. m. (E. S. T.) yesterday—the first since the end of the strike.

At Philadelphia, 238 engineers and trainmen who had been on strike returned to work by 4 p. m. (E. D. T.) before the official announcement of the strike.

Railroad officials pointed out that because of the strike, there were few pending reservations and that the normal passenger load would not be reached for some time.

Despite the strike settlement, many cities were faced with severe shortages of meat and fresh fruit and vegetables because of the 48-hour tieup. Livestock receipts fell sharply at the nation's principal centers the two days of the strike. Farmers held back offerings because of the lack of rail facilities.

Movement of fruit and vegetables was impeded or halted in those growing areas dependent on rail service.

However, emergency trucking operations and food stocks on hand forestalled the danger of any immediate suffering in the nation's larger cities because of the two-day rail tieup.

A survey showed that although the three-day rail tieup had reduced meat and perishables almost to the vanishing point in many cities, sufficient canned goods and staples were on hand to fill normal needs from five days to four weeks.

The threatened shortage of fresh fruit and vegetables in Chicago— a city which normally receives 75 per cent of its shipments by rail—was averted when trucks, vans and trailers were pressed into the breach. These highway carriers, which suspended normal operations during the emergency, hauled produce to the city from stranded freight trains.

The office of defense transportation has mobilized all non-rail forms of transportation to help haul essential freight during the rail tieup.

President Truman, in a radio appeal Friday night, urged the strikers to get back on the job and warned he was ready to use the army to get trains moving, but his appeal brought only scattered response.

Union leaders who would comment were critical of his speech and predicted the strikers "will not budge" unless they received instructions from their top union officials.

In the entire Pittsburgh area, for example, only five workers responded —three engineers and two conductors. Two trainmen returned on the Erie Railroad. No responses were reported on any of the five other railroads operating in New Jersey. The Atlantic coast lines had nine strikers volunteer.

Although most lines reported only a "trickle" of returning workers, the Reading railroad said 167 striking engineers and trainmen were back on the job and a spokesman said "we are slowly resuming operations."

The Southern Pacific said two trainloads of perishables were scheduled to leave Los Angeles and Colton, Calif., for the east manned by employes who returned to work in response to the president's appeal.

The Southern Railway at Washington announced it was running 10 regularly scheduled trains with crews including returned strikers and supervisory personnel.

The Association of American Railroads had no available figures on the back-to-work movement. It reported that as of last midnight, 156 suburban trains, 173 "through" trains, 112 freight trains and 277 yard crews were in operation. The normal daily passenger volume is 17,500 and the normal freight volume, 24,000 divisions daily.

WAR DEAD

Justice Kennon, when reached by long distance telephone, agreed to hasten to Monroe to be available if needed.

Justice Kennon has the reputation of being one of the most forceful speakers in the state. His war career includes service as chief of staff of a division and participation in the Battle of the Bulge in the European theater of operations.

He entered the army after his election to the Court of Appeal and rose to the rank of colonel. He took his oath of office as a judge upon his return to civilian life.

Shortly thereafter, he was drafted to the supreme court to fill the vacancy created by the death of Justice Archie T. Higgins.

The program Sunday will be as follows:

Musical selections, Neville High School band; National Anthem, Neville High School band; invocation, Rev. R. T. Watson, pastor of the First Christian church; introduction of distinguished guests; introduction of Gold Star mothers; solo by Irving Zeidman, accompanied by Miss Louise Hawkins; introduction of speaker, Mr. Trousdale; address of occasion; benediction, Rabbi F. K. Hirsch of Temple B'nai Israel; taps, Ralph Irving.

Prior to the services, which will be held at Neville High School in case of bad weather, the colors of the army, navy, marine corps and all veterans organizations composing the veterans council will be advanced to the speaker's platform.

TRUMAN PLEDGES U. N. ECONOMIC AID

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—President Truman today pledged the full support of the United States to the United Nations economic and social council in its struggle to "make peace a reality" and "advance fundamental rights of man through the world."

The President's declaration was made in a message of welcome read to the council by U. S. Delegate John G. Winant as the economic and social agency opened its first New York meeting to tackle the long-range problem of removing the causes of war.

Mr. Truman pointed out that the council had the heavy task of mobilizing "the constructive forces of mankind for the victories of peace" just as the security council had the responsibility for removing new threats to peace.

"Your task," his message said, "is to achieve freedom from want, to encourage production, help to open up transport and clear communications, and to assure higher standards of living.

"It is for you to promote a fuller recognition of the dignity and worth of the human person, and to advance fundamental rights of man through the world.

"To this great task the United States pledges its full support."

about by the "obstinate arrogance" of those two men. The long rail dispute, he said, had become a strike against the government, a kind of strike that "can never be tolerated."

To deal with such strikes he asked for emergency legislation to last only six months beyond the time he or Congress officially proclaims the war ended. He said it should be applicable only to those few industries in which the chief executive has proclaimed the existence of an emergency affecting the nation's entire economy.

He said it should apply only in situations where the government has seized an industry.

It should provide for injunctions and contempt proceedings against union leaders, he said, deprive workers of seniority rights if they persist in striking against the government, and impose criminal penalties on employers and union leaders who violate the proposed law.

Finally, he said, it should provide for the drafting of those on strike against the government.

"These measures may appear to you to be drastic," Mr. Truman declared. "They are. I repeat that I recommend them only as temporary emergency expedients and only in cases where workers are striking against the government."

But beyond these he suggested adoption of a "comprehensive labor policy which will tend to reduce the number of work stoppages and "other acts which injure labor, capital, and the whole population."

The right of workers to strike against private employers must be preserved, Mr. Truman asserted. But he asked Congress to set up a special Senate-House committee to study permanent, long-range legislation designed to reduce the number of occasions for strikes in private enterprise.

The House, under procedure that choked off debate at the end of 40 minutes and required a two-thirds majority for approval, swiftly okayed the measure the president wanted.

The Senate, normally inclined to pass less stringent labor legislation than the House, argued about the Truman recommendations and got committee approval of them, but took no immediate action. Some leaders said it might be a week before the Senate voted.

Mr. Truman, however, had won a personal victory in the calling off of the strike. It took tremendous pressure to achieve it.

Last night he carried the case to the country in a radio address. Today he put it up to Congress. Each time he held out a threat of the use of troops if the strike did not cease.

For 48 hours the walkout had all but stopped the pulse of American industry and the movement of foods. It threatened, Mr. Truman told Congress, to "paralyze all our industrial, agricultural, commercial, and social life." He said last night, and he repeated today, that hundreds of thousands of people in Europe and Asia "will die who could be saved if the railroads were not now tied up."

But he cautioned against action stemming from vengeance. He recited his own labor record as senator and president and said he would continue to urge retention of the benefits labor has won in the last 13 years.

"However, what we are dealing with here is not labor as a whole," he said. • • • "We are dealing with a handful of men who are striking against their own government and against every one of their fellow citizens."

One of those to whom he referred —Whitney—had not seen the Truman address to Congress. But he termed the president's statement to the people last night "very unfair," even though it had "but little effect upon the men we represent."

And in explanation of the strike settlement, he declared in a statement dictated to reporters:

"We took this course in the interest of the public, realizing that a strike could not be continued indefinitely because of the need of foods and the many other provisions necessary in our economy."

The agreement was reached in the downtown hotel headquarters of Presidential Negotiator John R. Steelman. He tried to notify Mr. Truman of the end of the strike, but finally had to relay word through Biffle.

As he left the hotel, Steelman remarked:

"I feel I'd like to sleep a few hours."

The two striking unions signed on the same terms to which 18 non-striking unions and the carriers had agreed hours earlier.

At one point during the day, the president abruptly ordered an end to direct White House dealings with the strikers. But that was before Whitney and Johnston produced a conditional offer to send their members back to work.

The union leaders outlined it first to Secretary of State Byrnes. Then they had it delivered, in a letter, to President Truman's desk.

The two unions had rejected the federal fact-finders' recommendations at one point in the long negotiations preceding the strike. They also had rejected Mr. Truman's compromise proposal of 18 1/2 cents and temporary abandonment of demands for different work rules.

The 18 non-striking unions had agreed to the proposals of both the fact-finding board and the president. Today they agreed with the carriers to sign on the line for the latter.

John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, announced the agreement. He said it was his understanding this meant that "insofar as the 18 unions are involved the strike is over."

Then he conferred for some time with representatives of the rail lines on whether they would pay the 18 1/2 cent raise to the engineers and trainmen upon their return to work.

That was only one of a series of conferences on the strike situation in advance of Mr. Truman's appearance before Congress. One of them brought Senate Majority Leader Barkley to the White House to see the president. He left word with reporters there would be "something definite in strike legislation."

The Senate itself during the day voted by a big majority for a 60-day cooling off period to prevent "quickie" strikes. It also voted in the plan, long advocated by President Truman, for fact-finding boards to cope with labor disputes.

The Johnston-Whitney back to work offer said they regretted there was an impression "our men are not willing to work for the government."

They said the engineers and trainmen were "patriotic men and they wish to cooperate" with the president in every way possible in maintaining rail service.

But they said the workers would rather go back to work with a 16-cent raise and the seven rules changes endorsed by the federal fact-finding board than to return at 18 1-2 cents without the rules.

"In returning to work on this basis," Mr. Truman was advised, "we know that we can rely also on your fairness and good will to keep the door open to further consideration of those differences regarding working rules changes which apply to the membership of our two unions and in which the non-operating rail unions have no interest.

"This would leave the matter of our contract with the carriers to be worked out in further negotiations."

TALKING UP A SHIPPING STRIKE

When these three men got their heads together at the National Maritime Union convention in San Francisco, the shadow of a nationwide strike loomed. Joseph Curran, center, N. M. U. president, heads a 35-man committee to plot strategy for a "unity" walkout of approximately 216,000 maritime workers in seven waterfront and seamen's unions. Harry Bridges, left, International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union president, urged a strike be called by June 1. The Marine Cooks and Stewards Union, of which Eugene Burke, right, is president, is one of three which have already voted to strike.

less than 50 tickets. Among the passengers were David C. and Harry Silverstein, DeSiard street merchants, who were on a trip to St. Louis. Aboard were none of 19 persons who arrived on the train Wednesday, all but one having found other means of continuing toward their destinations.

Mrs. Maud Richardson of Beaumont, the Christian Science practicioner, whose faith and declaration of Truth had failed to keep the Special moving Wednesday, had kept her Pullman reservation but she was not aboard. She was revealed as having been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hopkins, 1905 North Third street, during her unintentional stopover in Monroe. She had known Mrs. Hopkins for a number of years, dating from the time the latter lived in Port Arthur, Tex.

"I had such a pleasant visit here that I decided this time the railroad unions could wait until I get ready to travel, instead of me waiting on them," said Mrs. Richardson. She added she had delayed resuming her trip in order to attend this morning's services at the Christian Science Church, where Mrs. Hopkins is organist. Mrs. Richardson will continue on her way to the Mother Church at Boston on this evening's Sunshine Special.

Employes of the freight department last night had not investigated the condition of eight refrigerator car loads of ice that had been held up here since Wednesday, awaiting transit to Alexandria. There were no other perishables in the local yard, unless two cars of range cattle and a car bearing five Brahma bulls and 50 calves could be so classed. The Brahamas were en route from Lake Charles to Fort Smith, Ark., for delivery to Todd Bros., who supply riding and roping cattle to rodeo companies. "Those bulls are really wild," averred the freight men who had to feed and water them for three days. A message from Todd Bros. yesterday said a truck had been sent to carry the animals on to Fort Smith.

The two members of the firm of Mitchell Bros. of Adair, Okla., to which the range cattle had been sent from Alexandria, came Thursday to care for their stranded stock. While here they got acquainted with Clayton Calhoun and on Saturday they attended his stock auction sale in West Monroe. Also they visited the Delhi auction and they said they will be regular buyers at the two places in the future.

Much of the freight that had been held up in Monroe was moved by the Missouri Pacific with its trucks to points within the state. Members of the department would not hazard a guess as to when the embargo on acceptance of new freight will be lifted.

ORLEANS ENGINEER DRIVES TO TRAIN

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—The first New Orleans engineer to return to work following settlement of the railroad strike had to drive ten miles and cross the Mississippi river to catch his train.

Fifty-five minutes later the locomotive was handed over to Engineer W. G. Rush, who had been off duty since the strike became effective Thursday.

Rush received word of the end of the strike at his home and was driven to Avondale, on the west bank of the Mississippi, by E. S. Pennebaker, terminal manager. The engineer was waiting at the tiny Avondale station when No. 23 pulled in "on time as before."

Southern Pacific Lines where a representative said there probably would be some congestion at first, but that conditions should be normal and regular routine restored in about 12 hours.

All lines running out of Shreveport expected to meet schedules tonight and be back on normal operations Sunday.

Kansas City Southern ran its first Shreveport-Kansas City trip, leaving Shreveport at 6 p. m. Central Standard time. The regular crew was aboard but the train carried only a handful of passengers.

Trainmen were reporting back to work in increasing numbers at Baton Rouge and officials said that the back log of freight would start moving "as soon as possible," probably tonight.

Considerable switching was necessary in Hattiesburg and Laurel, Miss., before normal operations could be resumed. Striking engineers and trainmen on the New Orleans Northeastern division of the Southern reported for work in the two Mississippi cities as soon as they received official word that the strike was ended. The Mississippi Central westbound freight train left Hattiesburg tonight after the regular crews returned to work.

needs for further labor-management legislation and to make recommendations to Congress on these needs. No opposition voices were audible.

The resolution, sponsored by Rep. Smith, Democrat, Virginia, calls for a 14-member committee—seven from the Senate and seven from the House.

The legislation was adopted by the House under virtually unprecedented procedure whereby regular rules were suspended for the day.

Prior to the action the legislators had heard Mr. Truman make an impassioned plea for speedy acceptance of his plan.

The president had asserted that action was imperative to prevent thousands of workers from being harmed by the actions of their leaders.

The measure, at Mr. Truman's own suggestion, is effective only for six months after the "cessation of hostilities" as proclaimed by the president.

The bill does this:

2. Gives the president power to draft into the armed forces any individuals necessary to run such strikebound plants during the existence of such an emergency.

3. Takes away the seniority and reemployment rights of any workers refusing to work for the government under such a proclamation.

4. Makes both management and labor officials subject to fine and imprisonment if they do anything to prevent resumption of work at government-operated plants during the emergency.

5. Gives the federal courts authority to allow injunctive relief to prohibit interference with the federal operation.

PAY TEACHERS MORE IS ASKED

West Monroe Lions Pass Resolution For Salary Boost

The West Monroe Lions Club has passed a resolution asking that the legislature take steps to bring teachers' salaries in line with those engaged in similar professional lines of employment. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, The Lions Club, Inc., of West Monroe, a civic and service club with a membership of 70 citizens of our community, dedicated to liberty, intelligence and our nation's safety and to the betterment of the community of West Monroe, Ward 5 and/or wards west of the river, being in special meeting duly assembled, the following resolution was made and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the general cost of living has greatly increased in recent years without a commensurate increase in pay of school teachers in public schools, and

Whereas, it is essential to the public welfare that school children be taught and instructed by persons of high moral and educational standards, and as a practical matter, such school teachers with the proper qualifications can only be employed by the payment of salaries comparing favorably with other employment available, be it resolved that this club goes on record as urging the legislators of this district to provide additional revenues for the school teachers' salaries using full economy if possible, but by all means provide some way to increase these salaries to an amount to compare favorably with other employment.

Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be presented to the following parties:

John F. McCormick, senator.
D. Ross Banister, representative.
C. C. Bell, representative.
George Welch, superintendent of Ouachita parish schools.

Whereupon, the said resolution was adopted.

PAY TEACHERS MORE IS ASKED

West Monroe Lions Pass Resolution For Salary Boost

The West Monroe Lions Club has passed a resolution asking that the legislature take steps to bring teachers' salaries in line with those engaged in similar professional lines of employment. The resolution is as follows:

Whereas, The Lions Club, Inc., of West Monroe, a civic and service club with a membership of 70 citizens of our community, dedicated to liberty, intelligence and our nation's safety and to the betterment of the community of West Monroe, Ward 5 and/or wards west of the river, being in special meeting duly assembled, the following resolution was made and unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the general cost of living has greatly increased in recent years without a commensurate increase in pay of school teachers in public schools, and

Whereas, it is essential to the public welfare that school children be taught and instructed by persons of high moral and educational standards, and as a practical matter, such school teachers with the proper qualifications can only be employed by the payment of salaries comparing favorably with other employment available, be it resolved that this club goes on record as urging the legislators of this district to provide additional revenues for the school teachers' salaries using full economy if possible, but by all means provide some way to increase these salaries to an amount to compare favorably with other employment.

Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be presented to the following parties:

John F. McCormick, senator.
D. Ross Banister, representative.
C. C. Bell, representative.
George Welch, superintendent of Ouachita parish schools.

Whereupon, the said resolution was adopted.

STAMP EXHIBIT CONTINUES TODAY

Many View Collections At Hotel Frances; Club Host At Banquet

A banquet last night climaxed the second day of the tri-state exhibit sponsored by the Ouachita Stamp club on the mezzanine floor of Hotel Frances. The show ends this evening.

Henry W .Blanks of Columbia, who was mentioned in news stories last week as the only living survivor of the steamboat Corona disaster in 1889, in which his father, Captain Jack Blanks, and 79 others lost their lives, was the principal speaker at the banquet. He is famed as a collector of letter covers and is a member of the local club.

Officers and members of the board of directors of the club were introduced by Thomas Truitt, recently re-elected president, and he also distributed the exhibit prizes. A stamp auction, conducted by Lewis T. Bivins of West Monroe, closed the banquet program.

The railroad strike had an adverse effect on the stamp show, reducing the number of exhibits and preventing the arrival of the three men who were to have acted as judges—Ed Steijen of Jackson, Miss., and Ruben Modern and Larry Borenstein of New Orleans. Substitute judges were local collectors who are not members of the club.

Exhibitors of collections were listed as follows:

Miss Mary Benoit, S. K. Bernheim, J. W. Cunningham, Dr. Ralph W. Einhorn, Robert Ewing, Maurice Glazer, L. J. Hunnicut, Mrs. C. Roger Johnson, David M. Kaplan, P. N. Lubke, Walter C. Minnicar, Bill O'Kelly, Miss Emma Lee Short, Charles Peavy, III and Thomas Truitt of Monroe; Lewis T. Bivins, Miss Marguerite Kirkpatrick and Mrs. J. M. McKee of West Monroe; H. W. Blanks of Columbia; George Buckner of Terre Haute, Ind., Mrs. Florence Clark of Fairbanks, La.; Wade H. Creekmore of Jackson, Miss.; Dewey A. Somdal of Shreveport, Charles E. Walcitt of Oak Grove and Billy Carl Moore.

The entire collection was insured by the club at a valuation of $10,000.

LEALIS L. HALE ACCORDED HONOR

Lealis L. Hale, when attending the National Electronics Distributors Association's annual convention in Chicago, May 12-18, was honored by being selected as one of the 12 national directors of the association. He will serve the entire southeast area.

The convention, first for a number of years because of the war, was attended by 5,000 delegates of manufacturers, representatives and distributors.

The next meeting will be in Chicago in May, 1947. Bill Schoning, of Chicago was elected president.

On the trip by auto in which Mrs. Hale accompanied her husband, stops were made with relatives and also in Louisville, Ky., where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Dawkins Jr., formerly of Monroe.

PEDIATRIC STUDY IN CHILD HEALTH

Nation-Wide Work Planned By Medical, Dental Groups

Work is underway in Louisiana for the American Academy of Pediatrics Study of Child Health Services. A nation-wide study to determine what health services are available to children, how good these services are and how they can be improv and extended, the program will be conducted by the pediatricians of Louisiana with the official approval of the Louisiana State Medical Society and Louisiana State Dental Society.

Dr. Clarence H. Webb, of Shreveport, was appointed chairman of the academy for the state. Dr. O. C. Thomas, of Shreveport, was appointed by him to be executive secretary for the study. Dr. Webb presented plans for the nation-wide program to the house of delegates of the state medical society, which approved the study May 6.

"Post war planning for child care has received much attention during recent years from many organized groups and individuals throughout the country," Dr. Webb said. "Their interest has culminated in legislation now before Congress.

"Realizing that the responsibility for such planning rests principally in the hands of physicians and dentists, the American Academy of Pediatrics has launched the Study of Child Health Services on a nation-wide basis in order to gather necessary facts from which well-founded plans can be evolved and to determine the extent and quality of service now available.

"The doctors, unquestionably the ones who know what constitutes good care and who provide that care, have accepted the challenge to develop constructive plans for medical services to children," Dr. Webb said. This is one of the first attempts by any medical group to secure information on a nation-wide scale concerning availability and quality of services in its field, it was said by him.

"It is not conducted or planned by any government agency, but by private physicians and dentists in an honest attempt to discover facts on the basis of which they can plan for the future," he said.

"The academy, in Louisiana as well as all states of the nation, has as its objective making easily available to mothers and children all essential preventive, diagnostic and curative medical services for children.

Informational data on pediatrics in Louisiana will be collected from all hospitals, regardless of size, all dentists and all physicians. The study will cover the extent and quality of services such as child-health conference, school-health services, medical care programs, immunization and child guidance services and public health nursing.

A primary purpose of the study, which is the first step toward providing the best possible medical care for children, is to stimulate local groups to evaluate services within their own communities as a basis for local planning.

A responsibility of the individual pediatrician, the doctors themselves will assemble information on the four phases of pediatric care. These phases include hospitals, community health services, both official and voluntary, the distribution, qualifications and activities of professional personnel and the quantity and quality of pediatric education. The information on pediatric education will come from the country's 68 medical schools.

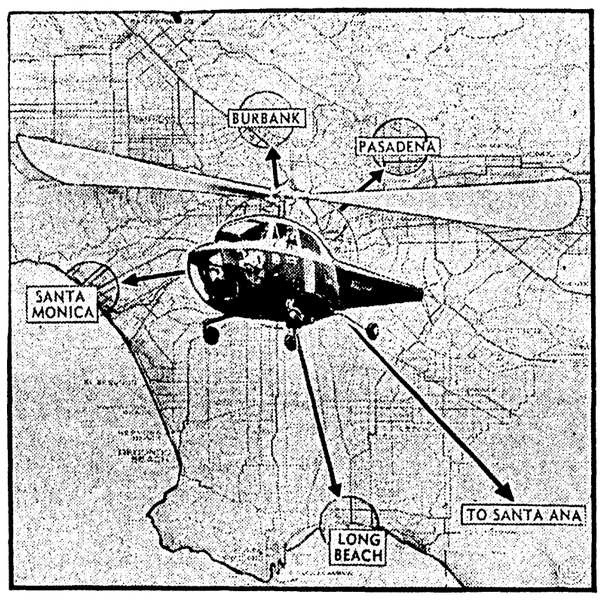

"Much of the hospital information will be obtained in conjunction with the state hospital survey, to which arrangement the state hospital commission has graciously consented," Dr Thomas said.

Advisory board for the Louisiana study includes Dr. Rhett McMahon, Baton Rouge, who is president of the State Medical Society; Dr. O. P. Daly, New Orleans, director of the State Department of Institutions; Dr. Paul T. Talbot, New Orleans, secretary to the State Medical Society; Dr. Willard R. Wirth, editor of the New Orleans medical and surgical journal; Dr. George Wright, Monroe, councilor of the Fifth Medical District; Dr. W. F. Couvillion, Marksville, councilor of the Eighth Medical District; Mrs. Sue Fabregas, Baton Rouge, president of the Louisiana Nursing Association.

Nicaud, New Orleans, president of the State Dental Society; Very Rev. Monsignor H. Joseph Jacabi, executive director of Associated Catholic Charities of the Archdiochese of New Orleans; Mrs. Arthur Long, state president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the State Medical Society; Mrs. Henri Wolbrette, president of the Shreveport Jewish Women's Council; A. L. Zimmerman, Alexandria, district governor of Kiwanis International.

NEGRO CONVICTED OF SLAYING WIFE

Eddie Ambers, Negro, charged with the murder of his wife on the night of March 24 of this year, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury of twelve men Saturday afternoon at the district criminal court. The state contended that Ambers, who lives in Richland parish at Archibald, shot his wife with a pistol in Green's Alley between 8th and 9th streets at approximately midnight on March 24. Ambers and his wife had separated and at the time of the slaying she was visiting with relatives in Monroe.

The morning and afternoon sessions Thursday were occupied by the selection of the jury. Seven men were accepted for duty Thursday and the remaining five jurors were selected at the morning session Friday.

Numerous witnesses were called to the stand during the Friday afternoon session and the state rested its case Friday night at 9:15.

The trial was reopened Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at which time the defense concluded its case and the argument began.

The jury, composed of Joe R. Goyne, Jr., C. W. Dent, Jr., J. W. Moore, H. L. Lasseter, E. N. Camp, Luther Reed, Jr., Phil Smith, Shelby Hill, C. S. Todd, Fred C. Brownlee, A. P. Kitchens, and H. A. Brownlee, Jr., deliberated until 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when they returned with a verdict of guilty.

STAMP EXHIBIT CONTINUES TODAY

A banquet last night climaxed the second day of the tri-state exhibit sponsored by the Ouachita Stamp club on the mezzanine floor of Hotel Frances. The show ends this evening.

Henry W .Blanks of Columbia, who was mentioned in news stories last week as the only living survivor of the steamboat Corona disaster in 1889, in which his father, Captain Jack Blanks, and 79 others lost their lives, was the principal speaker at the banquet. He is famed as a collector of letter covers and is a member of the local club.

Officers and members of the board of directors of the club were introduced by Thomas Truitt, recently re-elected president, and he also distributed the exhibit prizes. A stamp auction, conducted by Lewis T. Bivins of West Monroe, closed the banquet program.

The railroad strike had an adverse effect on the stamp show, reducing the number of exhibits and preventing the arrival of the three men who were to have acted as judges—Ed Steijen of Jackson, Miss., and Ruben Modern and Larry Borenstein of New Orleans. Substitute judges were local collectors who are not members of the club.

Exhibitors of collections were listed as follows:

Miss Mary Benoit, S. K. Bernheim, J. W. Cunningham, Dr. Ralph W. Einhorn, Robert Ewing, Maurice Glazer, L. J. Hunnicut, Mrs. C. Roger Johnson, David M. Kaplan, P. N. Lubke, Walter C. Minniear, Bill O'Kelly, Miss Emma Lee Short, Charles Peavy, III and Thomas Truitt of Monroe; Lewis T. Bivins, Miss Marguerite Kirkpatrick and Mrs. J. M. McKee of West Monroe; H. W. Blanks of Columbia; George Buckner of Terre Haute, Ind., Mrs. Florence Clark of Fairbanks, La., Wade H. Creekmore of Jackson, Miss.; Dewey A. Somdal of Shreveport, Charles E. Walcitt of Oak Grove and Billy Carl Moore.

The entire collection was insured by the club at a valuation of $10,000.

LEALIS L. HALE ACCORDED HONOR

Lealis L. Hale, when attending the National Electronics Distributors Association's annual convention in Chicago, May 12-18, was honored by being selected as one of the 12 national directors of the association. He will serve the entire southeast area.

The convention, first for a number of years because of the war, was attended by 5,000 delegates of manufacturers, representatives and distributors.

The next meeting will be in Chicago in May, 1947. Bill Schoning, of Chicago was elected president.

On the trip by auto in which Mrs. Hale accompanied her husband, stops were made with relatives and also in Louisville, Ky., where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Dawkins Jr., formerly of Monroe.

PEDIATRIC STUDY IN CHILD HEALTH

Nation-Wide Work Planned By Medical, Dental Groups

Work is underway in Louisiana for the American Academy of Pediatrics' Study of Child Health Services. A nation-wide study to determine what health services are available to children, how good these services are and how they can be improv and extended, the program will be conducted by the pediatricians of Louisiana with the official approval of the Louisiana State Medical Society and Louisiana State Dental Society.

Dr. Clarence H. Webb, of Shreveport, was appointed chairman of the academy for the state. Dr. O. C. Thomas, of Shreveport, was appointed by him to be executive secretary for the study. Dr. Webb presented plans for the nation-wide program to the house of delegates of the state medical society, which approved the study May 6.

"Post war planning for child care has received much attention during recent years from many organized groups and individuals throughout the country," Dr. Webb said. "Their interest has culminated in legislation now before Congress.

"Realizing that the responsibility for such planning rests principally in the hands of physicians and dentists, the American Academy of Pediatrics has launched the Study of Child Health Services on a nation-wide basis in order to gather necessary facts from which well-founded plans can be evolved and to determine the extent and quality of service now available.

"The doctors, unquestionably the ones who know what constitutes good care and who provide that care, have accepted the challenge to develop constructive plans for medical services to children," Dr. Webb said. This is one of the first attempts by any medical group to secure information on a nation-wide scale concerning availability and quality of services in its field, it was said by him.

"It is not conducted or planned by any government agency, but by private physicians and dentists in an honest attempt to discover facts on the basis of which they can plan for the future," he said.

"The academy, in Louisiana as well as all states of the nation, has as its objective making easily available to mothers and children all essential preventive, diagnostic and curative medical services for children.

Informational data on pediatrics in Louisiana will be collected from all hospitals, regardless of size, all dentists and all physicians. The study will cover the extent and quality of services such as child-health conference, school-health services, medical care programs, immunization and child guidance services and public health nursing.

A primary purpose of the study, which is the first step toward providing the best possible medical care for children, is to stimulate local groups to evaluate services within their own communities as a basis for local planning.

A responsibility of the individual pediatrician, the doctors themselves will assemble information on the four phases of pediatric care. These phases include hospitals, community health services, both official and voluntary, the distribution, qualifications and activities of professional personnel and the quantity and quality of pediatric education. The information on pediatric education will come from the country's 68 medical schools.

"Much of the hospital information will be obtained in conjunction with the state hospital survey, to which arrangement the state hospital commission has graciously consented," Dr. Thomas said.

Advisory board for the Louisiana study includes Dr. Rhett McMahon, Baton Rouge, who is president of the State Medical Society; Dr. O. P. Daly, New Orleans, director of the State Department of Institutions; Dr. Paul T. Talbot, New Orleans, secretary to the State Medical Society; Dr. Willard R. Wirth, editor of the New Orleans medical and surgical journal; Dr. George Wright, Monroe, councilor of the Fifth Medical District; Dr. W. F. Couvillion, Marksville, councilor of the Eighth Medical District; Mrs. Sue Fabregas, Baton Rouge, president of the Louisiana Nursing Association.

Simon A. McNeely, Baton Rouge, supervisor of health, physical and safety education of the State Department of Education; Dr. Wallace M. Nicaud, New Orleans, president of the State Dental Society; Very Rev. Monsignor H. Joseph Jacabi, executive director of Associated Catholic Charities of the Archdiochese of New Orleans; Mrs. Arthur Long, state president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the State Medical Society; Mrs. Henri Wolbrette, president of the Shreveport Jewish Women's Council; A. L. Zimmerman, Alexandria, district governor of Kiwanis International.

Dr. B. J. LaCour, Welsh, secretary State Dental Society; Dr. Dudley Isom, Shreveport, past president of the State Dental Society; Dr. Ralph Platou, professor of pediatrics, pediatrics department of Tulane University; Dr. Rena Crawford, professor of pediatrics, department of pediatrics of Louisiana State University; Dr. Trois Johnson, Louisiana State Board of Health; Jesse Bankston, Baton Rouge, State Hospital Committee; John Fox, Monroe, who is district governor of Optimist International; Charles L. Stiffell, New Orleans, state commander of the American Legion; Bernard Lang, Lafayette, Evangeline Council of Boy Scouts of America; Mrs. Lucy B. Lemann, New Orleans, state chairman of the women's division of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; and A. N. Robinson, Baton Rouge, an official of the Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

WIND DAMAGES FRUIT

BERNICE, La., May 25.—(Special)—Hard wind and heavy rain from 1 to 2 a. m. Saturday badly broke and damaged early peach trees with heavy fruit crops, gardens and truck crops. Continued rains for two weeks have halted farm work, washed road beds and raised streams out of banks. Business here is badly damaged by the railroad strike.

NEGRO CONVICTED OF SLAYING WIFE

Eddie Ambers, Negro, charged with the murder of his wife on the night of March 24 of this year, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury of twelve men Saturday afternoon at the district criminal court. The state contended that Ambers, who lives in Richland parish at Archibald, shot his wife with a pistol in Green's Alley between 8th and 9th streets at approximately midnight on March 24. Ambers and his wife had separated and at the time of the slaying she was visiting with relatives in Monroe.

The morning and afternoon sessions Thursday were occupied by the selection of the jury. Seven men were accepted for duty Thursday and the remaining five jurors were selected at the morning session Friday.

Numerous witnesses were called to the stand during the Friday afternoon session and the state rested its case Friday night at 9:15.

The trial was reopened Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at which time the defense concluded its case and the argument began.

The jury, composed of Joe R. Goyne, Jr., C. W. Dent, Jr., J. W. Moore, H. L. Lasseter, E. N. Camp, Luther Reed, Jr., Phil Smith, Shelby Hill, C. S. Todd, Fred C. Brownlee, A. P. Kitchens, and H. A. Brownlee, Jr., deliberated until 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when they returned with a verdict of guilty.

NEWS-STAR—WORLD TO HAVE REPORTER AT ATOMIC TESTS

Robert K. Butcher Will Make Trip To Bikini Atoll Bomb Tests

ROBERT K. BUTCHER

When the history-making atomic bomb tests are conducted at Bikini atoll in the Pacific this summer the News-Star—World and The Shreveport Times will be represented at the scene by Robert K. Butcher, Shreveport Times city editor, it is announced today by John D. Ewing, editor and publisher of The Times, and president of the News-Star—World Publishing Corporation.

His dispatches, radioed from the observation fleet in the Marshall Islands, will bring to readers a personalized report of the momentous "Operation Crossroads," being staged by joint Army-Navy Task Force No. One.

Butcher is one of 65 American newspaper correspondents who received credentials from Task Force One to report the Bikini bombings. More than 3,000 applications of all kinds were made for observer credentials, the number granted being limited by the space aboard the navy's official press ship, the U. S. S. Appalachian.

Mr. Ewing said he was gratified that such national and international recognition had been given the News-Star—World and The Times.

Butcher will leave Shreveport about June 5 for the West Coast and board the Appalachian at San Francisco. It is due to sail June 12 and will arrive in the Marshalls about June 29, with a two-day stop at Honolulu.

Among the outstanding newspapermen selected for the trip are: William L. Laurence, New York Times; Frank Waldrop, Washington Times-Herald; William R. Hearst, Jr., Hearst papers; Ralph Ingersoll, PM; James Lucas, Scripps-Howard papers columnist. Additional observers such as wire services, magazines, radio and photographers will bring the total representation aboard the press ship to about 200.

In addition to covering the bomb tests for The Times, Butcher also will represent the Monroe Morning World and News-Star and the Ewing radio stations, KWKH in Shreveport and KTHS in Hot Springs. He will be the only Louisiana newspaper man making the trip, and one of 11 from the entire South and Southwest.

The first bomb test, an air drop on some 65 vessels of all types anchored in Bikini lagoon, is scheduled for the morning of July 1, or as soon thereafter as weather permits.

The press ship will be anchored, it is expected, within 13 to 18 miles of the target point, which will be the brilliantly-painted old battleship, the U. S. S. Nevada.

Newsman have been told that they will go aboard some of the target ships before the drop. Then they will go in afterward, as soon as instruments have shown that radioactive dangers have subsided.

In addition, those aboard the Appalachian will view the bomb explosion by means of television. The television scanning apparatus will be set up on Bikini Island, looking at the target point from about 8,000 yards.

Newsmen have been told that they will be under no censorship, but will be on their honor not to disclose any information which the task force has said will not be made public. This information will include, in general:

1. The exact point of detonation of the bomb with respect to the point of aim of the array of target ships.
2. The height at which the bomb is detonated.
3. The exact bearings and distances at which the ships are stationed with respect to each other.
4. How the bomb is dropped from the B-29 which will carry it.
5. Exact pressures, temperatures and other data obtained at various distances from the point of explosion.
6. Degree of efficiency of the explosion.

In addition, photographs of the blast will be studied minutely by experts before they are released for publication.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the Joint Task Force, has emphasized that the experiments are being conducted purely as fact-finding scientific tests for future guidance, with no intent to "prove" or "disprove" any present-day theories concerning military, air and naval strategy and tactics.

The bomb which will be used is the "standard" Nagasaki type. No "more powerful" bomb is being held back, the navy said.

"If a more powerful bomb were now available, it would be employed," said a recent navy announcement.

Approximately 42,000 persons—civilian scientists, army air forces, army ground forces, marines and navy personnel—are involved in the Bikini tests.

Most of these already are on the spot, and some have spent months in the Bikini-Kwajalein area, preparing instruments, studying the plant and sea life and preparing general facilities for the operation.

Aboard the Appalachian, the navy press ship, will be radio teletype circuits direct to the west coast, where radioed stories will be turned over to commercial facilities. There will be microphones for radio; photo-radio facilities, etc.

Butcher, along with all other correspondents making the trip, has undergone inoculations for smallpox, tetanus, typhoid and typhus, although he had received these a year ago when preparing to go to the Pacific as a war correspondent for the Ewing papers and radio stations. Orders to Butcher to join MacArthur's headquarters and V-J day arrived almost simultaneously, so his trip to the Pacific in 1945 was cancelled.

When the Times correspondent will return is not known, since the second atom bomb test may be conducted within three to seven weeks after the first. This is the "surface" test in which a bomb will be detonated on or just below the surface of the water.

The Times plans also to cover the second atom test, but whether Butcher will return to the mainland and go back to Bikini, depends on the interval between the two tests. This interval will not be known for at least two weeks after the first bomb is dropped.

A third atom bomb test is to be conducted early next year, in which a bomb will be detonated far under the surface of the ocean. Other than this, plans for the third test have not been announced.

VIXEN HIGH LIFE TALE NOW FULLY CONFIRMED

As he paused to speak to a policeman in front of the Morgan and Lindsey building in the 200 block of DeSiard street the other day, Dr. James T. French, parish coroner, was approached by a smiling, gray-haired stranger.

"Well, doctor," greeted the newcomer, "I read your newspaper story about how that revival meeting at Vixen was broken up 30 years ago, and I want to say you told it just like it happened."

Dr. French was puzzled. "Were you there?" he asked.

"Was I there? Why Doc, I was one of the three boys you got to put the high life on the sleeping dogs at the altar," was the reply, and, when he gave his name, Dr. French remembered him very well indeed.

The stranger-no-longer was revealed as a prominent planter of Jackson parish.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

A Broadway actor named Kirk Douglas has snaffled "The Strange Love of Martha Ivers" right away from Van. Mind you, the more experienced actor is excellent in his return to the screen from the army But he plays only a semi-bad guy, whereas Douglas enacts a complete heel. It's tough to compete against such parts.

Unless the powers of observation are failing me, this Douglas guy is going to be a big name in this fantastic business. He is well prepared for his oncoming fame—he already has his own fan club. It consists of his six sisters, Ruth, Ida, Fritzie, Marion, Katherine and Betty.

Kirk came smack in the middle of the feminine parade, being born in Amsterdam, New York, 29 years ago. The scent of ham pervaded the whole family, and the Douglases were constantly winning oratorical contests or starring in school plays. However, Kirk was the only one who pursued an acting career.

The aspiring actor concentrated on wrestling and dramatics at St. Lawrence College and then won a scholarship to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. He got some featured roles on Broadway, served a couple of years in the navy, then returned to the stage. Upon recommendation by Lauren Bacall, he was snapped up for the movies by Hal Wallis.

Of course it's early yet, but Kirk seems to lack the pretension which some successful actors adopt. When we attended the preview of "Ivers," he was wearing his old navy overcoat. "I've got an 'actor's' overcoat—one of those long things with shoulders out to here," he remarked, "but I've only worn it twice."

Kirk is not excessively handsome, but possesses finely-chiseled features. His principal assets are two dimples which punctuate his cheeks whenever he smiles and another which makes a permanent period in his chin. The latter will be doubtless considerably discussed in the future.

"A lot of people think I should fill it in with makeup," said Kirk. But luckily he left it exposed. It may well become a landmark for adolescents, along with Van Johnson's freckles and Frank Sinatra's quavering chin.

In the early days of the atom bomb development, the scientists used wooden wash tubs, auto jacks, sun lamps, and the like because there was no time to make the certain devices required.

3. The exact bearings and distances at which the ships are stationed with respect to each other.
4. How the bomb is dropped from the B-29 which will carry it.
5. Exact pressures, temperatures and other data obtained at various distances from the point of explosion.
6. Degree of efficiency of the explosion.

In addition, photographs of the blast will be studied minutely by experts before they are released for publication.

Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, commander of the Joint Task Force, has emphasized that the experiments are being conducted purely as fact-finding scientific tests for future guidance, with no intent to "prove" or "disprove" any present-day theories concerning military, air and naval strategy and tactics.

The bomb which will be used is the "standard" Nagasaki type. No "more powerful" bomb is being held back, the navy said.

"If a more powerful bomb were now available, it would be employed," said a recent navy announcement.

Approximately 42,000 persons—civilian scientists, army air forces, army ground forces, marines and navy personnel—are involved in the Bikini tests.

Most of these already are on the spot, and some have spent months in the Bikini-Kwajalein area, preparing instruments, studying the plant and sea life and preparing general facilities for the operation.

Aboard the Appalachian, the navy press ship, will be radio teletype circuits direct to the west coast, where radioed stories will be turned over to commercial facilities. There will be microphones for radio; photo-radio facilities, etc.

Butcher, along with all other correspondents making the trip, has undergone inoculations for smallpox, tetanus, typhoid and typhus, although he had received these a year ago when preparing to go to the Pacific as a war correspondent for the Ewing papers and radio stations. Orders to Butcher to join MacArthur's headquarters and V-J day arrived almost simultaneously, so his trip to the Pacific in 1945 was cancelled.

When the Times correspondent will return is not known, since the second atom bomb test may be conducted within three to seven weeks after the first. This is the "surface" test in which a bomb will be detonated on or just below the surface of the water.

The Times plans also to cover the second atom test, but whether Butcher will return to the mainland and go back to Bikini, depends on the interval between the two tests. This interval will not be known for at least two weeks after the first bomb is dropped.

A third atom bomb test is to be conducted early next year, in which a bomb will be detonated far under the surface of the ocean. Other than this, plans for the third test have not been announced.

VIXEN HIGH LIFE TALE NOW FULLY CONFIRMED

As he paused to speak to a policeman in front of the Morgan and Lindsey building in the 200 block of DeSiard street the other day, Dr. James T. French, parish coroner, was approached by a smiling, gray-haired stranger.

"Well, doctor," greeted the newcomer, "I read your newspaper story about how that revival meeting at Vixen was broken up 30 years ago, and I want to say you told it just like it happened."

Dr. French was puzzled. "Were you there?" he asked.

"Was I there? Why Doc, I was one of the three boys you got to put the high life on the sleeping dogs at the altar," was the reply, and, when he gave his name, Dr. French remembered him very well indeed.

The stranger-no-longer was revealed as a prominent planter of Jackson parish.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

A Broadway actor named Kirk Douglas has snaffled "The Strange Love of Martha Ivers" right away from Van. Mind you, the more experienced actor is excellent in his return to the screen from the army But he plays only a semi-bad guy, whereas Douglas enacts a complete heel. It's tough to compete against such parts.

Unless the powers of observation are failing me, this Douglas guy is going to be a big name in this fantastic business. He is well prepared for his oncoming fame—he already has his own fan club. It consists of his six sisters, Ruth, Ida, Fritzie, Marion, Katherine and Betty.

Kirk came smack in the middle of the feminine parade, being born in Amsterdam, New York, 29 years ago. The scent of ham pervaded the whole family, and the Douglases were constantly winning oratorical contests or starring in school plays. However, Kirk was the only one who pursued an acting career.

The aspiring actor concentrated on wrestling and dramatics at St. Lawrence College and then won a scholarship to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. He got some featured roles on Broadway, served a couple of years in the navy, then returned to the stage. Upon recommendation by Lauren Bacall, he was snapped up for the movies by Hal Wallis.

Of course it's early yet, but Kirk seems to lack the pretension which some successful actors adopt. When we attended the preview of "Ivers," he was wearing his old navy overcoat. "I've got an 'actor's' overcoat—one of those long things with shoulders out to here," he remarked, "but I've only worn it twice."

Kirk is not excessively handsome, but possesses finely-chiseled features. His principal assets are two dimples which punctuate his cheeks whenever he smiles and another which makes a permanent period in his chin. The latter will be doubtless considerably discussed in the future.

"A lot of people think I should fill it in with makeup," said Kirk. But luckily he left it exposed. It may well become a landmark for adolescents, along with Van Johnson's freckles and Frank Sinatra's quavering chin.

In the early days of the atom bomb development, the scientists used wooden wash tubs, auto jacks, sun lamps, and the like because there was no time to make the certain devices required.

MONROE JUNIORS NIP SHREVEPORT

Local Legion Club Comes From Behind To Beat Invaders, 10 To 8

The Monroe-West Monroe American Legion Junior baseball club spotted the Shreveport Juniors six runs in the first three innings here yesterday afternoon and then came through with a successful uphill climb, topped by three runs in their last turn at bat, to beat the Shreveporters, 10 to 8, in an exhibition game on the Neville High School diamond.

The Caddo parish nine outhit the locals, 9 to 6, but the Monroe-West Monroe boys made good use of eight free passes on balls, a batter hit by a pitched ball, three Shreveport errors, a couple of wild pitches and a trio of passed balls. The locals' performance was shaded by nine errors.

Shreveport opened the game with three runs, cornered another tally in the second and appeared headed for victory in a breeze with two runs in the third and a 6-0 lead. The locals tallied once in the fourth, but Shreveport came through with two more runs in fifth.

Then what had been looking like sure defeat for the locals took on a more heartening aspect as Coach Pete Medak's boys took some loose Shreveport playing to score four runs in the fifth. Then with the margin not so deep against them, the locals tightened up, held Shreveport scoreless the rest of the way, and came through with single runs in the sixth and seventh and three in the eighth to sew up the game.

George Luffey, big Neville High School righthander, who took over the mound duties for Monroe in the fourth inning, was the winning pitcher, giving up only four hits and two runs in the five and two thirds innings he worked. Luffey also fanned seven and walked only three. Luke Pipes, Calhoun High School, the locals' starting chunker, gave up six runs on five hits. He walked only two and whiffed four.

The starting Shreveport twirler, Richard Montgomery, was doing all right for himself until he was pulled in the fifth inning after giving up a hit and a base on balls in the inning. All told he gave up just four hits and four runs, fanned five, and walked one. Third Baseman Lee Hedges, Fair Park High School football star, took over Montgomery's chores in the fourth and had hardly warmed up before the Shreveport defense collapsed, and Monroe began trickling runs steadily across the plate. Hedges remained on the job to the finish, allowing just two hits, but seeing six runs cross the plate and being charged with the loss.

Sid Morell, Shreveport outfielder, and Dick Whittington, catcher for the visitors, were the leading hitters with three blows each.

J. B. Nolan and C. J. Fontana led the local attack with two hits each, one of Fontana's smashes going for three bases. Only other hits for Monroe were singles by Roy Brennan and Luffey.

LeRoy Alexander, first up to bat for Shreveport, was safe on an error. Whittington singled into left field and went on to second in an unsuccessful play for Alexander at third. Montgomery grounded to Fontana who tried to cut Alexander off at the plate, but all hands were safe and the first run across. Hedges grounded out, Nolan to Fontana, but Whittington scored on the play. Then Jerry Price came through with a single to score Montgomery.

Another Shreveport run came home in the second. Morell singled and went on to second on an error. He took third when James Callen grounded out, and scored on a passed ball.

With one out and Montgomery on third, Price got a free pass in the third. Price took second while Montgomery was unsuccessful in an attempt to steal home, being thrown out, Buster King to "Sonny" Webb. But Morell followed with a single to score Price. Morell was safe on an error at second, stole third, and scored when Callen grounded to Pipes who missed throwing Morell out at the plate.

The locals first hit pay dirt in the fourth when Fontana tripled and scored on a passed ball.

Then in the fifth Shreveport ended its scoring with two more runs. Ross Meriwether got a base on balls. Morell grounded to King who made a play for Meriwether at second, but Nolan dropped the ball and all were safe. Callen was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases. Meriwether was trapped off third, but Scalia missed a throw from his catcher, the ball rolling deep into left field, allowing Meriwether and Morell to score.

With one out in the fifth, Monroe started its first big drive, chiefly on Shreveport bobbles. Roy Scalia got a base on balls. Nolan singled Scalia to third and took second himself on the play at third. King grounded to third, and Hedges threw in an effort to stop Scalia at the plate, pulled his catcher away off the bag and all were safe. Fontana got a free pass, loading the bases, and all three came home on successive passed balls and a wild pitch.

In the sixth Brennan walked, stole second, took third as Guy Woods grounded out, and scored on Luffey's outfield fly. The seventh inning brought another tally when Fontana singled, went to second and third on wild pitches, and scored on a passed ball.

Monroe's pay-off inning was the eighth when the locals first went ahead and won the game. Brennan and Woods both walked. Luffey singled into left field, scoring Brennan. Woods scored on a passed ball, and Luffey, who took third when Woods scored, came home when Parsons grounded out.

TWO AMERICANS SEEKING BRITISH AMATEUR TITLE

BIRKSDALE, ENGLAND, May 25.—(AP)—Frank Stranahan, the "bold Yank," drew a tough opponent when pairings were announced today for Monday's opening session of match play in the British Amateur Golf Championship.

The 25-year-old Toledo (Ohio) strong boy will tee off against 46-year-old John B. Beck of London, member of the 1928 British Walker Cup team and non-playing captain ten years later, at 11:45 a. m. The only other American entry, 55-year-old Chick Evans, will play at 5:48 a. m. against Lt. Col. R. A. K. Sangster, a British army officer from India.

JOE LOUIS SHOWS NEED FOR HARDER WORKOUTS

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., May 25.—(AP)—A bit sharper than in his sluggish workout on Thursday, but still showing the need for more work, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis boxed a total of six rounds with four sparring partners today as he continued training for his title defense June 19 against Billy Conn at Yankee Stadium.

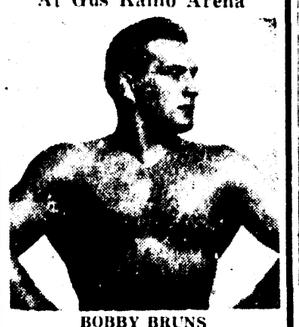

Louis boxed one round each against Al Hoosman and Perk Daniels, and two each with Jimmy Bell and George Fitch. Ray Arcel, noted second who has been in the corner of at least ten Louis opponents, said after watching the drill that, since every one of the champion's sparring partners is good enough to be a main-event fighter in his own right, they could not help but bring him to peak form in the coming weeks.

LORD BOSWELL FINISHES 2ND IN PETER PAN 'CAP

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—Lord Boswell put on his usual cavalry charge in the Peter Pan Handicap at Belmont today, and as usual it was only good enough for second place—this time behind 28-to-1 shot Mahout—causing no end of suffering among the horseplayers and making Assault look better than ever for next week's Belmont Stakes.

As a matter of fact, the chocolate champ of the Derby and Preakness made himself even more of a "good thing" to round out the triple crown next Saturday by taking the track early in the day and working out a snappy mile and a quarter in 2.05 2-5.

GRIDIRON AWARD GOES TO BROWN

Neville High School Halfback Gets Principal's Trophy On Birthday

The Principal's Trophy, annual award to the Neville High School football player adjudged by opposing coaches and field officials as the most valuable of the squad, came to fleet-footed Charlie "Shadow" Brown on his 18th birthday. That was Wednesday at the last senior assembly before graduation day, June 6, and the presentation was made by the donor, Principal Paul J. Neal.

Left halfback on what has been called the strongest team Neville has ever produced, young Brown made six touchdowns and threw 12 scoring passes in the eight games played. The Tigers lost but one game—to Ruston, 13 to 6—but in beating Bastrop for the first time in seven seasons, the score was 40 to 6 as compared to the 14 to 0 by which Ruston defeated Bastrop.

Brown, who completed his third season as a Tiger backfield regular, was chosen by the Shreveport Times as left half for the All-North Louisiana team and was given honorable mention in the New Orleans Times-Picayune All-State poll.

He is one of 17 football lettermen to be graduated at Neville this year, but with an exceptional squad coming up for next fall, Coach Bill Ruple is not too dismayed by the heavy loss of stars.

Young Brown is a son of Mrs. F. P. Elmore of No. 8 Fox Court, North Fourth street. He plans to enter Natchitoches next fall.

TIDEMEN DIM GEORGIA'S HOPES FOR TITLED TEAM

ATHENS, Ga., May 25.—(AP)—Alabama today dimmed Georgia's hopes of winning its first Southeastern Conference baseball title when the tide romped on the Bulldogs, 15-9. It gave Alabama a clean sweep of the two-game series.

Georgia had won eight straight conference games.

Alabama pushed over seven markers in the fourth inning, four of them on Third Baseman Lee's home run with the bases loaded. Georgia's Charlie Trippi hit his tenth homer of the season in the fifth inning.

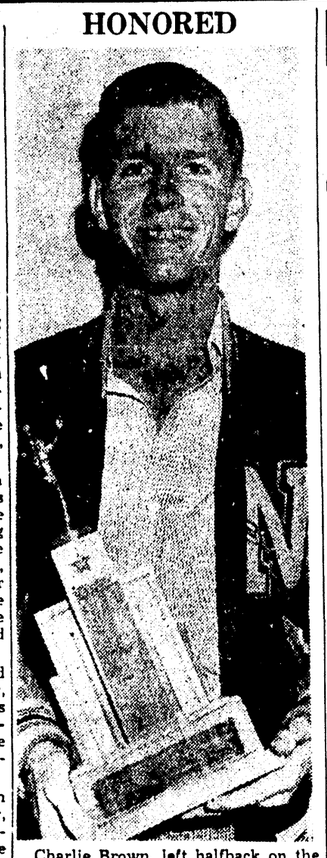

Score by innings:

NAVY'S TRACK TEAM WINS IC4A TRACK CHAMPIONSHIP

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 25.—(AP)—Navy's balanced power carried the Middies to their third straight I. C. 4A track title today but the Sailors had to win the mile relay in order to beat out fast-finishing Army.

Navy took the championship with 36 5/28 points to Army's 33 1/7 and a surprising Dartmouth team's third place total of 24 1/7. Twenty-four of the 33 competing schools shared in the point-making.

DUAL AWARDS GO TO L. S. U. STARS

Gene Knight And Clyde Lindsey Jointly Acclaimed 'Most Valuable'

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(AP)—For the first time in Louisiana State University's athletic history two students tonight received the Roberts-Eastland award for "L. S. U.'s most valuable player."

They are Clyde Lindsey of Kilgore, Tex., alternate captain and left end of the Tiger football squad, and Gene "Red" Knight of Shreveport, All-Southeastern Conference fullback. Both received gold watches in place of the single trophy awarded in former years.

The awards were made tonight at the annual L. S. U. athletic banquet at which 93 lettermen of seven sports were honored. The gifts were presented by Bernie H. Moore, head football and track coach of the university.

Lindsey also placed on the Associated Press' All-Conference second team; played shortstop on the Tiger baseball team, ranking second in batting averages, and was third high scorer in basketball, while Knight was first string catcher for the L. S. U. nine and defending Southeastern javelin champion this year.

They are the only two L. S. U. athletes to win three letters each this year, but the similarity does not stop there: Both are 22, juniors and are majoring in physical education.

Other awards made tonight were:

George Wallace trophy for the most time played—to Y. A. Tittle of Marshall, Tex., whose time in L. S. U.'s nine games as quarterback last season was 399 minutes—an average of 44.3 minutes per game.

Prof. Ben Mitchell served as toastmaster and introduced Moore, Dr. W. B. Hatcher, president of L. S. U., Clyde Pearce, president of the University Alumni Association, and J. P. Heard, athletic director.

MONROE JUNIORS NIP SHREVEPORT

Local Legion Club Comes From Behind To Beat Invaders, 10 To 8

The Monroe-West Monroe American Legion Junior baseball club spotted the Shreveport Juniors six runs in the first three innings here yesterday afternoon and then came through with a successful uphill climb, topped by three runs in their last turn at bat, to beat the Shreveporters, 10 to 8, in an exhibition game on the Neville High School diamond.

The Caddo parish nine outhit the locals, 9 to 6, but the Monroe-West Monroe boys made good use of eight free passes on balls, a batter hit by a pitched ball, three Shreveport errors, a couple of wild pitches and a trio of passed balls. The locals' performance was shaded by nine errors.

Shreveport opened the game with three runs, cornered another tally in the second and appeared headed for victory in a breeze with two runs in the third and a 6-0 lead. The locals tallied once in the fourth, but Shreveport came through with two more runs in fifth.

Then what had been looking like sure defeat for the locals took on a more heartening aspect as Coach Pete Medak's boys took some loose Shreveport playing to score four runs in the fifth. Then with the margin not so deep against them, the locals tightened up, held Shreveport scoreless the rest of the way, and came through with single runs in the sixth and seventh and three in the eighth to sew up the game.

George Luffey, big Neville High School righthander, who took over the mound duties for Monroe in the fourth inning, was the winning pitcher, giving up only four hits and two runs in the five and two thirds innings he worked. Luffey also fanned seven and walked only three. Luke Pipes, Calhoun High School, the locals' starting chunker, gave up six runs on five hits. He walked only two and whiffed four.

The starting Shreveport twirler, Richard Montgomery, was doing all right for himself until he was pulled in the fifth inning after giving up a hit and a base on balls in the inning. All told he gave up just four hits and four runs, fanned five, and walked one. Third Baseman Lee Hedges, Fair Park High School football star, took over Montgomery's chores in the fourth and had hardly warmed up before the Shreveport defense collapsed, and Monroe began trickling runs steadily across the plate. Hedges remained on the job to the finish, allowing just two hits, but seeing six runs cross the plate and being charged with the loss.

Sid Morell, Shreveport outfielder, and Dick Whittington, catcher for the visitors, were the leading hitters with three blows each.

J. B. Nolan and C. J. Fontana led the local attack with two hits each, one of Fontana's smashes going for three bases. Only other hits for Monroe were singles by Roy Brennan and Luffey.

LeRoy Alexander, first up to bat for Shreveport, was safe on an error. Whittington singled into left field and went on to second in an unsuccessful play for Alexander at third. Montgomery grounded to Fontana who tried to cut Alexander off at the plate, but all hands were safe and the first run across. Hedges grounded out, Nolan to Fontana, but Whittington scored on the play. Then Jerry Price came through with a single to score Montgomery.

Another Shreveport run came home in the second. Morell singled and went on to second on an error. He took third when James Callen grounded out, and scored on a passed ball.

With one out and Montgomery on third, Price got a free pass in the third. Price took second while Montgomery was unsuccessful in an attempt to steal home, being thrown out, Buster King to "Sonny" Webb. But Morell followed with a single to score Price, Morell was safe on an error at second, stole third, and scored when Callen grounded to Pipes who missed throwing Morell out at the plate.

The locals first hit pay dirt in the fourth when Fontana tripled and scored on a passed ball.

Then in the fifth Shreveport ended its scoring with two more runs. Ross Meriwether got a base on balls. Morell grounded to King who made a play for Meriwether at second, but Nolan dropped the ball and all were safe. Callen was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases. Meriwether was trapped off third, but Scalia missed a throw from his catcher, the ball rolling deep into left field, allowing Meriwether and Morell to score.

With one out in the fifth, Monroe started its first big drive, chiefly on Shreveport bobbles. Roy Scalia got a base on balls. Nolan singled Scalia to third and took second himself on the play at third. King grounded to third, and Hedges threw in an effort to stop Scalia at the plate, pulled his catcher away off the bag and all were safe. Fontana got a free pass, loading the bases, and all three came home on successive passed balls and a wild pitch.

In the sixth Brennan walked, stole second, took third as Guy Woods grounded out, and scored on Luffey's outfield fly. The seventh inning brought another tally when Fontana singled, went to second and third on wild pitches, and scored on a passed ball.

Monroe's payoff inning was the eighth when the locals first went ahead and won the game. Brennan and Woods both walked. Luffey singled into left field, scoring Brennan. Woods scored on a passed ball, and Luffey, who took third when Woods scored, came home when Parsons grounded out.

JOE LOUIS SHOWS NEED FOR HARDER WORKOUTS

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., May 25.—(AP)—A bit sharper than in his sluggish workout on Thursday, but still showing the need for more work, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis boxed a total of six rounds with four sparring partners today as he continued training for his title defense June 19 against Billy Conn at Yankee Stadium.

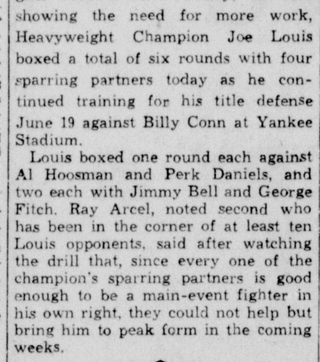

Louis boxed one round each against Al Hoosman and Perk Daniels, and two each with Jimmy Bell and George Fitch. Ray Arcel, noted second who has been in the corner of at least ten Louis opponents, said after watching the drill that, since every one of the champion's sparring partners is good enough to be a main-event fighter in his own right, they could not help but bring him to peak form in the coming weeks.

LORD BOSWELL FINISHES 2ND IN PETER PAN 'CAP

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—Lord Boswell put on his usual cavalry charge in the Peter Pan Handicap at Belmont today, and as usual it was only good enough for second place—this time behind 28-to-1 shot Mahout—causing no end of suffering among the horseplayers and making Assault look better than ever for next week's Belmont Stakes.

As a matter of fact, the chocolate champ of the Derby and Preakness made himself even more of a "good thing" to round out the triple crown next Saturday by taking the track early in the day and working out a snappy mile and a quarter in 2:05 2-5.

GRIDIRON AWARD GOES TO BROWN

The Principal's Trophy, annual award to the Neville High School football player adjudged by opposing coaches and field officials as the most valuable of the squad, came to fleet-footed Charlie "Shadow" Brown on his 18th birthday. That was Wednesday at the last senior assembly before graduation day, June 6, and the presentation was made by the donor, Principal Paul J. Neal.

Left halfback on what has been called the strongest team Neville has ever produced, young Brown made six touchdowns and threw 12 scoring passes in the eight games played. The Tigers lost but one game—to Ruston, 13 to 6—but in beating Bastrop for the first time in seven seasons, the score was 40 to 6 as compared to the 14 to 0 by which Ruston defeated Bastrop.

Brown, who completed his third season as a Tiger backfield regular, was chosen by the Shreveport Times as left half for the All-North Louisiana team and was given honorable mention in the New Orleans Times-Picayune All-State poll.

He is one of 17 football lettermen to be graduated at Neville this year, but with an exceptional squad coming up for next fall, Coach Bill Ruple is not too dismayed by the heavy loss of stars.

Young Brown is a son of Mrs. F. P. Elmore of No. 8 Fox Court, North Fourth street. He plans to enter Natchitoches next fall.

TIDEMEN DIM GEORGIA'S HOPES FOR TITLED TEAM

ATHENS, Ga., May 25.—(AP)—Alabama today dimmed Georgia's hopes of winning its first Southeastern Conference baseball title when the tide romped on the Bulldogs, 15-9. It gave Alabama a clean sweep of the two-game series.

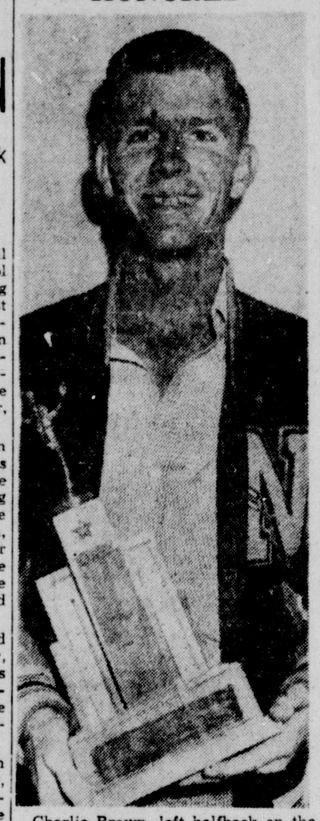

Georgia had won eight straight conference games.

Alabama pushed over seven markers in the fourth inning, four of them on Third Baseman Lee's home run with the bases loaded. Georgia's Charlie Trippi hit his tenth homer of the season in the fifth inning.

NAVY'S TRACK TEAM WINS IC4A TRACK CHAMPIONSHIP

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 25.—(AP)—Navy's balanced power carried the Middies to their third straight I. C. 4A track title today but the Sailors had to win the mile relay in order to beat out fast-finishing Army.

Navy took the championship with 36 5/28 points to Army's 33 1/7 and a surprising Dartmouth team's third place total of 24 1/7. Twenty-four of the 33 competing schools shared in the point-making.

DUAL AWARDS GO TO L. S. U. STARS

Gene Knight And Clyde Lindsey Jointly Acclaimed 'Most Valuable'

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(AP)—For the first time in Louisiana State University's athletic history two students tonight received the Roberts-Eastland award for "L. S. U.'s most valuable player."

They are Clyde Lindsey of Kilgore, Tex., alternate captain and left end of the Tiger football squad, and Gene "Red" Knight of Shreveport, All-Southeastern Conference fullback. Both received gold watches in place of the single trophy awarded in former years.

The awards were made tonight at the annual L. S. U. athletic banquet at which 93 lettermen of seven sports were honored. The gifts were presented by Bernie H. Moore, head football and track coach of the university.

Lindsey also placed on the Associated Press' All-Conference second team; played shortstop on the Tiger baseball team, ranking second in batting averages, and was third high scorer in basketball, while Knight was first string catcher for the L. S. U. nine and defending Southeastern javelin champion this year.

They are the only two L. S. U. athletes to win three letters each this year, but the similarity does not stop there: Both are 22, juniors and are majoring in physical education.

Other awards made tonight were:

George Wallace trophy for the most time played—to Y. A. Tittle of Marshall, Tex., whose time in L. S. U.'s nine games as quarterback last season was 399 minutes—an average of 44.3 minutes per game.

North Louisiana Leaguers Play Here Today; Games At Baskin, Olla

The West Monroe baseball club, which yesterday journeyed to Ferriday to hand the Ferriday baseball team its first defeat of the season, 12 to 7, will be here today for a North Louisiana League contest with the Bastrop Buckshots on the Neville High School diamond at 2 o'clock. Manager A. R. "Red" Sims said the game here today would be part of a double header that included an American Legion Junior game between the Monroe and Farmerville teams.

Other North Louisiana League scraps today will find the Winnsboro outfit invading Baskin, and Clarks going to Olla. The Clarks-Olla game was originally scheduled for Clarks, but Manager E. M. Steely of the White Sox said last night the condition of the Clarks field was in no shape for play after rains this week, and that the contest would be played on the Olla diamond instead, barring continued rain today.

Manager Olan Arant, who has been shouldering the burden alone at Bastrop, has alined himself with John D. Wright, operator of the Bastrop City Bakery, and the two Morehouse baseball enthusiasts are promising better things for the Buckshot club.

Wright, a former ball player himself, entered business in Bastrop about a year ago upon his discharge from military service, and in joining the Buckshots in partnership with Skipper Arant, the Bastrop baker will supply the dough (not the kind he makes his bread with) to finance the Buckshots' operations. He also plans to build a new ball park for Bastrop and said last night such a move to give the Buckshots a good baseball plant was already in the making.

Manager Sims last night said he would start Futch on the mound here today with Miles catching in an effort to gain revenge for a defeat in their previous meeting with the Bucks. The West Monroe team has been leaning heavily on its hitting to bring victory because of a scarcity of pitchers.

SOUTHERN

(By Associated Press)

The Southern Association rested Saturday after the most significant week's battling of the season, in which Atlanta's Crackers pulled into a four-game lead at the top of the heap and the amazing Chattanooga Lookouts rode a nine-game winning streak into second place.

Atlanta and Chattanooga continued their irresistable surge Friday night as the Crackers beat New Orleans, 11-2, to sweep a three-game series; and the Lookouts bumped again, 5-1.

The week opened with Atlanta, New Orleans and Memphis scrapping within a hair's breadth of the lead, just as they had done all season.

It closed with Nashville's hard-hitting Vols lodged close behind Chattanooga in third place—and New Orleans fourth and Memphis fifth.

Atlanta's Crackers have won 18 of their last 22 games. They pounded 12 hits Friday night as Shelby Kinney of the ace Atlanta mound staff gave only five to the Pelicans.

The Lookouts had the longest winning streak of the season. Friday night's victory came on 10 hits, including three for four by Rip Radcliff. Claude Weaver, making his first appearance for Chattanooga, scattered seven Memphis hits.

Doubles by Pinch Hitter Vito Tamulis and Bill Manning produced the winning two runs for Nashville in the last of the ninth. It was Little Rock's ninth straight loss.

The Mobile Bears swept the Birmingham series, scoring seven runs in the first inning Friday night and pounding out a barrage of 11 hits.

SOCKERS SPOIL DICKEY'S DEBUT

Red Sox Whip Yankees, 7 To 4; Senators Trim Athletics, 4-1

BOSTON, May 25.—(AP)—The rampaging Boston Red Sox spoiled Bill Dickey's managerial debut today by belting Spud Chandler out of the box in the fifth inning and going on to whip the New York Yankees 7-4. Glen Russell's three-run homer climaxed the Boston outburst in the fifth frame. Joe Gordon homered for the Yanks. The triumph increased Boston's lead to six games over the New Yorkers.

CARDINALS STILL CAN'T 'SEE' EWELL BLACKWELL

(By Associated Press)

The St. Louis Cardinals, who couldn't "see" Ewell Blackwell when the stringbean Cincinnati righthander was recommended to them five years ago, wouldn't mind at all today if they were never to see him again.

Not only did the 23-year-old six-foot-five-inch fireballer from Fresno, Calif., knock the Red Birds out of their half of the top perch in the National League standings Friday night, but he became the second hurler to register two victories over the Cards. Pittsburgh's Heintzelman is the other.

In clipping the Red Birds' wings 5-1 for the Reds, Blackwell dealt the Cards only four hits and turned back six on strikeouts. Oddly enough, his first triumph over the Cards was by a 5-1 score with 10 strikeouts on the side. By way of rubbing it in, Blackwell can boast of no other victories this year. Harry Brecheen was the a 5-1 score with 10 strikeouts on the side. By way of rubbing it in, Blackwell can boast of no other victories this year. Harry Brecheen was the loser, suffering his fifth reversal of the season.

DOUBLE FEATURE ON MAT PROGRAM

Kennedy Meets Macias And Bruns Faces Bashara Here Tuesday Night

Kennedy, the popular Dallas, Tex., grappler hailed as a counterpart of Light-Heavy Champion Jack Curtis in wrestling style and appearance, has been assigned to the task of trying to stop Senor Macias, the burly Mexico City veteran who has been giving some mighty spectacular and colorful accounts of himself in southern and southwest rings in recent months.

The other half of the twin feature sends Bobby Bruns, native of Chicago, Ill., and former heavyweight champion of South America, against Ellis Bashara, well known veteran from Oklahoma who decided to make wrestling his career when he won a national amateur wrestling championship several years ago.

Both battles will have time limits of an hour and 15 minutes with two falls needed to win.

Bruns is a newcomer here and least known locally of the quartet billed for Tuesday's show. He made an impressive showing in his debut here the past week, but lost his introductory scrap by knocking himself unconscious when he missed a flying block aimed at Jack "Sockeye" McDonald and hit the floor on his head.

But Bobby figures to make a better impression on Kallio's customers Tuesday. Bruns is a scholastic grappler, graduate of Northwestern University at Chicago, speaker of six foreign languages and widely traveled over the globe. He spent 31 months overseas with the navy as a chief petty officer during the recent war.

MAX LANIER SILENT ON TRIP TO MEXICO

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—(AP)—Max Lanier never was one to talk much.

And the guitar-strumming southpaw who might have been the St. Louis Cardinals' No. 1 hurler had very little to say today en route to join the Mexican Baseball League for a reputed $200,000 for five years.

"We ain't mad at no one," he told reporters at the hotel where he and Freddy Martin were settled for the week-end. "We just don't want to talk now."

So Max's six-game winning streak without a loss this year has come to an end with the Cardinals.

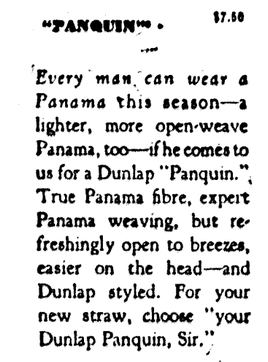

"I've pitched my last game for them," he told fellow players Thursday night in New York. Roommate Red Schoendienst had remarked that Max should have 11 victories by July 4. When Max checked out of the hotel he left a note for Schoendienst:

"So long, Red," it said. "Keep hitting those line drives. I'll see you next winter and we'll go hunting. Best of luck."

As to his sudden departure from the Cardinal squad, Max said he and Martin and Lou Klein were "not bluffing" about accepting the offers from Mexican baseball.

ACES WIN EARLY

NEW IBERIA, La., May 25.—(AP)—The Alexandria Aces pushed over three runs in the first inning tonight to beat New Iberia 4 to 3. It was a pitchers' battle most of the way, with Hausey for the Aces and Fiest for New Iberia, giving up 5 and 4 hits, respectively. It was the third consecutive victory for Alexandria over the Cardinals.

Score by innings:

Alexandria	300	001	000— 4 4 2
New Iberia	020	100	000— 3 5 3

Hausey and Garner; Fiest and Gayle, Allen.

NATCHEZ CLIMBS

NATCHEZ, Miss., May 25.—(AP)—Southpaw Dick Baired, Natchez hurler, chalked up his seventh victory in as many starts tonight when Natchez defeated Abbeville, 3 to 1, in the third game of the four-game series. The victory placed Natchez within two games of the league-leading Houma Indians, who were idle because of rain.

Score by innings:

Abbeville	100	000	000—1 7 1
Natchez	010	000	20x—3 7 2

Starnes and Dettorel; Baired and Ramogaz.

HOGAN AND FERRIER WESTERN LEADERS

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—(AP)—The mighty-mite of the fairways, 135-pound Ben Hogan, and heavyweight Jim Ferrier, 220-pound Chicagoan, were joint pace-setters after thirty-six holes of the Western Open Golf Tournament today with sensational 10-under par 134's.

Ferrier failed to maintain the spectacular pace of 8-under par 64 he posted yesterday and came in with a 70 today, while Hogan hit the second round 6 under 66. He had 68 the first day.

Sitting firmly in the drivers' seat on a basis of previous tournaments that made him golf's leading money winner for the year Little Ben went out 3-under par 31 and came back 3-under 35. He decorated the easy Sunset Country Club course with five birdies and had an eagle-3 on the 480-yard sixteenth green.

LYONS REVAMPING WHITE SOX SETUP

New Chicago Manager Picks Urban 'Red' Faber As New Head Coach

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP)—Teddy Lyons, in his first move as new manager of the Chicago White Sox, picked another pale hose pitching immortal, urban (Red) Faber, as his head coach and ordered a slight line-up switch for tomorrow's double-header against the Detroit Tigers.

Like Lyons, who today succeeded Jimmy Dykes at the White Sox helm, Faber served the club as a star pitcher for two decades. The last of the major league spit-ballers, the 57-year-old Faber had as an impressive record as his new boss with 252 victories between 1914 and 1933.

Lyons, in his 21st season as a White Sox pitcher with 260 victories, said Faber will tutor the pitchers and head a coaching staff that includes two hold-overs from the Dykes' regime, Bing Miller and Mule Haas.

Lyon's managerial debut against the Tigers was spoiled by rain, but he wasted little time juggling the Sox line-up for tomorrow's twin bill against the Bengals, moving outfielder Ralph Hodgin to the lead-off spot previously shared by fly-chaser Wally Moses or second sacker Don Kolloway. Moses was dropped to second and Kolloway to seventh.

From a fan-pleasing viewpoint, Lyons' selection of Faber as his chief aide was ideal. The grizzled red-head, who retired from the Sox in 1934, won three of Chicago's victories over the New York Giants in the 1917 World Series to give this city its last world baseball title.

WEST MONROE TO ENGAGE BASTROP

The West Monroe baseball club, which yesterday journeyed to Ferriday to hand the Ferriday baseball team its first defeat of the season, 12 to 7, will be here today for a North Louisiana League contest with the Bastrop Buckshots on the Neville High School diamond at 2 o'clock. Manager A. R. "Red" Sims said the game here today would be part of a double header that included an American Legion Junior game between the Monroe and Farmerville teams.

Other North Louisiana League scraps today will find the Winnsboro outfit invading Baskin, and Clarks going to Olla. The Clarks-Olla game was originally scheduled for Clarks, but Manager E. M. Steely of the White Sox said last night the condition of the Clarks field was in no shape for play after rains this week, and that the contest would be played on the Olla diamond instead, barring continued rain today.

Manager Olan Arant, who has been shouldering the burden alone at Bastrop, has alined himself with John D. Wright, operator of the Bastrop City Bakery, and the two Morehouse baseball enthusiasts are promising better things for the Buckshot club.

Wright, a former ball player himself, entered business in Bastrop about a year ago upon his discharge from military service, and in joining the Buckshots in partnership with Skipper Arant, the Bastrop baker will supply the dough (not the kind he makes his bread with) to finance the Buckshots' operations. He also plans to build a new ball park for Bastrop and said last night such a move to give the Buckshots a good baseball plant was already in the making.

Manager Sims last night said he would start Futch on the mound here today with Miles catching in an effort to gain revenge for a defeat in their previous meeting with the Bucks. The West Monroe team has been leaning heavily on its hitting to bring victory because of a scarcity of pitchers.

SOUTHERN

(By Associated Press)

The Southern Association rested Saturday after the most significant week's battling of the season, in which Atlanta's Crackers pulled into a four-game lead at the top of the heap and the amazing Chattanooga Lookouts rode a nine-game winning streak into second place.

Atlanta and Chattanooga continued their irresistable surge Friday night as the Crackers beat New Orleans, 11-2, to sweep a three-game series; and the Lookouts bumped again, 5-1.

The week opened with Atlanta, New Orleans and Memphis scrapping within a hair's breadth of the lead, just as they had done all season.

It closed with Nashville's hard-hitting Vols lodged close behind Chattanooga in third place—and New Orleans fourth and Memphis fifth.

Atlanta's Crackers have won 18 of their last 22 games. They pounded 12 hits Friday night as Shelby Kinney of the ace Atlanta mound staff gave only five to the Pelicans.

The Lookouts had the longest winning streak of the season. Friday night's victory came on 10 hits, including three for four by Rip Radcliff. Claude Weaver, making his first appearance for Chattanooga, scattered seven Memphis hits.

Doubles by Pinch Hitter Vito Tamulis and Bill Manning produced the winning two runs for Nashville in the last of the ninth. It was Little Rock's ninth straight loss.

The Mobile Bears swept the Birmingham series, scoring seven runs in the first inning Friday night and pounding out a barrage of 11 hits.

SOCKERS SPOIL DICKEY'S DEBUT

BOSTON, May 25.—(AP)—The rampaging Boston Red Sox spoiled Bill Dickey's managerial debut today by belting Spud Chandler out of the box in the fifth inning and going on to whip the New York Yankees 7-4. Glen Russell's three-run homer climaxed the Boston outburst in the fifth frame. Joe Gordon homered for the Yanks. The triumph increased Boston's lead to six games over the New Yorkers.

CARDINALS STILL CAN'T 'SEE' EWELL BLACKWELL

(By Associated Press)

The St. Louis Cardinals, who couldn't "see" Ewell Blackwell when the stringbean Cincinnati righthander was recommended to them five years ago, wouldn't mind at all today if they were never to see him again.

Not only did the 23-year-old six-foot-five-inch fireballer from Fresno, Calif., knock the Red Birds out of their half of the top perch in the National League standings Friday night, but he became the second hurler to register two victories over the Cards. Pittsburgh's Heintzelman is the other.

In clipping the Red Birds' wings 5-1 for the Reds, Blackwell dealt the Cards only four hits and turned back six on strikeouts. Oddly enough, his first triumph over the Cards was by a 5-1 score with 10 strikeouts on the side. By way of rubbing it in, Blackwell can boast of no other victories this year. Harry Brecheen was the a 5-1 score with 10 strikeouts on the side. By way of rubbing it in, Blackwell can boast of no other victories this year. Harry Brecheen was the loser, suffering his fifth reversal of the season.

DOUBLE FEATURE ON MAT PROGRAM

Kennedy, the popular Dallas, Tex., grappler hailed as a counterpart of Light-Heavy Champion Jack Curtis in wrestling style and appearance, has been assigned to the task of trying to stop Senor Macias, the burly Mexico City veteran who has been giving some mighty spectacular and colorful accounts of himself in southern and southwest rings in recent months.

The other half of the twin feature sends Bobby Bruns, native of Chicago, Ill., and former heavyweight champion of South America, against Ellis Bashara, well known veteran from Oklahoma who decided to make wrestling his career when he won a national amateur wrestling championship several years ago.

Both battles will have time limits of an hour and 15 minutes with two falls needed to win.

Bruns is a newcomer here and least known locally of the quartet billed for Tuesday's show. He made an impressive showing in his debut here the past week, but lost his introductory scrap by knocking himself unconscious when he missed a flying block aimed at Jack "Sockeye" McDonald and hit the floor on his head.

But Bobby figures to make a better impression on Kallio's customers Tuesday. Bruns is a scholastic grappler, graduate of Northwestern University at Chicago, speaker of six foreign languages and widely traveled over the globe. He spent 31 months overseas with the navy as a chief petty officer during the recent war.

MAX LANIER SILENT ON TRIP TO MEXICO

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—(AP)—Max Lanier never was one to talk much.

And the guitar-strumming southpaw who might have been the St. Louis Cardinals' No. 1 hurler had very little to say today en route to join the Mexican Baseball League for a reputed $200,000 for five years.

"We ain't mad at no one," he told reporters at the hotel where he and Freddy Martin were settled for the week-end. "We just don't want to talk now."

So Max's six-game winning streak without a loss this year has come to an end with the Cardinals.

"I've pitched my last game for them," he told fellow players Thursday night in New York. Roommate Red Schoendienst had remarked that Max should have 11 victories by July 4. When Max checked out of the hotel he left a note for Schoendienst:

"So long, Red," it said. "Keep hitting those line drives. I'll see you next winter and we'll go hunting. Best of luck."

As to his sudden departure from the Cardinal squad, Max said he and Martin and Lou Klein were "not bluffing" about accepting the offers from Mexican baseball.

EVANGELINE LEAGUE

ACES WIN EARLY

NEW IBERIA, La., May 25.—(AP)—The Alexandria Aces pushed over three runs in the first inning tonight to beat New Iberia 4 to 3. It was a pitchers' battle most of the way, with Hausey for the Aces and Fiest for New Iberia, giving up 5 and 4 hits, respectively. It was the third consecutive victory for Alexandria over the Cardinals.

Score by innings:

Alexandria	300 001 000—	4	4	2
New Iberia	020 100 000—	3	5	3

Hausey and Garner; Fiest and Gayle, Allen.

NATCHEZ CLIMBS

NATCHEZ, Miss., May 25.—(AP)—Southpaw Dick Baird, Natchez hurler, chalked up his seventh victory in as many starts tonight when Natchez defeated Abbeville, 3 to 1, in the third game of the four-game series. The victory placed Natchez within two games of the league-leading Houma Indians, who were idle because of rain.

Score by innings:

Starnes and Dettorel; Baird and Ramogaz.

HOGAN AND FERRIER WESTERN LEADERS

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—(AP)—The mighty-mite of the fairways, 135-pound Ben Hogan, and heavyweight Jim Ferrier, 220-pound Chicagoan, were joint pace-setters after thirty-six holes of the Western Open Golf Tournament today with sensational 10-under par 134's.

Ferrier failed to maintain the spectacular pace of 8-under par 64 he posted yesterday and came in with a 70 today, while Hogan hit the second round 6 under 66. He had 68 the first day.

Sitting firmly in the drivers' seat on a basis of previous tournaments that made him golf's leading money winner for the year Little Ben went out 3-under par 31 and came back 3-under 35. He decorated the easy Sunset Country Club course with five birdies and had an eagle-3 on the 480-yard sixteenth green.

LYONS REVAMPING WHITE SOX SETUP

New Chicago Manager Picks Urban 'Red' Faber As New Head Coach

CHICAGO, May 25.—(AP)—Teddy Lyons, in his first move as new manager of the Chicago White Sox, picked another pale hose pitching immortal, urban (Red) Faber, as his head coach and ordered a slight line-up switch for tomorrow's double-header against the Detroit Tigers.

Like Lyons, who today succeeded Jimmy Dykes at the White Sox helm, Faber served the club as a star pitcher for two decades. The last of the major league spit-ballers, the 57-year-old Faber had as an impressive record as his new boss with 252 victories between 1914 and 1933.

Lyons, in his 21st season as a White Sox pitcher with 260 victories, said Faber will tutor the pitchers and head a coaching staff that includes two hold-overs from the Dykes' regime, Bing Miller and Mule Haas.

Lyon's managerial debut against the Tigers was spoiled by rain, but he wasted little time juggling the Sox line-up for tomorrow's twin bill against the Bengals, moving outfielder Ralph Hodgin to the lead-off spot previously shared by fly-chaser Wally Moses or second sacker Don Kolloway. Moses was dropped to second and Kolloway to seventh.

From a fan-pleasing viewpoint, Lyons' selection of Faber as his chief aide was ideal. The grizzled red-head, who retired from the Sox in 1934, won three of Chicago's victories over the New York Giants in the 1917 World Series to give this city its last world baseball title.

NEW YORK, May 25. — (AP) — Spot cotton closed steady 50 cents a bale higher here today. Sales 1,334. Low middling 22.45, middling 27.70, good middling 28.10, receipts 1,926, stock 224,370.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 25—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths inch cotton today at nine correct, designated Southern spot markets was 40 cents a bale higher at 27.77 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 27.75; middling 7 8ths inch average 26.11.

New York

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The cotton market was strong today although dealings were quiet. The senate banking committee action forbidding price controls on cotton and urging elimination of present office of price administration margin requirements in cotton futures trading, stimulated most of the buying. Demand came from commission houses, southern dealers, and textile mills and was supplied by bodges and profit takers. An additional incentive behind the buying movement was a recurrence of crop damage reports from the cotton belt.

Futures closed 35 to 55 cents a bale higher.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 25—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths inch cotton today at nine correct, designated Southern spot markets was 40 cents a bale higher at 27.77 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 27:75; middling 7/8ths inch average 26.11.

New York

NEW YORK, May 25.—(AP)—The cotton market was strong today although dealings were quiet. The senate banking committee action forbidding price controls on cotton and urging elimination of present office of price administration margin requirements in cotton futures trading, stimulated most of the buying. Demand came from commission houses, southern dealers, and textile mills and was supplied by hedges and profit takers. An additional incentive behind the buying movement was a recurrence of crop damage reports from the cotton belt.

Futures closed 35 to 55 cents a bale higher.

SMITH SCHOOL LEADING PARISH

Grade Eight Has High Score In Elementary Achievement Tests

The Ouachita parish annual testing program for pupils ready to be promoted from the elementary grades to the high school department has just been completed with some four hundred eighth grade pupils participating.

It appears that the standards for the eighth grade in other parts of the country is below the achievement of the new eighth grade in Ouachita parish. This is not surprising since we have been completing in seven years in Louisiana what most states completed in eight years.

When the reorganization is completed in Louisiana and work is adjusted at each grade level we hope the achievement at the end of the elementary school will continue to be as gratifying.

These annual achievement tests give individual pupils an opportunity to test their strength in important academic subjects. The pupil making the highest score in the parish was Richard Pipes of the Ouachita Parish High School. Second place was won by Mary Jo Inzinia and third place was shared by Jane Steed and Carol Hudson of Ouachita Parish High School.

MONROE COLORED HIGH ENDS YEAR

The baccalaureate exercises of the Monroe Colored High School will be held at the school this afternoon at 2 p. m. The class numbers 56 this year.

Rev. Buckner, Franklin, La., will preach the sermon. The line of march of the students at 2 p. m. will be impressive, states Principal Henry Carroll and he invites white friends to park on Washington street and witness the procession even if they do not attend the exercises.

The commencement exercises will be held on the night of May 30 when Dr. McNeil, president of Bishop College, Marshall, Tex., will give the principal address.

BILL MAY HERALD NEW ORGANIC LAW

Pending Resolution Is First Step To Rewriting Louisiana Constitution

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(AP)—A bill already pending before the state legislature is the first step in a project to rewrite completely Louisiana's much-patched constitution.

Senator Gilbert F. Hennigan of Fields, author of the bill, thinks the rewriting job could be done in two years without calling a constitutional convention—the usual method of bringing out a new constitution, but an elaborate and expensive one.

If the legislature adopts Senator Hennigan's bill, or a similar one pending in the house of representatives, the Louisiana law institute would be directed to prepare a proposed new constitution and submit it to the legislature in time for the 1948 session. Senator Hennigan visualizes the succeeding steps as follows:

The legislature would set aside the necessary time to be devoted exclusively to considering the proposed new constitution, perhaps by means of a special 10-day or longer session following immediately the regular session.

Then after having made whatever changes in the draft it considered necessary, it would submit the document to the people in the form of a series of proposed amendments.

If all the amendments were ratified at a general election, the state would have a completely new constitution.

"I don't believe in 'streamlining' government excessively or in getting it out of touch with the people," the senator explained, "but there is a general feeling that we need a new constitution. There's just too much in this one. As it stands now, there are too many subjects on which we can legislate only by constitutional amendment."

The present constitution, framed by a convention in 1921, is the fourth organic law to be established for the state within 75 years. Since it was adopted, 216 proposals to amend it have been submitted to the people and 194 of these have been approved. By contrast, the constitution of the United States has been amended only 21 times in the country's history.

During the two weeks of the current legislative session, 42 proposals for constitutional amendments have been introduced in the senate and house of representatives.

The Bureau of Governmental Research estimates that Louisiana has amended its constitution 16 times as much as the average American state, twice as much as any other one state. This is partly due, the bureau said in a report, to the present constitution's length and "its concern with minor matters."

For example, relatively minor tax changes, reorganization of comparatively unimportant local government offices or changes in the salaries they carry, all require constitutional amendments, which means a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and approval by the people of the whole state in a general election.

Organic law, Senator Hennigan and others think, should stick to the basic guarantees and broad outlines of government, leaving the legislature free to take care of changing current needs by enacting statutes.

FLOAT SPOTLIGHTS HOUSING WOES

Featuring a group on a park bench, symbolizing plight of veterans who can't find homes to live in, this float was part of a parade that officially opened "Veterans' Housing Week" in Washington. Theme of the demonstration was "Vacancies for Veterans First."

OPPOSES CHANGES IN CLASSIFICATION

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—The Louisiana Civil Service League expressed its opposition today to senate bill No. 11, which the league stated would exclude from the classified service superintendents and assistant superintendents of institutions.

The league, of which Wilson S. Callender is president, declared that the bill, if enacted, "would constitute a serious inroad in our civil service laws and lay the pattern for future inroads, which would eventually nullify the entire purpose and spirit of these laws."

"Obviously, the simplest method of defeating the purpose of civil service legislation," the league said in a statement, "is to extend the exemptions from the classified service, and senate bill No. 11 does just that; first, by extending the appointive power of the governor to officials, who, of themselves, are not contemplated to be policy forming officials; and, secondly, by giving the department of institutions not one chief deputy, as contemplated under act 172 of 1940, the basic merit system law, but four additional chief deputies."

The league said this would "have no other purpose than to increase the patronage power of the governor."

The league said senate bill No. 11 was introduced by Senators McCormick, Brumfield, King, Boucher, Goff, Stafford, Gardner and Toler.

AREA PLUMBERS RILEY'S GUESTS

Master Operators Entertained; Problems Discussed

The W. J. Riley Supply Company was host Friday at 7:00 p.m. to the master and journeyman plumbers throughout North Louisiana. At that time a business conference was held between Crane Company representatives, Jess McMurry, district manager of New Orleans, Leo Herrick, New Orleans branch manager, and A. J. Moore, Jr., manager Crane Company, Shreveport, La. The meeting was called to order by H. M. Long, manager, W. J. Riley Supply Company, who presented Mr. Riley, who welcomed the group. A film was shown entitled "A Key for G. I. Joe," showing the part the master plumber can and is playing in the government housing program, also how Crane Company, as well as other leading manufacturers of plumbing and heating fixtures and supplies, were standardization on all units to increase production that the housing requirements may be met on schedule.

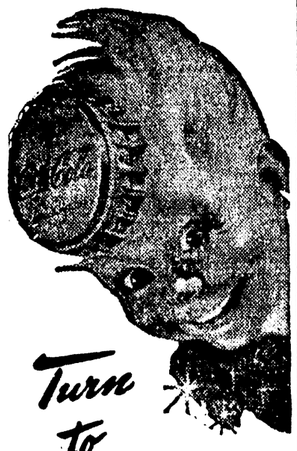

Jess McMurry, Crane district manager, brought an informative address on production problems and that progress was being made in spite of strike slowdowns and was optimistic over the future production schedule of his company and all manufacturers, if industrial unrest could be settled. Mr. McMurry gave the group a preview of plumbing fixtures and supplies of tomorrow. D. L. Johnson, president of State Master Plumbers Association, addressed the group in a closed session.

Refreshments were served to the following master, journeyman plumbers and guests:

SMITH SCHOOL LEADING PARISH

Grade Eight Has High Score In Elementary Achievement Tests

The Ouachita parish annual testing program for pupils ready to be promoted from the elementary grades to the high school department has just been completed with some four hundred eighth grade pupils participating.

It appears that the standards for the eighth grade in other parts of the country is below the achievement of the new eighth grade in Ouachita parish. This is not surprising since we have been completing in seven years in Louisiana what most states completed in eight years.

When the reorganization is completed in Louisiana and work is adjusted at each grade level we hope the achievement at the end of the elementary school will continue to be as gratifying.

These annual achievement tests give individual pupils an opportunity to test their strength in important academic subjects. The pupil making the highest score in the parish was Richard Pipes of the Ouachita Parish High School. Second place was won by Mary Jo Inzinia and third place was shared by Jane Steed and Carol Hudson of Ouachita Parish High School.

BILL MAY HERALD NEW ORGANIC LAW

Pending Resolution Is First Step To Rewriting Louisiana Constitution

BATON ROUGE, La., May 25.—(AP)—A bill already pending before the state legislature is the first step in a project to rewrite completely Louisiana's much-patched constitution.

Senator Gilbert F. Hennigan of Fields, author of the bill, thinks the rewriting job could be done in two years without calling a constitutional convention—the usual method of bringing out a new constitution, but an elaborate and expensive one.

If the legislature adopts Senator Hennigan's bill, or a similar one pending in the house of representatives, the Louisiana law institute would be directed to prepare a proposed new constitution and submit it to the legislature in time for the 1948 session. Senator Hennigan visualizes the succeeding steps as follows:

The legislature would set aside the necessary time to be devoted exclusively to considering the proposed new constitution, perhaps by means of a special 10-day or longer session following immediately the regular session.

Then after having made whatever changes in the draft it considered necessary, it would submit the document to the people in the form of a series of proposed amendments.

If all the amendments were ratified at a general election, the state would have a completely new constitution.

"I don't believe in 'streamlining' government excessively or in getting it out of touch with the people," the senator explained, "but there is a general feeling that we need a new constitution. There's just too much in this one. As it stands now, there are too many subjects on which we can legislate only by constitutional amendment."

The present constitution, framed by a convention in 1921, is the fourth organic law to be established for the state within 75 years. Since it was adopted, 216 proposals to amend it have been submitted to the people and 194 of these have been approved. By contrast, the constitution of the United States has been amended only 21 times in the country's history.

During the two weeks of the current legislative session, 42 proposals for constitutional amendments have been introduced in the senate and house of representatives.

The Bureau of Governmental Research estimates that Louisiana has amended its constitution 16 times as much as the average American state, twice as much as any other one state. This is partly due, the bureau said in a report, to the present constitution's length and "its concern with minor matters."

For example, relatively minor tax changes, reorganization of comparatively unimportant local government offices or changes in the salaries they carry, all require constitutional amendments, which means a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and approval by the people of the whole state in a general election.

Organic law, Senator Hennigan and others think, should stick to the basic guarantees and broad outlines of government, leaving the legislature free to take care of changing current needs by enacting statutes.

FLOAT SPOTLIGHTS HOUSING WOES

OPPOSES CHANGES IN CLASSIFICATION

NEW ORLEANS, May 25.—(AP)—The Louisiana Civil Service League expressed its opposition today to senate bill No. 11, which the league stated would exclude from the classified service superintendents and assistant superintendents of institutions.

The league, of which Wilson S. Callender is president, declared that the bill, if enacted, "would constitute a serious inroad in our civil service laws and lay the pattern for future inroads, which would eventually nullify the entire purpose and spirit of these laws."

"Obviously, the simplest method of defeating the purpose of civil service legislation," the league said in a statement, "is to extend the exemptions from the classified service, and senate bill No. 11 does just that; first, by extending the appointive power of the governor to officials, who, of themselves, are not contemplated to be policy forming officials; and, secondly, by giving the department of institutions not one chief deputy, as contemplated under act 172 of 1940, the basic merit system law, but four additional chief deputies."

The league said this would "have no other purpose than to increase the patronage power of the governor."

The league said senate bill No. 11 was introduced by Senators McCormick, Brumfield, King, Boucher, Goff, Stafford, Gardner and Toler.

Master Operators Entertained; Problems Discussed

The W. J. Riley Supply Company was host Friday at 7:00 p.m. to the master and journeyman plumbers throughout North Louisiana. At that time a business conference was held between Crane Company representatives, Jess McMurry, district manager of New Orleans, Leo Herrick, New Orleans branch manager, and A. J. Moore, Jr., manager Crane Company, Shreveport, La. The meeting was called to order by H. M. Long, manager, W. J. Riley Supply Company, who presented Mr. Riley, who welcomed the group. A film was shown entitled "A Key for G. I. Joe," showing the part the master plumber can and is playing in the government housing program, also how Crane Company, as well as other leading manufacturers of plumbing and heating fixtures and supplies, were standardization on all units to increase production that the housing requirements may be met on schedule.

Jess McMurry, Crane district manager, brought an informative address on production problems and that progress was being made in spite of strike slowdowns and was optimistic over the future production schedule of his company and all manufacturers, if industrial unrest could be settled. Mr. McMurry gave the group a preview of plumbing fixtures and supplies of tomorrow. D. L. Johnson, president of State Master Plumbers Association, addressed the group in a closed session.

Refreshments were served to the following master, journeyman plumbers and guests:

Miss Russell Is Honored At Tea

P. A. Poag Home Is Scene Of Charming Afternoon Tea Honoring Bride-Elect

One of the most gracious pre-nuptial compliments bestowed upon Miss Beverly Russell whose wedding May 29 will highlight this week's social activities was the reception in the P. A. Poag home with Mrs. Poag and daughter, Miss Margaret Poag, hostesses.

The lower floor, ensuite, was fragrant with the perfume of many flowers including the south's favorite blossom, great clusters of magnolias.

Mrs. Poag wore a leaf green model, cool and summery looking with a corsage of shasta daisies. Miss Poag, looked unusually lovely in a brown linen model embroidered in white daisies. She wore daisies in her dark hair.

The tea table in the candlelit dining room was developed in crystal and silver. Full blown magnolia blossoms on an immense reflector centered the table. Crystal candelabra at either end of the table supported white tapers.

Trays of delicious edibles were passed among the guests by Mrs. J. W. DeArman, Mrs. Edward Skinner, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Jr., Mrs. Jane Adams and Miss Anna Lee Russell. They all wore summery gowns in the pastel colors. Two hundred or more guests called during the receiving hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson Wafer of Gilbert, La., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rachel, to Mr. Leroy Peacock, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Peacock of Mobile, Ala.

The wedding will take place June 9 at the First Baptist Church, Gilbert, La., at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

SHAMBLIN-ADDISON WEDDING ATTENDANTS

Rehearsals for "My Sister, Eileen," three act comedy, are being held nightly at the Little Theatre workshop at Neville High School. The play is being directed by Lorenzo Smith, and the cast is, for the first time in several years, made up entirely of Monroe members, many of whom have recently returned from service in the armed forces.

The leading feminine roles of Eileen and Ruth Sherwood, will be played by Bonnie Holloway and Gail McDonald. Miss Holloway, talented young student at Northeast Junior College, played in "Guest in the House," a recent Little Theatre production, and was recently awarded a scholarship at the University of Wisconsin. Miss McDonald will be remembered for her past performances in "Damask Cheek" and "Guest in the House."

Other members of the cast who will play important parts are: James P. Guerriero in the role of Appopolous, the landlord; Allen VanHorn Hundley, as Jensen; James McBeth, as "The Wreck;" Scherck Bogen, as Mr. Fletcher; Christine Crow as Helen Wade; Malcolm Steen as Frank Lippencott; Jim Crow as Chic Clark; Joan Guerriero Ussery as Violet Shelton; Ruth Sibbald as Mrs. Wade; Jake Ussery as Robert Baker, Fred Young as Walter Sherwood.

There are 27 speaking parts in the play, including six future Portuguese admirals, a Russian consul, a subway worker, and several passersby.

Jane McKnight is prompter and is also in charge of properties, and Jerry Juneman is in charge of lighting. Tom Serwich will design the set, and Maud Mayo is in charge of painting.

The Monroe Little Theatre is receiving new impetus, as members, returning from the far corners of the earth, where they were in service, are again resuming their places in the civic life of Monroe. During the past several years, it was necessary for the Little Theatre to draw on talent from Selman Field, and it played an important part in welding a feeling of good will and fraternity between Monroe civilians and Selman Field personnel.

The membership of the board now includes Joe Kern, Scherck Bogen, Elliott Thompson, Sarah Helen Word, Eula Davenport, Maude Mayo, Armandine Renaud, C. C. Boardman, Louis Turner, W. B. Inabnet, Sam Rubin. The officers are: President, Joe Kern; vice-president, Rose Serwich; secretary, Nell Grigsby; treasurer, Carrie Mae Stephenson.

Lorenzo Smith, the director, announced that the exact date for the play will be announced as soon as available time can be secured for the use of the Northeast Junior College auditorium.

Mrs. Charles L. Harrison of Fairbanks, La., has arrived home from a lengthy visit with her daughter, Mrs. Charles R. Johnson and Mr. Johnson of Knoxville, Tenn. Mrs. Johnson returned with her for a short visit and will be joined later by Mr. Johnson on completion of his studies at the University of Tennessee.

Claiming the interest of friends in this section of the state is the announcement of the recent marriage of Miss Nena Marie Womack and Mr. Rondilee A. Madden of this city. Miss Womack is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. "Kent" Womack and Mr. Madden is the son of Mrs. M. E. Gilbert.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. H. G. Durgin in West Monroe with Rev. Wm. S. Bernhard, officiating, in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

THERE IS AN INCREASING trend toward the HALL FUNERAL HOME. The use of this funeral home materially eases the burden at the family home. Many demands upon the family are received and taken care of at this home by kindly and experienced attendants. In fact the bitter sting of death is removed when the HALL FUNERAL HOME is in charge. Everything moves along with clock-like precision and the atmosphere is devoid of gloom and sadness. It's the ideal place for the service.

THE CASCADE—the very name instantly conjures up thoughts of happy moments spent with friends and the serving of drinks that reach the peak of perfection. THE CASCADE is now open at 11 a. m. for the convenience of shoppers. The cocktail hour is 4 o'clock and at this time gay little parties take place daily at this fashionable and popular cocktail lounge. It's the only one of its kind in Monroe and is growing steadily in popularity.

IF YOU HAVE let your weight get out of bounds then you need a CHARMODE girdle from SEARS, ROEBUCK AND CO. This girdle was designed to slim the figure, to give comfort and to give you that sleek, slender look so much desired You'll never feel "held in" or that you can't take a deep breath. The famous inner belt supports the stomach—flattens it in fact. Flesh is so evenly distributed when you wear a CHARMODE you'll look trim and smart and inches thinner.

A LOAF OF BREAD means more today than ever before . . . that's why it's necessary to insist on MEL-O-TOAST as one slice is equal to several of the ordinary kind. Compare MEL-O-TOAST with other brands and note the difference in flavor and richness. No other bread contains the precious vitamins and no other bread makes such crisp, delicious toast. Those who use MEL-O-TOAST from the CITY BAKERY are never satisfied with any other.

THE FLOWER SHOPPE, always cooperative from a civic standpoint, now closes at five o'clock but there is no slacking up of work at this busy shop where graduates and brides-to-be are now flocking to discuss their flower problems. You can bet your bottom dollar the most beautiful bouquet on the platform commencement night will be designed by THE FLOWER SHOPE and the most distinctive wedding of the season is in the capable hands of THE FLOWER SHOPPE.

HAVE YOU BEEN OUT TO THE RAINBOW INN? It's really beautiful . . . your feet sink in the handsome, soft carpets . . . the lighting is subdued . . . the attendants are soft voiced and efficient. Booths for the casual diner are found in the main lounge but for the festive occasion tables are grouped around the glistening dance floor. THE RAINBOW INN has become the mecca for men who like thick, juicy steaks and music with their meals. An orchestra plays all evening. Miss Russell Is Honored At Tea

One of the most gracious pre-nuptial compliments bestowed upon Miss Beverly Russell whose wedding May 29 will highlight this week's social activities was the reception in the P. A. Poag home with Mrs. Poag and daughter, Miss Margaret Poag, hostesses.

The lower floor, ensuite, was fragrant with the perfume of many flowers including the south's favorite blossom, great clusters of magnolias.

Mrs. Poag wore a leaf green model, cool and summery looking with a corsage of shasta daisies. Miss Poag, looked unusually lovely in a brown linen model embroidered in white daisies. She wore daisies in her dark hair.

The tea table in the candlelit dining room was developed in crystal and silver. Full blown magnolia blossoms on an immense reflector centered the table. Crystal candelabra at either end of the table supported white tapers.

Trays of delicious edibles were passed among the guests by Mrs. J. W. DeArman, Mrs. Edward Skinner, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Jr., Mrs. Jane Adams and Miss Anna Lee Russell. They all wore summery gowns in the pastel colors. Two hundred or more guests called during the receiving hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson Wafer of Gilbert, La., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rachel, to Mr. Leroy Peacock, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Peacock of Mobile, Ala.

The wedding will take place June 9 at the First Baptist Church, Gilbert, La., at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Rehearsals for "My Sister, Eileen," three act comedy, are being held nightly at the Little Theatre workshop at Neville High School. The play is being directed by Lorenzo Smith, and the cast is, for the first time in several years, made up entirely of Monroe members, many of whom have recently returned from service in the armed forces.

The leading feminine roles of Eileen and Ruth Sherwood, will be played by Bonnie Holloway and Gail McDonald. Miss Holloway, talented young student at Northeast Junior College, played in "Guest in the House," a recent Little Theatre production, and was recently awarded a scholarship at the University of Wisconsin. Miss McDonald will be remembered for her past performances in "Damask Cheek" and "Guest in the House."

Other members of the cast who will play important parts are: James P. Guerriero in the role of Appopolous, the landlord; Allen VanHorn Hundley, as Jensen; James McBeth, as "The Wreck;" Scherck Bogen, as Mr. Fletcher; Christine Crow as Helen Wade; Malcolm Steen as Frank Lippencott; Jim Crow as Chic Clark; Joan Guerriero Ussery as Violet Shelton; Ruth Sibbald as Mrs. Wade; Jake Ussery as Robert Baker, Fred Young as Walter Sherwood.

There are 27 speaking parts in the play, including six future Portuguese admirals, a Russian consul, a subway worker, and several passersby.

Jane McKnight is prompter and is also in charge of properties, and Jerry Juneman is in charge of lighting. Tom Serwich will design the set, and Maud Mayo is in charge of painting.

The Monroe Little Theatre is receiving new impetus, as members, returning from the far corners of the earth, where they were in service, are again resuming their places in the civic life of Monroe. During the past several years, it was necessary for the Little Theatre to draw on talent from Selman Field, and it played an important part in welding a feeling of good will and fraternity between Monroe civilians and Selman Field personnel.

The membership of the board now includes Joe Kern, Scherck Bogen, Elliott Thompson, Sarah Helen Word, Eula Davenport, Maude Mayo, Armandine Renaud, C. C. Boardman, Louis Turner, W. B. Inabnet, Sam Rubin. The officers are: President, Joe Kern; vice-president, Rose Serwich; secretary, Nell Grigsby; treasurer, Carrie Mae Stephenson.

Lorenzo Smith, the director, announced that the exact date for the play will be announced as soon as available time can be secured for the use of the Northeast Junior College auditorium.

Mrs. Charles L. Harrison of Fairbanks, La., has arrived home from a lengthy visit with her daughter, Mrs. Charles R. Johnson and Mr. Johnson of Knoxville, Tenn. Mrs. Johnson returned with her for a short visit and will be joined later by Mr. Johnson on completion of his studies at the University of Tennessee.

Claiming the interest of friends in this section of the state is the announcement of the recent marriage of Miss Nena Marie Womack and Mr. Rondilee A. Madden of this city. Miss Womack is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. "Kent" Womack and Mr. Madden is the son of Mrs. M. E. Gilbert.

The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. H. G. Durgin in West Monroe with Rev. Wm. S. Bernhard, officiating, in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

Miss Terzia Is Honor Guest At Tea

Four Hundred Members Of Monroe Society Attend Tea At Weaks Home

A romantic aura surrounded the gown of azure blue nylon worn by Miss Jean Terzia, bride-to-be, at the tea given in her honor at the George Weaks home on Riverside last week. Miss Terzia resembled a daguerrotype in this lovely gown with its drop shoulders and full skirt caught up with pink nosegays. On each shoulder was a pink nosegay and fresh pink roses were worn in her dark hair.

The hostesses, Mrs. Weaks, Mrs. Frank Palmer Stubbs and Mrs. Robert Lynch, were also lovely looking in their beautiful, semi-evening models. Mrs. Weaks wore a black and white checked taffeta. Mrs. Stubbs wore a Roman striped model and Mrs. Lynch wore a white eyelet embroidery model with a green taffeta sash and green bows at the neckline. They all wore corsages of gardenias.

The charming mothers of the prospective bride and bridegroom, Mrs. Fensky Terzia and Mrs. Fred Fudickar, were also in the receiving line. They are both beautiful matrons and their charm on this occasion was accentuated by the lovely gowns they wore. Mrs. Terzia was wearing a pale pink lace model with pink carnation corsage tied with multi-colored satin ribbons. Mrs. Fudickar wore a black lace model with shoulder corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Bruce Helm assisted her daughter, Mrs. Weaks, and the other hostesses in receiving. She wore a chartreuse chiffon model with corsage of gardenies.

The lower floor of the Weaks home, spacious and attractive, was ensuite. Magnolias were used in artistic profusion in the background. The piece de resistance in the reception hall where the guests were received was the mammoth urn overflowing with Bermuda lilies.

Magnolias were used exclusively in the candlelit dining room. The tea table, overlaid with handsome lace cloth, had for central floral decor an immense plaque of magnolias and lilies. The crystal punch bowls placed at either end of the table were presided over by Mrs. T. C. Rowland, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Mrs. George Lester and Mrs. J. B. Thornhill.

Trays of luscious sandwiches, little frosted cakes and other confections were passed along to the guests on silver trays by Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Jr., Mrs. Bill Fudickar, Mrs. Wesley Whitfield, Mrs. Ray Haines, Mrs. John Sherrouse, Jr., Miss Marness Lester and Miss Barbara McKenzie.

More than four hundred members of Monroe society called during the receiving hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jordan announce the arrival of a daughter, Sylvia Mae, at St. Francis Sanitarium, May 22.

FOUR GENERATIONS ARE REUNITED

MRS. MILES NEW PRESIDENT OF LOUISIANA BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB

Mrs. Gladys Miles, prominent Monroe club woman and former president of the local Business and Professional Women's Club was elected state president of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs at the 27th annual conference in Lake Charles.

The conference this year was reminescent of the years before war restrictions were so keenly felt. Not only was this the largest gathering of this organization in years, but it was attended by a representative of the national federation, Mrs. Nina Belle Horton Avery. Some of the most brilliant and outstanding women of the state, including Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, of Monroe, Dr. Grace Agate, of Lafayette, and several past presidents of the Louisiana Federation.

An important feature of the convention was the workshop, "Do You Know Your Federation?" conducted by two past presidents, Mrs. T. L. Witter, of Alexandria, and Mrs. Eunice Stuckey, of Ruston. Other sessions were devoted to reports from the various departments of activity, all of which indicated gratifying progress. An address by Dr. Young, president of the Louisiana legislative council, on the theme of civil service and child labor legislation, was much appreciated.

The convention endorsed the equal rights amendment and voted to seek its support by Louisiana representatives; also, the bill presented by Representative Cleveland which provides that the right of persons to work shall not be abridged nor denied on account of membership of non-membership in any labor union or organization, provided that this shall not be construed to deny or abridge the right of employees to bargain collectively through a labor group. The Hill-Douglas bill designed to promote public library service was also endorsed.

Many delightful social features highlighted this gathering. Capable and charming hostesses were alert to the pleasure and comfort of every guest. Coffee and cokes were served at the appropriate moment, and the meals were made more enjoyable by the accompaniment of music, favors, and an all-pervading atmosphere of hospitality. The formal banquet Saturday evening, in the spacious dining room of the Majestic Hotel, was the climax of social events, rendered lovely by the beautifully-decorated, candle-lighted tables, accentuated by the panorama of colorful and distinctive evening gowns of the guests. A brilliant program of dinner music was presented, and the distinguished speaker on this occasion was Mrs. Nina Belle Horton Avery, representing the national federation. Mrs. Avery is past president of the Virginia federation, and is at present legislative chairman of that state, and national representative on the women's joint legislative council for equal rights. By profession, she is supervisor of foreign relations with the Ohio and Chesapeake Railway Company, the only like position held by a woman with the Virginia railways. Mrs. Avery's subject was "Be Alert to Action," and her discussion of this theme dealt with the legislative angle.

At the final session of this conference, the Monroe club was proud to receive the national citation for a 25 percent increase in membership during the past year. An additional award was presented to this club by Mrs. Harriett Johnston, chairman of District Three, comprising the clubs of North Louisiana, for the largest numerical increase in membership in the Third District. Alexandria was chosen as the convention city for next year.

Officers of the federation elected and installed were Mrs. Gladys Miles, of Monroe, president; Miss Emma Woods, of Covington, first vice-president; Miss Jodie Collette, of Lake Charles, second vice-president; Miss Eula Ortego, of Lafayette, recording secretary; Miss Marie Wheeler, of Shreveport, treasurer; and Mrs. Lillian Deslattes, of New Orleans, auditor. Mrs. Harriett Johnston, of Springhill, was re-elected as chairman of District Three.

As her first official act, Mrs. Miles is today presiding at the installation of officers of the Shreveport Business and Professional Women's Club. She was accompanied to Shreveport by Mrs. Inas Gwin, Miss Bess McDonald, Mrs. Laura Slator and Mrs. Evelyn Atkinson.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY UNITES MISS SARA LEIGH FLEMING AND MR. MERKLE IN MARRIAGE

Of interest to friends in this section of the state, Hobart, Okla., and Dallas, Tex., is the recent wedding of Miss Sara Leigh Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Virgil Fleming, Sr., who became the bride of Mr. William Roger Merkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Merkle of Hobart, Okla.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed at Gordon Avenue Methodist Church Saturday, May 4th at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon in the presence of an assemblage of relatives and friends from Monroe and out-of-town.

The chancel rail of the church was twined with ivy interwoven with fern. The rostrum was banked with fern interspersed with baskets of southern magnolia. Tall candelabra holding white cathedral tapers bordered either side of the rostrum and chancel rail, casting a soft glow of light over the entire effect.

Miss Dorothy Williams, a noted pianist of Monroe rendered a prenuptial concert, playing "Clair de Lune," by Debussy and "Song to an Evening Star," by Wagner.

Miss Patricia Ann Rector, cousin of the bride, sang in beautiful voice, "Because."

During the plighting of the troth the pianist softly played, "I Love You Truly." Mendelssohn's wedding march was rendered as recessional.

Miss Eura Ann Jones, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a lovely ice blue satin model, fashioned by an outstanding designer of Dallas, with tight fitting basque and long full skirt. She carried an arm bouquet of pastel sweetpeas, tied with satin ribbon.

Carolyn and Dale Fleming, sisters of the bride, served as junior bridesmaids. They wore identical floor length models of pastel pink, and carried bouquets of pastel sweetpeas.

The bridegroom was attended by Clifton Virgil Fleming, Jr., brother of the bride, who was recently discharged from the army air force. Ushers were: Mr. L. D. Stark and Mr. Harold Fleming, uncles of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely brocaded satin wedding gown that she designed and made. The tight fitting bodice with sweetheart neckline, had a peplum and sleeves terminating in a lily point at the wrist, with tiny satin button trim. The back of the bodice was fastened with 50 tiny satin covered buttons. The long full skirt ended in a train. A finger tip illusion veil was caught to the head with a coronet of brocaded satin covered with incandescent sequins.

The bride carried a white ivory Bible marked with gardenias and satin ribbon. The Bible held special significance to the couple as it was a gift from the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Gordon Avenue Church, engraved with the names of the bride and groom. For the traditional "something old" the bride wore an heirloom locket belonging to her mother's family and the lucky six pence, in her shoe, was a hundred years old and owned by three generations of the family.

The reception suite was decorated in beautiful spring flowers and evergreens. The fireplace and mantel, banked with magnolia and evergreens, formed a background for the wedding party. The bride's mother wore a navy crepe model with touches of white, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Louise White graciously presided at the bride's book.

The knife used to cut the wedding cake was a trophy of World War II, belonging to the bride's brother.

The bride is a graduate of Bastrop High School and Louisiana Tech. Since her school days she has held responsible positions with North American Aircraft and Magnolia Petroleum of Dallas.

Mr. Merkle has been a member of the Ferris High School faculty, as math teacher and athletic instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. Merkle are at Lubbock, Tex., where they are guests at the Hilton Hotel. The couple will reside there as Mr. Merkle is affiliated with the Lubbock Baseball Club and plans to take post-graduate studies at Texas Tech.

The bride traveled in a lovely gray suit with white blouse, using red accessories and wearing a corsage of gardenias.

Miss Mildred Flexmin will graduate at Neville High School on Friday, May 30th at 8 p. m. and friends are invited through this medium.

Miss Hurst Weds Crusman Gillette At The Mayo Home

The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mayo. The mantel was banked with magnolia blossoms and English ivy. Tall white baskets of blue hydrangeas and magnoiias were placed to form a beautiful background for the wedding party. The ceremony was performed by candlelight.

The wedding march was played by James Henry. Before the ceremony Charles Mims sang "Because," and "I Love You Truly."

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Bishop, of DeRidder, La., sister of the bride, wore a beautiful black sheer and a corsage of red carnations. Mr. Leo Montgomery served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held.

The groom is associated with the C. C. Bell Lumber Company, where he was employed prior to serving as a captain in the armed forces overseas.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely brocaded satin wedding gown that she designed and made. The tight fitting bodice with sweetheart neckline, had a peplum and sleeves terminating in a lily point at the wrist, with tiny satin button trim. The back of the bodice was fastened with 50 tiny satin covered buttons. The long full skirt ended in a train. A finger tip illusion veil was caught to the head with a coronet of brocaded satin covered with incandescent sequins.

The bride carried a white ivory Bible marked with gardenias and satin ribbon. The Bible held special significance to the couple as it was a gift from the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Gordon Avenue Church, engraved with the names of the bride and groom. For the traditional "something old" the bride wore an heirloom locket belonging to her mother's family and the lucky six pence, in her shoe, was a hundred years old and owned by three generations of the family.

The reception suite was decorated in beautiful spring flowers and evergreens. The fireplace and mantel, banked with magnolia and evergreens, formed a background for the wedding party. The bride's mother wore a navy crepe model with touches of white, and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Louise White graciously presided at the bride's book.

The knife used to cut the wedding cake was a trophy of World War II, belonging to the bride's brother.

The bride is a graduate of Bastrop High School and Louisiana Tech. Since her school days she has held responsible positions with North American Aircraft and Magnolia Petroleum of Dallas.

Mr. Merkle has been a member of the Ferris High School faculty, as math teacher and athletic instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. Merkle are at Lubbock, Tex., where they are guests at the Hilton Hotel. The couple will reside there as Mr. Merkle is affiliated with the Lubbock Baseball Club and plans to take post-graduate studies at Texas Tech.

The bride traveled in a lovely gray suit with white blouse, using red accessories and wearing a corsage of gardenias.

Miss Hurst Weds Crusman Gillette At The Mayo Home

Of interest to a wide circle of friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lola Mae Hurst and Mr. Crusman Gillette on Thursday, May 2.

The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mayo. The mantel was banked with magnolia blossoms and English ivy. Tall white baskets of blue hydrangeas and magnolias were placed to form a beautiful background for the wedding party. The ceremony was performed by candlelight.

The wedding march was played by James Henry. Before the ceremony Charles Mims sang "Because," and "I Love You Truly."

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Bishop, of DeRidder, La., sister of the bride, wore a beautiful black sheer and a corsage of red carnations. Mr. Leo Montgomery served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held.

The groom is associated with the C. C. Bell Lumber Company, where he was employed prior to serving as a captain in the armed forces overseas.

MRS. A. B. COLMAR'S SUBURBAN HOME IS SETTING FOR LAST MEETING OF LITERARY CLUB

The last meeting of the Monroe Literary Club was held in the suburban home of Mrs. A. B. Colmer with Mrs. W. L. Jones and Mrs. Wayne Benson as co-hostesses. Mrs. Colmer, who raises beautiful flowers placed a variety of blooms in the spacious reception suite of her home on this occasion.

A short program was rendered. Sketches of Norway and Sweden were given by Mrs. C. D. McAdams and Mrs. J. R. Roark. They said in part: Norway occupies the western and northern part of the Scandinavian peninsula in northwestern Europe, lying directly north of Denmark and east of the British Isles. The country is 1,100 miles long and at its narrowest point only eight miles wide.

One of the most interesting features is the North Cape where the sun never sets from the second week of May to the last week in July and never rises from November 18 to January 23.

The population of Norway is a little over 3,000,000, of which two million live in rural districts and one million in towns. They are a tall blonde people with blue eyes. The Norwegians have always taken active interest in sports even though on an amateur basis.

History: The history of Norway can be traced back to 2000 B. C. In 800-1050 B. C. the Norwegians and Danes invaded European coasts. In the ninth century they settled in sections of Ireland and there founded Dublin. They also overran parts of France and in the 10th century discovered Greenland. In 1000 A. D. Eirikson explored America.

In the middle ages Norway lost most of the empire and colonies and was forced to submit to a union with Denmark until 1814. During the Napoleonic wars, Norway was separated from Denmark by the British blockade. In 1814 the Danish king by treaty ceded Norway to Sweden. The Norwegians next declared themselves independent and elected a Danish prince as their king. Foreign powers recognize this election. As a result a convention in 1814 proclaimed the union of Norway with Sweden, Norway having its own constitution. In 1905 the feeling of Nationalism revived. There was long agitation between Norway and Sweden, disagreements arose, Norway claimed the right to maintain its own consular service. In June, 1905, Norway declared this union dissolved. After negotiations, a repeal of the union by mutual agreement was signed in October, 1905.

Under a constitution adopted May 17, 1814, Norway became a constitutional, hereditary monarchy. The legislative power is the Storting, members being elected according to proportional representation, 1/3 representing towns, 2/3 the rural area. The Storting deliberates and votes on all political and budget questions. It divides into two sections and should they fail to reach an agreement sitting separately then they meet in a joint session and the decision is made on 2/3 majority vote. The king may exercise the power to veto, but if a bill is passed the third time, it becomes a law. The supreme court heads the judicial system of the country.

Fishing is one of the most important industries. The Norwegian fisheries are the largest in Europe. Mining is another important industry. The fur industry has grown in recent years and Norway supplies an important part of the world market. Manufacturing has been developing on a large scale. Norway is the world's largest producer of zinc, lead, and sulphur pyrites.

There is almost no illiteracy in Norway. The school system is highly organized with compulsory education from seven to 14 years of age.

Mass emigration to the U. S. began in 1825. Practically every Norwegian family has blood ties here. The present and future relations of Norway and America concern all of us today.

It was decided to send a girl to "Girls State" this summer and a committee appointed to make arrangements.

Immediately following the program, officers for the next year were installed by Mrs. T. H. Scott of the Welcome Branch Book Club. They were as follows: President, Mrs. S. E. Morris; vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Womack; secretary, Mrs. L. B. Herron; treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Roark; historian, Mrs. Julius Chandler, parliamentarian, Mrs. A. B. Colmer; reporter, Mrs. C. D. McAdams.

Delicious refreshments and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed by the following: Guests—Mrs. T. H. Scott, Mrs. Jack Wyatt, Mrs. Maybelle Ross; members: Mrs. Edwin Crowley, Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs. Sidney Karr, Mrs. R. M. Kettering, Mrs. J. E. Shannon, Mrs. Guy DuPriest, Mrs. C. E. McGee, Mrs. Ben S. Parnell, Mrs. J. W. Womack, Mrs. C. D. McAdams, Mrs. J. F. Choate, Mrs. Victor Weber, Mrs. L. B. Herron, Mrs. P. E. Massey, Mrs. J. R. Roark, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. Wayne Benson, and the hostess, Mrs. A. B. Colmer.

Of interest to many friends was the wedding which took place at the Baptist parsonage in Rayville, La., when Mrs. Ruby Brown of Mangham, La., became the bride of Mr. Charley Berry of Lansing, Mich., on Saturday evening, March 12, at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Hooks, pastor of the Baptist Church, performed the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of a few close relatives and friends.

The bride wore a lovely white gabardine suit with large black picture hat and accessories of black, and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. J. E. Chaney was the bride's only attendant. She wore a becoming spring model of blue gray with white accessories. Her corsage was of lovely roses.

L. J. Mulhearn, close friend of the bride and groom, was best man.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Berry left for a short wedding trip, after which they will return to Mangham where they will make their home.

TALENTED CHILDREN PRESENTED IN CHARMING FLOWER FANTASY BY BARKDULL FAULK P.-T. A.

The flowers of all nations were represented in this fantasy featuring children wearing lovely costumes in all the flower colors. Other flowers were golden rod from the Middle West, daisies from New England, cotton blossoms from Dixie and various others. Each national flower was accompanied by music typical of the state represented. Several songs composed by Mrs. Selig were sung by the children.

The second part of the program was devoted to piano and song numbers presented by Mrs. Selig's pupils. They gave a splendid performance and rendered with true musicianship the following program.

The third part of the program was devoted to sacred music with Mrs. Selig's pupils presenting vocal, violin and piano numbers.

Considerable interest was displayed by the appearance of Linda Noe, carrying the jeweled crown that was placed on the head of the queen. The crown and the gorgeous robe worn by the queen was worn by Linda's father, Mr. James A. Noe when he was named king of one of the carnival balls in New Orleans during his office of governor of Louisiana.

Mrs. Selig presented Barbara Kirk with a beautiful gift in recognition of her marvelous performance. She played "Etude" by Bach, and "Shower of Stars" by Caprice by Paul Wachs.

MUSICAL COTERIE OBSERVES ITS TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY AT MISS BIEDENHARN'S HOME

Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn's beautiful home on Riverside with its lovely vista of rear gardens seen from the wide windows of the solarium, was the setting for a charming program presented by members of the Musical Coterie in observance of the Coterie's 20th birthday anniversary. Three charter members, Mrs. Louise Hullum, Mrs. F. V. Allison and Mrs. Henry Whitfield were honored at this time. They were presented with handsome gifts. Mrs. Whitfield gave an interesting summary of the Coterie's activities dating back 20 years. The out-going officers, with Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, the capable president for the past two years, were given a vote of thanks for their splendid cooperation and work. Special guest for the Federation program was Mr. W. P. Grant, head of Northeast Junior College music department. Members of the Coterie were privileged to enjoy Mr. Grant's artistic piano performance of Schuman's Kreisleriana.

Mrs. J. C. Liner, Jr., Monroe region-al chairman for the Louisiana Federation of Music Clubs, gave a brief summary of the activities and plans of the National and State Federation, which includes a foundation for the advancement of music. Basic purposes of the foundation, as follows: To encourage the composition and performance of music; to air performing and creative musical artists; to promote musical activities in the armed forces; to aid veterans in commencing or resuming musical careers. Other plans and activities include the establishment of refresher courses for returned musicians needing this assistance, and the opportunity of appearances before audiences for returned musicians when qualified. War service is a continuing program as there is still a great need for instruments for hospitals and for musical supplies for the men yet remaining in Europe and the Far East. Music in hospitals promises to be an all-time, all-important activity of the federation. Mrs. Liner stated that Louisiana was ninth in list of all states in the amount of specific war service donations. There'll be continued service to native talent through prizes, commissions and scholarships. Junior and student groups are a vital part of the organization. Aside from making possible the Stillman-Kelly scholarships awards, these groups have distinguished themselves through their support of the National Junior Red Cross, the China's Children Fund and the MacDowell fund. In closing, Mrs. Liner quoted a paragraph from a message by Mrs. Gannett, president of the National Federation of Music Clubs. "Without forsaking the national projects and national ideals which we have so long pursued, we must cultivate far vision. We must come to the realization that by virtue of our devotion to the great humanizing art of music, we have a strong link that binds us to all musicians everywhere. We must make future international organization one of our major objectives."

A social hour was enjoyed at the conclusion of the program and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, who was assisted in serving by Miss Marian Gordon-Fraser of New York City, house guest of Miss Biedenharn, Mrs. R. D. Prichard, Miss Mary Grace Lawn and Mrs. J. C. Liner, Jr. Guests of the Coterie were Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, Chattanooga, Tenn., a former member of the Coterie, Miss Marian Gordon-Fraser, Mr. W. P. Grant. Members present were Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Mrs. Clayton Stanhope, Mrs. W. P. Grant, Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Jr., Miss Mary Grace Lawn, Mrs. J. C. Liner, Jr., Mrs. R. J. Prichard, Mrs. Clyde Sanders, Mrs. A. M. Serex, Mrs. Henry Whitfield, Miss Gertrude Sandrock, Miss Betty Rinehart, Mrs. Alex Winn, and Miss Louise Smelser.

CUT THEIR WEDDING CAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Orrell Hayton, bride and groom of recent date whose wedding was of interest to a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Hayton was formerly Miss Marie Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Robbins.

Purely Personal

The train strike hourly digs more deeply into the foundations of normal life but there's always the family automobile to fall back upon. College graduates will be able after all to see the face of their parents smiling at them from the audience commencement day. Mr. and Mrs. Carl McHenry will return home in a new automobile from Lynchburg, Va., following the graduation of their daughter, Miss Cornelia McHenry, from Randolph-Macon College. The automobile is Miss MsHenry's graduation gift from her parents.

Mr and Mrs. Armand V. Breard didn't let the train strike interfere with their trip to Lynchburg to see their daughter, Miss Pauline Breard, graduate from Randolph-Macon. They enjoyed the trip via the automobile route.

Mrs. Charles McCord's departure for her summer home in Chetek, Wis., will be delayed due to the train strike. Her reservations were made for next Wednesday but the time of departure now remains on the lap of the gods.

Fortunately Mr. and Mrs. Travis Oliver are en route home via airways otherwise their return from Miami Beach, Fla., where they were guests for two weeks at the Tatem Surf Club, would be delayed. Their visit was rendered exceptionally interesting by a trip via airways to the Bahama islands.

A handsome portrait of San Antonio's fiesta queen, Miss Dorothea Chittum, painted by Mrs. H. R. Saenger, formerly of this city, was exhibited during fiesta week in San Antonio. Mrs. Saenger, who started her portraiture work while residing in this city, has made remarkable strides in this field during the past few years. Her crowning achievement was the painting of Miss Chittum.

Mr. and Mrs. Barlow Inabnet and son, Barlow, Jr., just completed a most interesting automobile trip through North Carolina and Virginia. They visited their daughter, Mrs. L. P. McLendon, and Mr. McLendon, at Chapel Hill, N. C., where Mr. McLendon is completing his law course at the university, and then visited their son, Billy, student at Duke University. They attended commencement at the Baylor School for Boys at Chattanooga, Tenn., where their son, Jack, is a student. He accompanied his parents home.

A West Monroe girl, Miss Relda Sue Farmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Farmer, was named valedictorian of the 1946 graduating class of the Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge.

Miss Farmer, who was graduated from Northeast Junior College in 1944, is a social studies major with a 2.95 average for her four years' work. She was salutatorian of her high school class.

She holds membership in the Baptist Student Union, Mu Sigma Rho, honorary organization for juniors and seniors; Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social sciences organization, and Phi Kappa Phi, national honorary organization for the upper 10 per cent of the graduating class.

Commencement ceremonies are scheduled for Monday, May 27.

Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn's beautiful home on Riverside with its lovely vista of rear gardens seen from the wide windows of the solarium, was the setting for a charming program presented by members of the Musical Coterie in observance of the Coterie's 20th birthday anniversary. Three charter members, Mrs. Louise Hullum, Mrs. F. V. Allison and Mrs. Henry Whitfield were honored at this time. They were presented with handsome gifts. Mrs. Whitfield gave an interesting summary of the Coterie's activities dating back 20 years. The out-going officers, with Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, the capable president for the past two years, were given a vote of thanks for their splendid cooperation and work. Special guest for the Federation program was Mr. W. P. Grant, head of Northeast Junior College music department. Members of the Coterie were privileged to enjoy Mr. Grant's artistic piano performance of Schuman's Kreisleriana.

Mrs. J. C. Liner, Jr., Monroe regional chairman for the Louisiana Federation of Music Clubs, gave a brief summary of the activities and plans of the National and State Federation, which includes a foundation for the advancement of music. Basic purposes of the foundation, as follows: To encourage the composition and performance of music; to air performing and creative musical artists; to promote musical activities in the armed forces; to aid veterans in commencing or resuming musical careers. Other plans for activities include the establishment of refresher courses for returned musicians needing this assistance, and the opportunity of appearances before audiences for returned musicians when qualified. War service is a continuing program as there is still a great need for instruments for hospitals and for musical supplies for the men yet remaining in Europe and the Far East. Music in hospitals promises to be an all-time, all-important activity of the federation. Mrs. Liner stated that Louisiana was ninth in list of all states in the amount of specific war service donations. There'll be continued service to native talent through prizes, commissions and scholarships. Junior and student groups are a vital part of the organization. Aside from making possible the Stillman-Kelly scholarships awards, these groups have distinguished themselves through their support of the National Junior Red Cross, the China's Children Fund and the MacDowell fund. In closing, Mrs. Liner quoted a paragraph from a message by Mrs. Gannett, president of the National Federation of Music Clubs. "Without forsaking the national projects and national ideals which we have so long pursued, we must cultivate far vision. We must come to the realization that by virtue of our devotion to the great humanizing art of music, we have a strong link that binds us to all musicians everywhere. We must make future international organization one of our major objectives."

A social hour was enjoyed at the conclusion of the program and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, who was assisted in serving by Miss Marian Gordon-Fraser of New York City, house guest of Miss Biedenharn, Mrs. R. D. Prichard, Miss Mary Grace Lawn and Mrs. J. C. Liner, Jr. Guests of the Coterie were Mrs. LeRoy Anspach, Chattanooga, Tenn., a former member of the Coterie, Miss Marian Gordon-Fraser, Mr. W. P. Grant. Members present were Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Mrs. Clayton Stanhope, Mrs. W. P. Grant, Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Jr., Miss Mary Grace Lawn, Mrs. J. C. Liner, Jr., Mrs. R. J. Prichard, Mrs. Clyde Sanders, Mrs. A. M. Serex, Mrs. Henry Whitfield, Miss Gertrude Sandrock, Miss Betty Rinehart, Mrs. Alex Winn, and Miss Louise Smelser.

Purely Personal

The train strike hourly digs more deeply into the foundations of normal life but there's always the family automobile to fall back upon. College graduates will be able after all to see the face of their parents smiling at them from the audience commencement day. Mr. and Mrs. Carl McHenry will return home in a new automobile from Lynchburg, Va., following the graduation of their daughter, Miss Cornelia McHenry, from Randolph-Macon College. The automobile is Miss MsHenry's graduation gift from her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand V. Breard didn't let the train strike interfere with their trip to Lynchburg to see their daughter, Miss Pauline Breard, graduate from Randolph-Macon. They enjoyed the trip via the automobile route.

Mrs. Charles McCord's departure for her summer home in Chetek, Wis., will be delayed due to the train strike. Her reservations were made for next Wednesday but the time of departure now remains on the lap of the gods.

Fortunately Mr. and Mrs. Travis Oliver are en route home via airways otherwise their return from Miami Beach, Fla., where they were guests for two weeks at the Tatem Surf Club, would be delayed. Their visit was rendered exceptionally interesting by a trip via airways to the Bahama islands.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

A handsome portrait of San Antonio's fiesta queen, Miss Dorothea Chittum, painted by Mrs. H. R. Saenger, formerly of this city, was exhibited during fiesta week in San Antonio. Mrs. Saenger, who started her portraiture work while residing in this city, has made remarkable strides in this field during the past few years. Her crowning achievement was the painting of Miss Chittum.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

Mr. and Mrs. Barlow Inabnet and son, Barlow, Jr., just completed a most interesting automobile trip through North Carolina and Virginia. They visited their daughter, Mrs. L. P. McLendon, and Mr. McLendon, at Chapel Hill, N. C., where Mr. McLendon is completing his law course at the university, and then visited their son, Billy, student at Duke University. They attended commencement at the Baylor School for Boys at Chattanooga, Tenn., where their son, Jack, is a student. He accompanied his parents home.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

THE FIGHT MUST GO ON!

CANCER is the No. 2 Killer in the United States today. It claims the lives of more women between 35 and 55 than any other disease. In 1946, 90,000 women . . . many desperately needed to care for their families . . . will die of cancer.

More than 175,000 men, women and children will die of cancer during 1946. Unless something is done about cancer, 17,000,000 Americans now living will die of it. This means that one in every eight of us faces ultimate death from cancer.

SOMETHING CAN BE DONE ABOUT IT

One in three may be saved. Yes, many victims could be saved by early recognition of the symptoms, and by early and proper treatment. Lend your vigorous support to The American Cancer Society in its fight to overcome cancer in three ways:

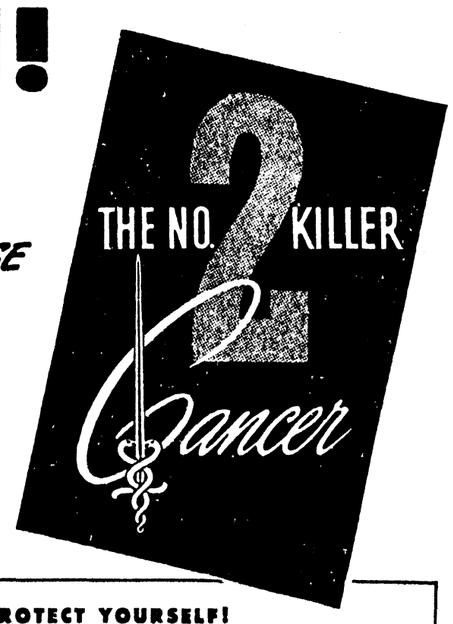

1. To spread the knowledge that cancer is often curable if correctly diagnosed in its early stages.

2. To provide the most modern facilities for the care and treatment of present cancer sufferers.

3. To maintain a comprehensive, nationwide cancer research program to discover the basic cause and the cure of cancer.

In the meantime protect yourself against cancer. Be sure that you and every member of your family sees a doctor regularly.

CANCER'S DANGER SIGNALS

2. A painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip or tongue.
3. Progressive change in the color or size of a wart, mole or birthmark.
4. Persistent indigestion.
5. Persistent hoarseness, unexplained cough, or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Bloody discharge from the nipple or from any of the natural body openings.

Pow-Wow Banquet Climaxes Season

Banquet Of Beautiful Appointment Climaxes Season Of Great Activity

Serving as a delightful climax to the work of 1945-46, staff members of the Pow Wow, Northeast Junior College newspaper, and special guests celebrated the occasion with a banquet in the Butterfly room of the Frances Hotel Saturday evening, May 18. The affair, which has become one of the happy traditions of the college, was one which will be long remembered for sheer enjoyment and artistry that marked every detail in its planning.

Gardenies, pink radiance roses and hydrangeas were used effectively on the table and in low bowls placed at vantage points throughout the spacious room. The central decoration was an exquisite Dresden basket overflowing with white lilies, gladioli and larkspur. Colorful corsages marked the place for feminine guests.

Adding gaiety to the occasion were clever place cards designed by Miss Mary Helen Walker, associate editor, and Mr. Erskine Currie, former feature editor. They portrayed something characteristic of each guest's work or personality. Also at each cover was an attractive printed program bearing the caption, "Ten Times All-American," the title which the paper holds as a result of its rating by the Associated Collegiate Press. Marked by originality, its page titles and menu, which were printed in journalistic terms, increased the merriment of the evening. The last page, termed "By-Lines," provided space for autographs that should serve to conjure up happy reminiscences in future years.

Miss Beverly Bogan, editor-in-chief, played the role of a gracious toastmistress. She was wearing a frock of white marquisette. The closely fitting off-the-shoulder bodice was joined to a long, billowy skirt. Gardenias encircled the frilly neckline. She introduced the following program:

Invocation, Miss Mary Clay; piano solo, Miss Kathryn Harrington; humorous reading, Miss Juanita Ferguson; vocal solo, Miss Bonnie Holloway, and prophecy, Mr. James Perry. Impromptu talks made by several special guests enhanced the atmosphere of good fellowship.

Among the surprises of the evening were the presentations of gifts to Miss Bogan and to Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, faculty adviser of the publication. Miss Bogan received a beautiful compact bearing the inscription, Pow Wow, 1946. The presentation was made by Mrs. Stahl on behalf of the staff. Miss Addie Mae McGough, editor of the Pow Wow during the first semester of the current school year, who graduated at that time, was unable to attend the banquet where she was to have received a similar gift. Miss Bogan spoke for the staff when she presented Mrs. Stahl with a handsome silver tray bearing the inscription, Pow Wow-'46.

WILL BE JUNE BRIDE

Miss Alva Anne Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irma A. Cobb, of Farmerville, La., whose engagement and approaching marriage to Curtis Augustus Cook, Jr., of Monroe, is announced today. The wedding will be solemnized June 14 at the First Methodist Church in Farmerville.

ST. MATTHEW'S CATHOLIC CHURCH IS THE SCENE OF BEAUTIFUL NUPTIAL EVENT

Miss Cecella Cascio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cascio, and Mr. Leonard V. Battistone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Battistone of New Castle, Pa., were united in marriage Sunday, May 12, at 4 o'clock, at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, with Rev. F. H. Hubley, officiating.

The alter of the church was decorated with white calla lilies and white candelabra. On either side of the alter, white lilies in tall pedestal urns were placed against the background of ferns. An arch of white centered the main alter railing.

While the guests were being seated by the ushers, Messrs. Edward Cazeaux, Frank Ticheli, Joseph D. Cascio, and Sam Danna, the soloist, Mrs. A. M. Serex, rendered in beautiful voice, "Ave Maria," accompanied by the organist, Mr. Leon Hammonds.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely original model of white marquisette with court train. The bodice yoke was embroidered with orange blossoms. The sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her veil of illusion fell below the shoulders and was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. For something old the bride wore a diamond necklace worn by her mother on her wedding day. For something borrowed, a pearl rosary of her cousin's. Her bouquet was of white carnations white stephanatis, and orchids.

The matrons of honor, Mrs. Joseph D. Cascio, of Monroe, and Mrs. Edward Cazeaux of New Orleans, wore identical models of pink net and carried old fashioned bouquets of pink carnations, snapdragons, and sweetpeas.

The bridesmaids, Miss Evangeline DeFiore, niece of the groom, from Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. Eugene Vannasa, sister of the groom, from New Castle, Pa.; Misses Adele Giglio, Despensa Kokinos, Gussie Jacola, and Marie Cuchinott. They wore lovely pastel models of different shades of net with hoop skirts. Their voluminous skirts fell in billowy folds from tight fitting bodices. Their old fashioned bouquets were of sweetpeas, snapdragons and carnations dyed to match the color of their gown. Mary Anna Embarnato served as flower girl. She wore a pastel pink net model and carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink carnations from which hung blue satin ribbons.

Later that evening a reception was held on the roof garden of the Virginia Hotel. The roof garden was beautifully decorated with white calla lilies and pink and white peonies. The bride's mother wore an aqua crepe model trimmed with pink organdy ruffles with pink accessories and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. A. T. Pendola, grandmother of the bride, wore a black silk crepe model trimmed in white with white accessories and corsage of orchids. The groom's mother wore a grey silk model with white accessories and orchid corsage.

The bride's table, overlaid with a lovely imported lace banquet cloth, was encircled with white lilies and interwoven with white tulle. The wedding cake, a luscious three-tiered confection surmounted with a miniature bride and groom standing under a florai arch, formed the center decor. The Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities met in the home of Mrs. I. W. Rogers for their first meeting of the new year—1946-47—with Mrs. Carey Holmes, Mrs. Jack Bagwell, and Mrs. P M. Caraway, co-hostesses.

The short business session was presided over by Mrs. J. A. Reid, president. Minutes of the preceding meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. J. W. Womack, Jr.

Mrs. W. A. Smith, program chairman, introduced Mrs. John P. Lewis, who discussed the subject, "Living Memorials." Mrs. Lewis said "Through the ages man has felt the need to build monuments to memoralize his gods, his rulers and himself. The pyramids of Egypt, the triumphal arches of ancient Rome, the Arc de Triomphe built by Napoleon in Paris, the Nelson shaft in London and many other old world examples erected in by-gone centuries are reminders of this fundamental urge of mankind. Our forebears in America through the years have also been prompted to honor the great, including military heroes with monuments.

"The war is over. We have won at a cost of work and blood. We will never forget the men and women who fought, nor the cause for which many died. To honor both men and the cause and to keep their memory green, we are going to make memorials to remind us and our children forever. We are exploring in our minds to determine what manner of memorials will best serve our purpose.

Mrs. Lewis continued by saying: "Now garden clubs and other civic organizations, communities and individuals throughout the country who wish by some beneficience or similar effort to express their appreciation or affection for 'those who sacrificed so much that we might remain free, are confronted with the problem of developing a suitable memorial. Much consideration has been given the matter by civic leaders, government officials, sculptors and landscape architects since Dec. 7, 1941. These leaders are unanimous in their belief in memorials but not in monuments.

"A memorial should be beautiful. Without beauty there can be no lasting appeal to the uplifting forces of reflection and consecration which is the sole purpose of a memorial. Today the greatest interest lies in the development of parks and recreation facilities where outdoor beauty can play a valuable role.

"Each community must decide what kind of memorial will best serve as a permanent tribute to its group of men and women who participated in World War II.

Mrs. Smith introduced Mrs. H. V. Collins, conservation chairman, who said: "Among the organizations engaged in promoting the practices of conservation in the United States, are our National Council of State Garden Clubs, our State Federations of Garden Clubs and our individual Garden Clubs.

"This is the golden opportunity to reach our Garden Club members through the meaning of conservation translated into terms of the home. We must prepare ourselves, we must inform ourselves to take our place with the conservation leaders of our nation in this national emergency. Conservation is the word of the hour, it is the hope of future generations.

Mrs. J W. Swift, horticulture chairman, outlined the horticulture program for the year: June, garden enemies; August, proper watering essentials; September, disbudding; October, storing bulbs; January, compost piles; April, accomplishments in horticulture.

Mrs. J. A. Reid made a report on the activities during the State Federation Garden Club convention held in Monroe. Further remarks were made by Mrs. I. W. Rogers. Members of the Welcome Garden Club of the Twin Cities were pleased with the announcement that one of their members, Mrs. Carey Holmes, won first place in the state program paper contest.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. O. R. Brauer, Mrs. A. R. Butler, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. A. B. Colmer, Mrs. Henson Coon, Mrs. J. R. Coulter, Mrs. H. E. Pow-Wow Banquet Climaxes Season

Banquet Of Beautiful Appointment Climaxes Season Of Great Activity

Serving as a delightful climax to the work of 1945-46, staff members of the Pow Wow, Northeast Junior College newspaper, and special guests celebrated the occasion with a banquet in the Butterfly room of the Frances Hotel Saturday evening, May 18. The affair, which has become one of the happy traditions of the college, was one which will be long remembered for sheer enjoyment and artistry that marked every detail in its planning.

Gardenies, pink radiance roses and hydrangeas were used effectively on the table and in low bowls placed at vantage points throughout the spacious room. The central decoration was an exquisite Dresden basket overflowing with white lilies, gladioli and larkspur. Colorful corsages marked the place for feminine guests.

Adding gaiety to the occasion were clever place cards designed by Miss Mary Helen Walker, associate editor, and Mr. Erskine Currie, former feature editor. They portrayed something characteristic of each guest's work or personality. Also at each cover was an attractive printed program bearing the caption, "Ten Times All-American," the title which the paper holds as a result of its rating by the Associated Collegiate Press. Marked by originality, its page titles and menu, which were printed in journalistic terms, increased the merriment of the evening. The last page, termed "By-Lines," provided space for autographs that should serve to conjure up happy reminiscences in future years.

Miss Beverly Bogan, editor-in-chief, played the role of a gracious toastmistress. She was wearing a frock of white marquisette. The closely fitting off-the-shoulder bodice was joined to a long, billowy skirt. Gardenias encircled the frilly neckline. She introduced the following program:

Invocation, Miss Mary Clay; piano solo, Miss Kathryn Harrington; humorous reading, Miss Juanita Ferguson; vocal solo, Miss Bonnie Holloway, and prophecy, Mr. James Perry. Impromptu talks made by several special guests enhanced the atmosphere of good fellowship.

Among the surprises of the evening were the presentations of gifts to Miss Bogan and to Mrs. Annie Lee West Stahl, faculty adviser of the publication. Miss Bogan received a beautiful compact bearing the inscription, Pow Wow, 1946. The presentation was made by Mrs. Stahl on behalf of the staff. Miss Addie Mae McGough, editor of the Pow Wow during the first semester of the current school year, who graduated at that time, was unable to attend the banquet where she was to have received a similar gift. Miss Bogan spoke for the staff when she presented Mrs. Stahl with a handsome silver tray bearing the inscription, Pow Wow-'46.

WILL BE JUNE BRIDE

Miss Alva Anne Cobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irma A. Cobb, of Farmerville, La., whose engagement and approaching marriage to Curtis Augustus Cook, Jr., of Monroe, is announced today. The wedding will be solemnized June 14 at the First Methodist Church in Farmerville.

ST. MATTHEW'S CATHOLIC CHURCH IS THE SCENE OF BEAUTIFUL NUPTIAL EVENT

Miss Cecella Cascio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cascio, and Mr. Leonard V. Battistone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Battistone of New Castle, Pa., were united in marriage Sunday, May 12, at 4 o'clock, at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, with Rev. F. H. Hubley, officiating.

The alter of the church was decorated with white calla lilies and white candelabra. On either side of the alter, white lilies in tall pedestal urns were placed against the background of ferns. An arch of white centered the main alter railing.

While the guests were being seated by the ushers, Messrs. Edward Cazeaux, Frank Ticheli, Joseph D. Cascio, and Sam Danna, the soloist, Mrs. A. M. Serex, rendered in beautiful voice, "Ave Maria," accompanied by the organist, Mr. Leon Hammonds.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely original model of white marquisette with court train. The bodice yoke was embroidered with orange blossoms. The sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her veil of illusion fell below the shoulders and was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. For something old the bride wore a diamond necklace worn by her mother on her wedding day. For something borrowed, a pearl rosary of her cousin's. Her bouquet was of white carnations white stephanatis, and orchids.

The matrons of honor, Mrs. Joseph D. Cascio, of Monroe, and Mrs. Edward Cazeaux of New Orleans, wore identical models of pink net and carried old fashioned bouquets of pink carnations, snapdragons, and sweetpeas.

The bridesmaids, Miss Evangeline DeFiore, niece of the groom, from Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. Eugene Vannasa, sister of the groom, from New Castle, Pa.; Misses Adele Giglio, Despensa Kokinos, Gussie Jacola, and Marie Cuchinott. They wore lovely pastel models of different shades of net with hoop skirts. Their voluminous skirts fell in billowy folds from tight fitting bodices. Their old fashioned bouquets were of sweetpeas, snapdragons and carnations dyed to match the color of their gown. Mary Anna Embarnato served as flower girl. She wore a pastel pink net model and carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink carnations from which hung blue satin ribbons.

Later that evening a reception was held on the roof garden of the Virginia Hotel. The roof garden was beautifully decorated with white calla lilies and pink and white peonies. The bride's mother wore an aqua crepe model trimmed with pink organdy ruffles with pink accessories and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. A. T. Pendola, grandmother of the bride, wore a black silk crepe model trimmed in white with white accessories and corsage of orchids. The groom's mother wore a grey silk model with white accessories and orchid corsage.

The bride's table, overlaid with a lovely imported lace banquet cloth, was encircled with white lilies and interwoven with white tulle. The wedding cake, a luscious three-tiered confection surmounted with a miniature bride and groom standing under a floral arch, formed the center decor. The bride and groom cut their wedding cake in the presence of the bridal party and friends. Individual wedding cakes and fruit punch and champagne was served.

Before leaving on her honeymoon the bride changed her wedding raiment for a lovely traveling suit of brown trimmed with gold wool. A white lace blouse was worn. She wore a corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Battistone will spend their honeymoon in Dallas, Tex., and Mexico City. Upon their return to Monroe they will be at home to their friends at 520 Erin avenue.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's family from New Castle, Pa., and Youngstown, Ohio. Relatives and friends of the bride from New Orleans, La., Shreveport, La., Columbia, La., Baton Rouge, La., and Dallas, Tex.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by MILTON CANIFF

DON'T TELL ME YOUR ATTEMPTED VISIT WITH THE DRAGON LADY HAS BROKEN YOUR SPIRIT, HOTSHOT!

SHE ONLY TREATED YOU AS ANY BOSTON HOSTESS WOULD TREAT YOU—IF IT WEREN'T FOR THE DICTATES OF CIVILIZATION!

WE THINK THE DRAGON LADY IS IMPORTING AND EXPORTING CONTRABAND GOODS ON THIS AIRLINE! YOU COULD TURN HER IN TO THE CHINESE CUSTOMS OFFICIALS!

BESIDES, I CAN'T STAND A SNITCHER! —IF IT WERE A CRIME AGAINST THE UNITED STATES, THAT WOULD BE ANOTHER MATTER!

MEANWHILE...

I COULD NOT RESIST, MASTER! YOU ARE SO BEAUTIFUL...

CLOWN! OAF!

I AM AN OAF, AM I?.. I AM A CLOWN, AM I?

Baron de PLEXUS

DICK TRACY

CHESTER GOULD

WHY DON'T YOU CONFESS, SO WE CAN GET THIS THING CLEARED UP? YOU'LL FEEL MUCH BETTER.

AUTOPSY SHOWS THE CHAUFFEUR WAS POISONED, AND IN EXAMINING THE DRAIN OF THE WASHSTAND IN NILON'S CELL, WE FOUND THE CRUSHED REMNANTS OF A GLASS VIAL.

YOU TWO DIDN'T WANT THE CHAUFFEUR TO TALK. YOU WERE AFRAID HE'D TELL US WHAT YOU DID WITH MORTIMER'S BODY.

WHAT ARE YOU TALKING ABOUT, DETECTIVE?

I WANT MY LAWYER!

YOU'LL NEED ONE.

WE FOUND MORTIMER'S BOOT HEEL OUT IN THE COUNTRY. WE ALSO FOUND SOIL SAMPLES ON NILON'S SHOES, AND FOOTPRINTS THAT INDICATED THE THREE OF YOU WERE AT THE SAME SCENE.

DO YOU REMEMBER A NEW CEMENT ROAD? DO YOU, NILON, REMEMBER THIS WATCHMAN CHANGING A TIRE FOR YOU?

THAT'S THE LADY, ALL RIGHT.

THE TIRE HAD BEEN DEFLATED PREVIOUSLY. THE WATCHMAN NOTICED THE VALVE INSIDES HAD BEEN UNSCREWED.

ALL RIGHT, STOP! I'LL TALK. I'LL TELL EVERYTHING. I—I CAN'T STAND IT.

WHAT!

WE DID TAKE THE BODY OUT THERE! WE HID IT IN THE GRAVEL ROADBED. IT'S UNDER THE NEW PAVEMENT NOW!

HE LIES!

ONE HOUR LATER.

BLOCK OFF ALL TRAFFIC, AND TELL THE BOYS TO SET UP THEIR AIR HAMMER.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
Copyright, 1946, by The Chicago Tribune.

HE'S CRAZY! YOU'VE MADE HIM ABSOLUTELY NUTTY BY YOUR QUESTIONING. YOU WON'T FIND A BODY THERE.

THAT'S THE SPOT. KEEP DIGGING!

ROD'S VOICE

BUT I'M STILL STUCK WITH $10,000 OF HIS NO-GOOD COLLATERAL!

"HOT" BONDS-- STOLEN IN A BIG CITY ROBBERY... I'LL HAVE TO RETURN THEM TO THE RIGHTFUL OWNERS!

MMM! SOME TOBACCO'S IN THIS ONE, EASY!

ADOLPH IS ONE MAN IN THIS CASE WHO ROLLS HIS OWN! AND HE KNOWS A LOT MORE THAN HE'S TOLD US!

A FEW MINUTES LATER:

SOMEBODY GOT HERE AHEAD OF US, EASY!

YES, SUH! ADOLPH PAID WITH HIS LIFE WHEN HE TRIED TO BLACKMAIL THE MAN WHO SWINDLED YOU--WHICH WASN'T VEESE, BECAUSE VEESE IS DEAD, TOO!

SOMEONE IN THE BANK HAD A BETTER OPPORTUNITY THAN VEESE TO TRIM YOU, OLDECKER! A PERSON WHO WAS GAMBLING WITH BANK MONEY AND HAD TO COVER UP!

CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY!

THIS MAN SWITCHED "HOT" SECURITIES-- WHICH ADOLPH GOT FOR HIM-- FOR VEESE'S GOOD COLLATERAL! THE MAN WAS SUNNINGTON!

YOU'D BETTER BACK UP WHAT YOU SAY, EASY! YOUR THEORY DOESN'T EXPLAIN EVERYTHING--MUCH HINGES ON WHETHER VEESE WAS CROOKED OR NOT!

MEANWHILE--

HELLO, MR. SUNNINGTON! WANT HER FILLED UP?

REMBRANDT IS ALL RIGHT, BUT HERE AND THERE I'VE FOUND HIS ART A BIT SPOTTY— HAR-RUMPH!

NOW YOU TAKE BOTTICELLI— VERY EFFECTIVE, BUT I'D SAY HE DISPLAYED A STRANGE WEAKNESS OF PERSPECTIVE!

STRIKE PARALYZES SOFT COAL OUTPUT

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

George Spelvin, American, whipped out in the far suburbs the other day to wangle a slab of hog-side and a lump of butter from a fellow who farms a little patch. On the way home he met a neighbor kid who was doing guard duty at a camp for German prisoners of war.

Mr. Spelvin was pleasantly surprised over the chance meeting and, after a few minutes of this and that, George asked the kid what about the heinie Pows.

Did they yearn for a democracy like ours?

"Well," the kid said, "they do and they don't, because when the officers start giving them that old democracy line the lectures, well these Krauts realize that if they don't yes the ears off them they may never get home to Germany, but if this is democracy that we are getting lately, you can have my undivided share to Eleanor and Sidney Hillman because it is pretty hard to keep a straight face to a German.

"Like the other day, one of these guys was asking me, he said, 'How is it Herr Lewis can close down all the coal mines, even when the president says he shouldn't do like so, because,' he says, 'Hitler never let nobody do like so in Deutschland. If the government can't run the American Reich and a few big shots can ruin everything, then the big shots are bigger than the government,' he said.

"Well, I was reading Eleanor the other day where the gab she said she and her friends, like Sidney and all, had finally taken economic control away from big business and given economic control to the government so it could be run for the benefit of the people. I hit the German with that figuring I couldn't go wrong quoting the lip but he gave me a dumb look and asked me if the government had control like she says, then how come the Americans still can't get any automobiles and this Reuther can dictate how much profit the automobile manufacturers can earn. Because, he says, any guy who can do that or any guy who can stop your coal or your railroads is just like Hitler and they control the government whether you call them a fuehrer or a labor leader or whatever the hell. And he said if a country as big and rich as ours couldn't even produce enough clothing for the people and discharged soldiers couldn't find any place to live because the union bums won't let the working people manufacture building material, well maybe democracy is beautiful but, with us, we always knew Hitler was working for Germany and not for Russia or just the coal miners or the pants-pressers.

"'Under Hitler,' the fellow said, 'we paid income taxes to the Reich but we didn't have to pay income tax to union gangsters. But here in Amer-

DR. HOLMES OF ORLEANS DIES

Minister Who Led Fight Against Legalized Gambling Expires

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—(AP)—Death came yesterday to Dr. W. W. Holmes, Methodist minister who has supplied pulpits in all parts of Louisiana, and who led the fight of New Orleans clergymen against proposals for legalized gambling in the city.

Funeral services were arranged for this afternoon at the Rayne Memorial Methodist Church of which he was formerly pastor.

Dr. Holmes was chairman of the social betterment committee of the New Orleans Ministerial Union, which has militantly opposed the attempts of the city administration to have certain types of gambling legalized.

A city referendum is scheduled for tomorrow on one phase of the administration plan, the licensing of handbooks. The Ministerial Union has refused to associate itself with the referendum, although Mayor de Lesseps S. Morrison has asked his opponents to furnish poll commissioners and other election officials.

Dr. Holmes was district superintendent of the Methodist Church, and had been superintendent of the Shreveport district while serving as pastor of the Noel Memorial Church there. For 24 years he was a member of the Louisiana delegation to the General Methodist Conference, and headed the delegation for about half that time.

Since coming to the Louisiana Conference in 1903, Dr. Holmes had been pastor of churches at Houma, Shreve-

HUNT FOR BODY OF FISHERMAN

Called to Big Corney lake near Bernice, Union parish, at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, the Monroe American Legion rescue unit remained there Monday with firemen assisting in a search for the body of a sawmill employe named Taylor who was swept away to death in the swift waters of a spillway when a skiff capsized.

Taylor had been fishing with a brother, who also was thrown into the water but managed to swim ashore. The drowned man, who was said to have been about 50 years of age, lived in the vicinity of the lake.

Molotov Charges Britain And U. S. 'Ganged Up' On Russia

Asserts Soviet Won't Yield To Threats And Intimidation

By Rembert James

MOSCOW, May 27.—(AP)—Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov asserted today that a United States and British "bloc" had waged an offensive against Russia at the four-power meeting of foreign ministers in Paris.

He declared that the proposals of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes for writing European peace treaties in the United Nations Assembly if there was no agreement this summer among the four leading nations, was contrary to decisions made at the Potsdam conference of President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain and Premier Stalin.

Russia, he said, would not be forced into acceptance of British and American proposals by "threats and intimidation."

"The prestige of the Security Council (of the U. N.) has already been subjected to grave trials," Molotov said in a full page statement published in the official newspaper Pravda, giving his view of the recent Paris meeting of Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and himself.

The suggestion that the United Nations consider the draft of peace treaties, Molotov said, "is one more attempt to break up the procedure of concerted work which was established in recent years and to utilize methods

WHITNEY WILL FIGHT TRUMAN

Trainmen's Union Head Says President Won't Be Reelected

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—A. F. Whitney's threat to stack the entire $47,000,000 treasury of his trainmen's union against a second term for President Truman set politically-conscious Washington buzzing today.

The big question was:

What will organized labor do this fall and in 1948, now that Mr. Truman has gone "tough" on major strikes?

Whitney so far is the first to venture a flat prediction. Bitter over the White House terms on which he and Alvanley Johnston, of the Trainmen's Brotherhood, were forced to settle the two-day railroad strike, Whitney told a reporter:

But another brotherhood leader questioned Whitney's view:

T. C. Cashen, president of the Switchmen's Union, said he agreed with Whitney's contention that the chief executive's call for vast new powers to deal with major strikes would be "harmful" to labor.

However, to a direct question whether he considered the president's

NEW YORK NEWS PRESIDENT DIES

Joseph Medill Patterson Succumbs To Liver Ailment

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—Joseph Medill Patterson, 67, founder and president of the New York Daily News, died yesterday in Doctors Hospital where he had been under treatment for a liver ailment since May 11.

His body will lie in state today in the Patterson home in Ossining, N. Y. Burial will be in the Arlington, Va., National Cemetery on Wednesday.

President of the News Syndicate Co., which publishes the News, Patterson guided his paper until it had achieved the largest circulation in the United States.

He was the eldest member of a publishing triumvirate whose bitter opposition to the foreign policies of President Franklin D. Roosevelt preceding the Second World War provoked violent controversy.

His sister, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, publishes the Washington Times-Herald, and his cousin, Col. Robert R. McCormick, is publisher of the Chicago Tribune. Patterson also was president of the Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate, which distributes features appearing in the two papers.

"The Daily News" was launched in 1919 and had a circulation of 57,000 the first year.

Now it has a circulation of more than 2,250,000 daily and 4,500,000 Sunday.

DOOR FOUND OPEN TO CAGE OF LIONS

DETROIT, May 27.—(AP)—Ten squad cars of armed police prowled northwest Detroit early today for a cageful of lions reported on the loose—then learned with relief it was a false alarm.

A watchman started the hunt when he noticed a door ajar on the wagon where five lions were waiting to be loaded onto a train. They belong to the Barnes Bros. Circus which finished a 12-day stay here last night.

Two of the animals were poking their noses out of the door when police arrived. No one knew if any, or how many had escaped until their trainer Terrell Jacobs arrived, armed with his chair.

Jacobs counted lions and said all were present. The animals had clawed six square feet out of a canvas covering over the wagon door and broken both inside and outside locks on their cage.

BANKHEAD IMPROVES

SLEEPER ROBBED OF $1,267 CASH

DeSiord Grocer Awakes To Find His Wallets And Watch Missing

While John Bezz, 77-year-old grocer, lay asleep in his bedroom at the rear of his small store, 1105 DeSiard street, early Sunday morning, ten $100 bills and currency of smaller denomination were extracted from his trousers that hung on a chair at the side of his bed. Also taken was his Bond Special, 22-jewel, white gold pocket watch and a penknife and key chain.

Bezz had retired at 10:30 p. m. Saturday and was awakened at 3 a. m. Sunday when, rolling over in sleep, his hand struck the edge of an outside door which he had left ajar but which had swung fully open. Then he found the screen door partly open and discovered a hole had been cut in the wire to unhook the latch.

His quick suspicion of burglary was confirmed when he hastily searched his trousers and found the two billfolds and other valuables missing. He ran to the street and notified a passing night watchman, who summoned police. The watchman said he had seen no one in the vicinity of the Bezz place, which is opposite the old City Cemetery.

Mrs. Bezz, who sleeps in another room, recalled having been awakened at 2:30 a. m. by the fluttering of

'LIQUOR GUZZLING' AT U. N. MEETS HIT

BOSTON, May 27.—(AP)—Denouncing what he termed excessive "guzzling of liquor" by United Nations members, Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of Boston University, said yesterday "no wonder that so many of the international conferences turn out to be lost week-ends!"

In a prepared baccalaureate address, the educator declared that "a thoughtful person cannot help being distressed at the reports of drunkenness attending diplomatic and international gatherings."

"One of the first things that had to be done for the United Nations Council on the campus of Hunter College was to set up a private bar for the members," Dr. Marsh said.

"I am not a fanatic on this subject, but it is time for somebody to call attention to the fact that the members of he United Nations would think more clearly and act more patiently if there were less guzzling of liquor by its members."

Says Veteran Cannot Displace Employe With Longer Service

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The supreme court today decided veterans do not have "super-seniority" rights to their pre-war jobs.

The decision came on a suit by Abraham Fishgold, a Brooklyn welder and war veteran.

He contended that under the selective service act, he was entitled to regular work for one year on his old job with the Sullivan Drydock and Repair Corporation—even though that would require laying off a non-veteran worker with greater seniority.

The justice department appealed on behalf of Fishgold contending that Congress intended a veteran to have unlimited right to one year's reemployment at his old job, regardless of seniority or greater skill of other workers who did not go into the service.

The C. I. O. Marine and Shipbuilding Workers Union said such a view of the act would cause conflict with union bargaining contracts based on seniority and would "upset the whole fabric of industrial relations."

Fishgold worked at the Sullivan plant four and one half months before he was inducted in May, 1943. He was discharged from the army in July, 1944, and went back to his old job. Work slackened and he was laid off

'RIGHT TO WORK' BILLS ENDORSED

C. Of C. Urges State Legislators To Support Measures

Passage of legislation intended to curb "radical and illegitimate labor practices" is being urged by the board of directors and membership of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce.

Sponsored by the organization's committee on state legislation a membership meeting at Hemp's cafeteria Friday night went on record unanimously as requesting legislators to support H. B. 104, a joint resolution to be voted on by the electors of Louisiana in November as a constitutional amendment which permits the right to work without being required to join a labor union. Also they unanimously approved H. B. 105, an enabling act to H. B. 104, and S. B. 37 by Senators Goff and King, which has been called the "Little Case Bill", because of its similarity to the Case bill passed by the national House and now pending in the U. S. Senate.

This S. B. 37 will make labor contracts enforceable, will require labor organizations to live up to contracts, will permit labor organizations to be sued, will prohibit violence or a conspiracy in restraint of trade the legislative committee reported. It was brought out in the discussions that this legislation was needed on the state level to apply to intrastate commerce.

George D. Holland, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting, and stated that the attitude of the board of directors of the Chamber, in taking a position favoring these bills, did not oppose the right of labor to strike or to bargain collectively, or the right of any man to affiliate with a labor union if he elected to do so. What the Chamber's board and membership opposed was the requirement of union membership before a man is privileged to work, as is required where the closed shop is invoked. "The right to live includes the right to work," Holland declared. "The exercise of the right to work must be protected and maintained

TRUMAN GIVEN PRAISE AND CRITICISM FOR FIRM STAND

(By Associated Press)

Many labor leaders were outspoken today in their condemnation of President Truman's proposed anti-strike legislation, but a cross-section of business men greeted the bill with acclamation.

Smarting under the president's rebukes, A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said his union would use its entire $47,000,000 treasury if necessary "to defeat Mr. Truman if he tries to run again for president."

"My board of directors already has authorized me to spend $2,500,000 to defeat the members of congress who have voted for the shackling labor legislation Mr. Truman has proposed," Whitney said.

On the other side, George W. Catts, executive manager of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, said he had sent a message to the president commending his action in the rail strike and assuring him of support on the labor bill. He said the message was sent after the chamber checked 25 business and civic groups.

Among the most bitter of the labor leaders was Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union (C. I. O.), who said:

"President Truman has committed treason against the people of the United States. He has become the number one strike-breaker of the American bankers and railroads."

He spoke at a New York meeting during which some 1,200 C. I. O. officials adopted a resolution asking defeat of the proposed bill.

GREEN FLAYS TRUMAN MOVE

Terms Strike-Draft Program 'Slave Labor Under Fascism'

MEASURE IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—A. F. of L. President William Green today denounced President Truman's strike-draft program as "slave labor under Fascism."

Green declared in a statement that the A. F. of L. will resist the legislation, already passed by the House and now before the Senate, "to its last breath." He said the same opposition will be thrown against the Case labor disputes bill.

The measure requested by President Truman at a joint session of Congress Saturday, Green said, "ranges the government on the side of private industry against labor."

The legislation, against which Republican senators have opened a campaign of amendments, provides among other things for the military induction of employes who refuse to work for a government-operated plant.

Green's statement was issued as Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, began on the Senate floor a section-by-section explanation of the bill. He said "no one can disagree" with its general statement of policy.

The House meanwhile deferred action until later in the week on the Senate version of the Case labor disputes bill. Among other things, the measure would require a 60-day cooling off period.

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, entered the Senate debate on the president's program by declaring Mr. Truman already had sufficient power to end a strike "without a labor draft."

Vandenberg contended that provisions of the emergency bill—without the power to draft striking workers into the army—plus the "moral sanctions" of the president's office, were sufficient to cope with the situation.

"Frankly," said Barkley, "the president didn't think so." He added that "it was felt" that the times when it would become necessary to use the power to draft workers would be "rare."

Green's statement said:

"The American Federation of Labor cautions Congress and the president to take time out to consider carefully before going ahead with this program. If it is put into effect, Fascism may grip America unawares.

"Even the effects of a nation-wide

USE OF POWER SERMON THEME

Dr. Serex Tells O. P. H. S. Graduates To Use It Wisely

"The Use of Power," was the theme of the baccalaureate address by Dr. A. M. Serex, to the more than 225 members of the class of 1946 of Ouachita Parish High School, in the school auditorium, Sunday at 3 p. m. His text was from Jeremiah 9:23.

He said in part: "Once yearly the community assembles to honor the graduates of this school. Today, honored as your selection as speaker, I feel that the use of power will form the imminent question to be faced by your generation.

"Power: This has been the magic word of the modern era of the world's history. Sometimes we hear that people are dominated by desire for money, fame or influence. Analyzed, it is found that power is the root of the desire. The search for power and more power has been the chief ambition of our modern civilization. During the past few years, man has gained more insight and control over the powers of nature than all the balance of history put together. Science has made startling, significant inventions climaxing within less than a year ago in the release of atomic energy.

"In the field of human activities, the power of organization, efficiency and the marshalling together of human resources has been exploited amazingly. We have learned to act in groups, large masses of people, united by a common purpose, for the achievement of a single objective. The world had never before seen anything like this.

"Also the world is more educated than ever and that means release of more power. What is education? Education is a process which trains, intensifies and develops subtle forces of mind and personality, increases the

NEW YORK GREETS 8TH FLEET SHIPS

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—New York welcomed 22 fighting ships of Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's Eighth fleet today, including the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and the battleship Missouri.

The vessels arrived off New York early today and will dock here for the celebration of Fleet week. Eight others arrived yesterday and 13 more are due later this week.

Mine Shutdown Is Nearly Complete

President Truman's Personal Intervention Fails To Win Continuation Of Truce; Conferences In Progress

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—The government and John L. Lewis failed again today to settle the strike that has halted virtually all soft coal production. Another effort will be made at 3 p. m. (E. S. T.)

For two and one-half hours Lewis and the negotiating committee met with Secretary of Interior Krug, federal mine boss, and his deputy, Vice-Admiral Ben Moreell.

Then Lewis stalked out, referring newsmen to Krug. The secretary sent reporters this message:

"We will meet again at 3:00 p. m."

John J. O'Leary, vice-president of the United Mine Workers, will accompany Lewis to the afternoon conference.

Some indication that an agreement was in the making came from the White House steps when Senate Democratic Leader Barkley, Kentucky, termed the prospects "hopeful."

The army dispatched soldiers into Kentucky and kept other troops ready for possible strike duty in the chief coal producing states. Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler, chief of the Fifth service command, was quoted at Columbus, Ohio, as saying that if coal miners "want to work we'll see that they get to work."

Leaving the office of Secretary of Interior Krug after a two and one-half hour conference, Lewis told reporters:

"I have no statement. You'll have to depend on the secretary (J. A. Krug), and I don't know what success you'll have."

One newsman commented that he appeared to be in a happy mood.

"That's because I'm going to lunch," Lewis replied.

Admiral Ben Moreell, Krug's deputy for operation of the coal mines, sat in on the meeting.

Despite federal seizure of the bituminous pits, early reports from the field indicated that most of the nation's 400,000 soft coal diggers are remaining at home and possibly will until Lewis gives them the signal to return. A two-week strike truce ended Saturday night.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, showed up promptly at 10 a. m. (EST) for a conference with Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, federal mine boss. The meeting was arranged after President Truman's personal intervention last night failed to win a continuation of the truce.

The U. M. W. chieftain was accompanied by seven other members of the union's negotiating committee when he arrived at the interior department. Asked whether he had anything to say, Lewis replied:

"Nothing."

Mr. Truman scheduled only one formal conference today—with legislative leaders—leaving him free, if necessary, to reenter the soft coal negotiations.

The apparent coal shutdown, a renewal of the 42-day-long strike that ended with the truce on May 13, poised a new threat to the nation's railroads, operating again after the dramatic settlement of the rail labor dispute.

Aside from the negotiations with Lewis, the government apparently contemplated stern measures to keep mines running. Troops were sent into

TOLERANCE IS NEED OF WORLD

So Declares Dr. Cottingham In N. J. C. Baccalaureate Talk

If we are to enjoy peace, prosperity and happiness, we shall have to achieve this end through tolerance and a fuller, more complete understanding of other nations of the world. This was the keynote of the address of Dr. Claymrook Cottingham, president of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, delivered at Northeast Junior College, Sunday afternoon, before the sophomore class at the 14th baccalaureate exercises.

The speaker recalled how Langley had been eager to master the mysteries of flying and had constructed a machine which he tried out on the banks of the Potomac river. The machine, observed by a large throng, fluttered a bit in the air and then fell into the river. Later it was placed in the Smithsonian Institute.

"A few years later," the speaker said, "two young men had a different viewpoint, they did not propose to build a machine to fly but trained themselves to fly. On the sand dunes of North Carolina, swept by winds from the Atlantic, they tried with a glider to balance themselves in the air.

"After prolonged efforts, when aviation was found to be possible, Curtis got permission to take out the Langley plane which had gone ignominously into the river, and it was found to be able to fly the machine.

"Nations of the world, represented at Bretton Woods, and Dumbarton Oaks, have sought to set up some sort of international organization to prevent war and to bring peace, prosperity and happiness to this rapidly shrinking world. Finally nations of the world met in San Francisco and now in New York and Paris in an endeavor to get a new setup machine to work. I wonder if the people of the world are not making the mistake of those who worked for hundreds of years vainly trying to master the problem of aviation. Once we set up the right machinery, we shall have world peace.

"This old world today is in critical condition. All sorts of plans to aid in a remedy are being advanced but I greatly doubt if any sort of machinery will produce world peace. Helpful as machinery is to the world, I do not believe that any machinery can bring the world, happiness, prosperity and peace. Man must be willing to endure things necessary for peace. What we need is not machinery building but to learn to fly. And what must we learn to live happily? 1. Possess a willingness to understand the world. 2. An unselfish spirit and willingness to live a life of service.

"I do not believe we can understand

MEMORIAL MEDICAL CENTER IS SOUGHT

BATON ROUGE, La., May 27.—(Special)—A constitutional amendment creating the Confederate Memorial Medical Center, a new and modern hospital serving North Louisiana, will draw strong support from legislators representing that area, as well as the Caddo and Bossier contingent.

The measure, which would replace Charity Hospital with a new institution, bore the names of 12 representatives when introduced last week: Wellborn Jack, Chris Stovall, Turner Morgan and Julien K. Smith, of Caddo; Jimmy Boyd, Bossier; C. W. Thompson, of Webster; Sylvan Friedman and Numa T. DeLouche, of Natchitoches; C. O. Webb, of Red River; R. S. Williams, of DeSoto; F. E. Cole, of Sabine; and W. M. Rainach, of Claiborne. It has been referred to the house judiciary "A" committee, which may hold hearings this week.

The memorial center would have not less than 700 beds and would have adequate facilities for treatment of poliomyelitis, cancer, the chronic and acutely ill, and psychiatric disorders. Site for the center, back of the Shrine Memorial Hospital, has already been purchased at a cost of $27,910, and the remainder of a $450,000 bond issue is already available for construction.

G. I. BABY DEATHS INCREASED TO 9

NEW YORK, May 27.—(AP)—As the number of G. I. babies to die in the past week rose to nine, a U. S. representative called on the war department for "full information" on conditions aboard the bride ships where the infants became ill.

In Washington, Rep. Jackson, Democrat, Washington, said he would ask the department about the deaths, and "if I am not satisfied, I will ask the House military affairs committee to call war department officials before it and make a complete investigation."

He said he had been asked by Clarence Lervick, father of one of the infants who died, for an investigation into responsibility for the deaths.

Latest fatalities were two-month-old Alvin Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Harris, of Fulton, N. Y., and ten-month-old Vinita Carter, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. H. S. Carter of Wallinton, Tex.

The Harris boy died in a hospital in Fulton Saturday and the Carter girl in Fort Hamilton station hospital, Brooklyn, last night.

Meanwhile, eight other babies were admitted to the Fort Hamilton hospital yesterday as "a precautionary measure" suffering from what army authorities said was "mild malnutrition." They arrived aboard the George Goethals.

Saturday, one adult and 26 babies from the President Tyler were admitted suffering from diarrhea and possible respiratory infections.

SHH-HUSH, KAYO! I'VE BEEN WAITING TWO HOURS FOR LADY PLUSHBOTTOM TO GO TO SLEEP- NOW, I HOPE YOU HAVEN'T AWAKENED HER.

NAW, SHE'S STILL ASLEEP.

LISTEN, KAYO- I WILL GIVE YOU A DIME IF YOU GO CRAWL IN MY BED AND SNORE REAL LOUD TILL I GET HOME.

WHEN SHE HEARS KAYO SNORING SHE WILL THINK ITS ME AND NEVER SUSPECT I'M OUT.

AHA!

OH OH.

SO!

NOW YOU GET IN BED AND STAY THERE.

BUT, EMMA, I WAS ONLY GOING OUT TO SILENCE THAT CAT ON THE FENCE. I WAS AFRAID IT WOULD DISTURB YOU.

OH, I'M SO SORRY I MISJUDGED YOU, LORD PLUSHBOTTOM. PLEASE... PLEASE FORGIVE ME FOR BEING SO IMPULSIVE.

WELL, DON'T EVER LET IT HAPPEN AGAIN.

SAY, PLUSHIE, SHALL I GO DOWN TO TH' POOL PARLOR AND TELL MOON AND THE BOYS THEY NEEDN'T WAIT ANY LONGER?

WELL, YOU NEEDN'T FEEL SO BAD ABOUT NOT BEIN' ABLE TO GO SHOOT POOL, PLUSHIE. YOU COULDN'T SEE TH' BALL YOU WERE AIMIN' AT, ANYWAY.

THE GUMPS

WE'VE BEEN MARRIED MORE YEARS THAN YOU ADMIT YOUR AGE TO BE - YET YOU'RE JEALOUS OF ME AND THE BEAUTIFUL COUNTESS.

DON'T FLATTER YOURSELF- I'M NOT JEALOUS- JUST CURIOUS!

THE FACT THAT SHE HAPPENS TO BE ER- ATTRACTIVE HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH IT- THERE ARE A COUPLE OF QUESTIONS I'D LIKE ANSWERED- NOW!

YOU MAY FIRE WHEN READY, GRIDLEY-

GUS EDSON

HE LEFT HOME IN HIS EARLY YOUTH, SHIPPED BEFORE THE MAST AND WAS AWAY SO LONG, HIS FAMILY THOUGHT HIM DEAD-

BUT- HE WAS ALIVE AND KICKING!! KNOWING ALMOST EVERY INCH OF THE SHORE-LINE OF THE TWO CONTINENTS, HE DID A THRIVING BUSINESS TRAFFICKING WITH THE ENEMY AFTER THE WAR STARTED-

A FEW MONTHS BEFORE THE SURRENDER, A NAZI BIG SHOT ENTRUSTED HIS PERSONAL FORTUNE TO HIM, TO SPIRIT IT OVER TO THIS CONTINENT-

WH!

-AND IT'S BURIED IN THE HIGGLEBY SWAMP?! AND, SINCE YOU OWN THE SWAMP THAT WOMAN IS TURNING YOUR SILLY HEAD, SO YOU'LL DECLARE HER IN!!

TOO FAST- AND TOO, TOO OBVIOUS, MIN-

-FIRSTLY, COUNTESS KNEW NOTHING OF HER HUSBAND'S TRAITOROUS DEALINGS- ALL I TOLD YOU ARE MERELY GUESSES SHE PIECED TOGETHER AFTER HIS DEATH!

BUT- SHE MUST BASE IT ON SOME KNOWLEDGE.

YES- AND THAT IS OUR SECRET- EVEN YOU MUST NOT KNOW, MRS GOOMP! NOW- WHERE DO I PUT ZE BAGS, PLEASE?

B-BAGS?

AH- OH, YES MIN DEAR- I NEGLECTED TO TELL YOU- BECAUSE OF THE HOUSING SHORTAGE, I ASKED COUNTESS TO STAY H-HERE-

Little Orphan Annie

IT TAKES ALL KINDS TO MAKE A WORLD, UNFORTUNATELY··· BUT IF ALL WERE BRAVE, KIND AND VIRTUOUS IT WOULD BE A VERY DULL WORLD··

YOU MEAN TO SAY THAT AFTER HONEY WORKING SO HARD TO KEEP FRED'S FARM FROM GOING TO RUIN, SNIDE SORREL CAN JUST TAKE IT··

SNIDE SORREL IS FRED'S ONLY LIVING KINFOLKS···

BUT THAT WOULD BE SO UNFAIR! LAW OR NO LAW!

WELL, LAW AND JUSTICE AREN'T ALWAYS THE SAME THING, ANNIE···

BUT, IF A THING LIKE THAT HAPPENS, IT WILL JUST ABOUT KILL HONEY···

DON'T RECKON SO, ANNIE···

IF THERE'S ANYONE KILLED I DON'T GUESS IT WILL BE HONEY·· NOT IN SMOKY HOLLOW··

GEE, GRAMPAW·· YOU WOULDN'T·····

I HAVEN'T FELT MOVED TO SHOOT A MAN FOR YEARS··· HOPE I WON'T HAVE TO THIS TIME···

BUT SNIDE SORREL IS ONE OF THOSE KIND THAT JUST SIMPLY IRRITATE DECENT PEOPLE ALMOST BEYOND ALL ENDURANCE··

WASN'T THERE A FEUD ONCE? BUT HOW CAN YOU HOLD A GRUDGE SO LONG?

FRED'S PAPPY RAN SNIDE'S PAPPY OVER THE RIDGE··· TOLD HIM AND HIS NEVER AGAIN TO SET FOOT IN SMOKY HOLLOW···

IF FRED WERE HERE SNIDE WOULDN'T DARE BE SEEN IN THESE PARTS····· HE'S A YELLOW COWARD··

WELL, THERE'S SNIDE'S CAR, BACK AGAIN···

AND SNIDE IS OUT IN FRONT 'CAUSE HIS LEGS ARE THE LONGEST···

THEY TRACKED UP THE KITCHEN, BUT THAT'S AS FAR AS THEY GOT WHEN THEY SAW US COMING···

YES··· AS I SAID, SNIDE SORREL IS A COWARD··· BUT HE'LL BE BACK·· WITH THE LAW···

SYNOPANEL·

OH REX DARLING! ···THANK HEAVENS YOU'RE ALIVE!

I'M OKAY··· EXCEPT FOR TH' SPRAINED ANKLE I GOT WHEN I WAS FORCED DOWN, CINDY!

YOU MUST LEAD A CHARMED LIFE, REX! ···YOU WERE LUCKY TO BREAK OUT OF THE STORM IN A CANYON WITHOUT HITTING A PEAK!

CINDY, DO YOU THINK WE CAN FLY YOUR SHIP OUT OF HERE, IF WE CAN GET THAT DAMAGED FLAP OFF?

I DON'T KNOW··· THE SPACE WE'D HAVE TO TAKE OFF IN IS SO SHORT THAT···

MISS VIBRATOR VERONICA

···WE'D HAVE TO USE FLAPS TO HELP US JUMP OFF IN TIME TO CLEAR THOSE BIG ROCKS!

··· BUT WITH ONLY ONE FLAP ON A TAKE-OFF ···IT MIGHT BE FATAL!

YEAH! THE DRAG OF ONE FLAP MIGHT SNAP-ROLL US RIGHT INTO THE ROCKS IF WE TRIED IT!

THERE! I FINALLY GOT TH' DAMAGED ONE OFF··· NOW WHAT?

IT'S TOO BAD MY RADIO WAS DAMAGED IN MY FORCED LANDING!

YEAH! I'VE TRIED TO CALL FOR HELP TOO, BUT MY RADIO IS AN OLD RECONVERTED OUTFIT, AND IT'S DEAD!

WELL, SHALL WE RISK A TAKE-OFF, OR STAY HERE AND STARVE?

THIS CANYON HAS STEEP FALLS AT BOTH ENDS·· WE CAN'T CLIMB OUT···

···BUT WE CAN SURVIVE ON SMALL GAME A WHILE! ···I MADE THIS SLING SHOT OUT OF AN INNER TUBE!

HEY! ONE OF THOSE SUDDEN MOUNTAIN SQUALLS HAS HIT! WILL YA HELP ME INTO TH' COCK-PIT, CINDY?
